Washington Adopts a New Theory to Establish Peace in Mexico.

Administration Is at the Same Time Alarmed by Trevino's Moves.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 4.—Diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Mexico will be transferred to Washington, where they will be taken up between Secretary Bryan of the State Department and Manuel Carbajal, who goes to the American capital as the unofficial representative of Provisional President Huerta, according to one of the highest sources of information. Zamacona, according to the same information, goes to Washington in exactly the same capacity as John Lind came to Mexico, and bears full credentials.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have agreed that the elimination of Victoriano Huerta from the Presidential race in Mexico is assured, and that the first step toward the establishment of peace in Mexico has been accomplished.

Mexican Pilgrims to Holy Land Rely on It to Restore Peace.

[A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—One hundred and thirty pilgrims from Mexico, who are relying on the efficacy of prayer as a means of bringing about peace and prosperity in their country, arrived here last night on the steamship Monstarrat en route to Rome and the Holy Land. The party is in charge of Archbishop Leopold Ruiz of the diocese of Michoacan, Mex., who said that the pilgrimage was the result of a widespread belief in Mexico that prayer would bring peace to the country.

Millionaire of Pasadena and Los Angeles Gives "Red Cap" at Union Depot Twenty Dollars for Getting Him a Newspaper, Then Takes His Departure for Chicago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles G. Gates, son of the late John W. Gates, known as "Bet a Million Gates," was in Kansas City ten minutes today, long enough to spend a few hundred dollars. Although no one reported that the millionaire had given any $900 tips as he did in Minneapolis a short time ago, one "Red-Cap" at the Union Station showed his fellow workers a crisp $20 bill he said the careless spender gave him for getting a newspaper.

He also shuffled off a mere $806.25 for a special train to Chicago, buying seventy-five tickets at $10.75 each, in order to get a three-coach special.

With Mr. Gates was his mother and his secretary. The millionaire said he was returning from a short vacation out West.

TO VOTE ON TARIFF.

Critical Test in the Senate.

Wilson Will Try to Force Through the Bill Before Tomorrow Night.

Concessions Thrown to Insurgents to Prevent Delay at Last Moment.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Democratic leaders of the Senate will begin a supreme effort to complete the tariff bill and pass it before adjournment Saturday night. As a part of the programme the Senate adjourned tonight until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the final session of the Democratic tariff caucus will be held tomorrow morning.

A compromise on the income tax rate, representing a further concession to the "insurgent" advocates of an increase on large incomes probably will be adopted without much opposition at tomorrow morning's caucus.

The Senate leaders have decided to name seven Senators to the joint conference committee that will settle differences between the two houses after the Senate passes the bill. This will provide places for Senators Simmons, Williams, Stone and Johnson of Maine, Democrats, who have been in charge of the bill, and for three Republicans. It is expected the House will consent to the plan.

It is believed the sugar fight will not take more than an hour when the bill comes to its final stages, and that the promised fights over free wool, cotton and income tax can be held to close limits. It is expected the sessions of Friday and Saturday will run to long hours, in the effort to get through with the bill.

The latest proposal for the income tax rates, which seemed tonight likely of adoption by the Democratic caucus, would establish the following total tax, including both the "normal tax" of 1 per cent., and the "additional tax" on large incomes: One per cent. on incomes of $3000 to $20,000; 2 per cent. from $20,000 to $50,000; 3 per cent. from $50,000 to $75,000; 4 per cent. from $75,000 to $100,000; 5 per cent. from $100,000 to $500,000; 6 per cent. from $500,000 to $1,000,000; 7 per cent above $1,000,000.

CENTRAL AMERICA PLANS A UNION.

FIVE REPUBLICS LIKELY TO BE AMALGAMATED.

Diplomatic Exchanges Are Foreshadowed Looking to the Formation of One Republic to Consist of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Diplomatic exchanges are expected in Washington in the near future looking to a discussion between the State Department and the five Central American republics of the possibilities of forming a United States of Central America. Advices reaching Washington today from Guatemala City were to the effect that Manuel Estrada Cabrera, who has been President of that country since 1898, is disposed again to take up this subject with the United States following negotiations when Blaine was Secretary of State, which came to nothing.

The proposed United States of Central America would consist of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. Four of these republics are declared to be in favor of the amalgamation plan, a hint of objection coming only from Costa Rica.

This objection, while not definite, is said to be based on the belief of the residents of San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica, that that city should be selected as the capital of the proposed United States of Central America, rather than Guatemala City, the largest city in Central America, toward which the people of the other Central America lean for the proposed capital of the new republic.

EXECUTIONS ARE DENIED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Consul Hannan at Monterey reported today there was no truth in the story that six Americans had been executed by a Federal Mexican general at Torreon. All Americans and foreigners in Torreon were safe as late as August 31. Consul Hostetter at Hermosillo reports the Governor of Sonora is offering protection to Americans who wish to remain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Superior Judge Graham used to be president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. He knows how the game should be played. Yesterday, in allowing Mrs. Doretta Yoell $150 from an inheritance fund to pay a doctor's bill incurred for her son Laurence, who broke his arm three times playing ball, the judge said: "The trouble with Laurence is that he slides hands first for the home plate. You want to instruct him to slide feet first and then there won't be any doctor bills."

DEFEAT PROPOSITION TO HONOR PRESIDENT WILSON.

Overwhelming Majority Cast Ballots Against Measure to Incorporate Spring Road and Villa Park, Near Chicago, Under New Name—Society Leaders Work at Polls.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Women of Spring Road and Villa Park, two communities on the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric road southwest of Elmhurst, arose in their might at the polls today and prevented the name of Woodrow from gracing the map of Illinois.

The proposition at the special election to incorporate both communities into the village of Woodrow, named after President Woodrow Wilson, was defeated by a vote of 139 to 76. Ninety-two women voted, most of them against the proposition, and it was due to their strength at the polls the measure was lost.

It was the warmest election ever known in the two villages, 214 out of the 215 votes cast being polled before 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Nine automobiles were kept busy carrying the women voters to the polls, and one of these was so overcrowded with fair citizens and their children it was put out of commission.

Both villages number many society women among their residents and it is to the activity of those that the "swat" to Woodrow is attributed.

Kansas City Jurist Declares Women of Today Have Only Idea of Dressing in Manner to Appeal to Men, and that They Have Always Done So Justifies.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 4.—"There is nothing immoral in the slit skirt, diaphanous gown or any other present form of women's attire. Narrow skirts and trim figures do not mean immorality, as some insist. One of the most vicious epochs of society was when hoop skirts were worn."

This statement was made today by Judge Ralph S. Latshaw of the criminal court when asked by persons furthering a campaign against extreme styles in women's dress for his opinion of their cause.

"The women of today," continued Judge Latshaw, "have only one idea in view—to dress in a manner that appeals to men. Well, hasn't it always been such?

"I remember when it was considered immodest for a woman to arrange her coiffure in a manner that would show her ears. We have advanced."

Mrs. John W. Springer Plans to Buy Bungalow at Long Beach and There Find Happiness.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. John W. Springer, whose name entered into the killing of Tony von Puhl and George E. Copeland, by Harold Frank Henwood two years ago, has arrived in Chicago after a search over two continents for rest and happiness.

Mrs. Springer recently wrote friends in Denver that she was planning to buy a bungalow in Long Beach, Cal., and that she intended to live there ,hoping that the balmy sunshine and the brightness of California would bring her happiness. "I want to be happy," she wrote, "and I think I can find rest and happiness at the edge of the Pacific in the land of sunshine and flowers."

Mrs. Springer intimated in the letter that there would be no more delay than was necessary.

HUNDREDS REPORTED DEAD IN ATLANTIC HURRICANE.

Island in Pamlico Sound Engulfed and Every Inhabitant Accounted Lost—North Carolina Coast Ravaged.

Fierce Storm That Extends From Raleigh to New York City Lays Low Buildings and Trees and Broadway, New York, is Turned Into a River—Shipping Wrecked and Wharves Destroyed by Pounding of Waves—Damage Into the Millions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RALEIGH (N. C.) Sept. 4.—It is reported here tonight that Ocracoke Island, in Pamlico Sound, was swept by a hurricane late yesterday. It is believed that all of the island's 500 inhabitants were drowned.

WASHINGTON (N. C.) Sept. 4.—Property valued at more than $3,000,000 is reported to have been destroyed and rumors are current of a heavy loss of life as the result of the destructive storm which swept the North Carolina coast yesterday. Wire communication with the stricken district was meager tonight.

Efforts to verify by wireless reports of many casualties on Ocracoke Island, in Pamlico Sound, have been fruitless. All wireless stations in that vicinity are believed to have been wrecked by the storm. The greatest damage to property occurred in Beaufort county and havoc was wrought among the fishing craft in the Pamlico River. In Washington business houses and manufacturing plants along the water front were partially destroyed. The total damage in this county alone is estimated at $2,000,000.

The fury of the gale was centered upon the towns along Pamlico Sound, among these being Morehead City, Beaufort, Newbern, Washington, Bayboro, Bell Haven and a score of smaller places. A deluge of rain accompanied the wind, and the tide in Pamlico Sound was many feet above the ordinary high-water mark. In Washington the streets were flooded to a depth of several feet.

All points along the coast report damage to shipping. Off the coast of Beaufort the steamer Schooner George W. Wells was driven ashore and pounded to pieces by the heavy surf. The crew was rescued safe by desperate work. Several other ships were reported ashore in that vicinity.

At Beaufort, N. C., many small craft were capsized or smashed against the harbor breakwater over which the seas were running. Mail boats from Core Sound reported that all wharves twenty-five miles along the shore had been destroyed, many houses blown down and hundreds of cattle and horses drowned.

No loss of life was reported in that section. It was reported at Norfolk, Va., that the wireless stations at Beaufort and Cape Hatteras had been wrecked by the hurricane. The Hatteras wireless station is located near the scene of the reported Ocracoke disaster. It is reported that the revenue cutter Seminole had been ordered to Ocracoke Island, where several hundred lives were reported lost. Efforts to verify this rumor tonight were futile.

DESOLATION MARKS PATH OF STORM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Sept. 4.—Scenes of desolation mark virtually the entire North Carolina coast as the result of the hurricane which struck this section yesterday. Dispatches just coming in over makeshift lines of communication indicate that the town of Bell Haven was wiped off the map, while the town of Washington, N. C., not only suffered from the wind, but also lost heavily by flood. The loss in Beaufort county, in which Washington is situated, alone will exceed $2,000,000, it is estimated tonight.

Bridges were swept away by the high waters and the wind at Washington, where buildings crumbled under the fury of the blast, as they did at Morehead City, Oriental, Bayboro and a number of the smaller towns.

At Newbern several streets were inundated and the thoroughfares were lined with debris. The damage in that city alone probably will exceed $500,000. To add to the terror of the citizens, fire broke out during the tempest and was controlled with difficulty. Two railroad bridges, one of them a mile long, were swept away.

In Aurora, fifteen houses were destroyed, while at Vandemere the damage was heavy, one firm alone declaring its loss to be at least $40,000.

In this city more than 200 cattle and hogs were drowned, and tonight their carcasses are lying in the streets, a serious menace to the public health.

Throughout Northeastern North Carolina, growing crops are virtually a loss and no estimate of the devastating effect of the wind and rain can be made tonight.

SCHOONER WELLS IS TOTAL WRECK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORFOLK (Va.) Sept. 4.—Driven ashore by the terrific storm which swept the Virginia and North Carolina coast Tuesday and Wednesday, the six-masted schooner George W. Wells is a total wreck off the coast of Hatteras. The schooner was driven ashore yesterday. Twenty men, two women and two babies were rescued by the life savers.

Only meager details of the rescue were received here, but it is reported to have been the most thrilling in years. The Wells was bound to Fernandina from New York, light.

An unidentified schooner with only one mast standing and no signs of life on board is ashore three miles north of Ocracoke inlet. A British Practically Every Reigning House of Europe Is Represented When Former Monarch of Portugal Marries Daughter of Prince William at Singamaringen, Germany.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

SIGMARINGEN (Germany) Sept. 4.—Manuel, former King of Portugal, was married here today to Princess Augustine Victoria, daughter of Prince William of Hohenzollern.

Cardinal Netto, former Archbishop Patriarch of Lisbon, conducted the religious ceremony. Count August Zu Eulenberg, grand marshal of the Prussian court, presided over the civil function.

The religious rites began at 11:30 in the Roman Catholic Parish Church near the palace.

The little capital of the principality of Hohensollern had made every effort to render itself attractive for the occasion, although it was understood that the marriage was to be celebrated in as quiet a manner as possible on account of the political situation.

The persons of royal blood present included the Queen Mother Amelie of Portugal; the Prince of Wales, representing King George of England; Prince Eitel Friedrich, representing the German empire; the Duke and Duchess of Coburg; Infante and Infanta Carlos of Spain, representing the King and Queen of Spain; the Duke of Genoa, and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, representing the Italian royal family; the Duke and Duchess of Vendome, present Duke of Montpensier, representing the Bourdon family; the Duke of Oporto, uncle of King Manuel; Prince Carol and Princess Elizabeth, Prince and Princess Henry XXXIII of Ruess; Princess Friedrich of Hohensollern; the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden, several members of the royal Wurttemberg family and of the Portuguese royal house.

Immediately after the performance of the ceremony at the church a homily was addressed to the newly married couple by the Prince Abbot Einsiedeln.

His Automobile Collides With Wagon in Hartford, Ct.—Daughter's Skull Is Fractured and Wallace Edinger and Francis X. Hope Are Also in a Hospital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George M. Cohan, the comedian and theatrical manager and producer, is in the Hartford Hospital, painfully injured, together with his 13-year-old daughter, Georgia, who is more seriously injured; W. M. Edinger, his leading man; Francis X. Hope, his manager, and William Van, his chauffeur, the latter three more or less seriously injured. Cohan's automobile collided with a wagon in the outskirts of this city late this afternoon.

Georgia Cohan, the surgeons at the hospital say tonight, has a fracture at the base of the skull. It was at first feared her injuries would prove fatal. She was only partly conscious and suffered greatly. But after a thorough X-ray examination had been made, Dr. A. M. Rowley, the head of the surgical staff of the hospital, said that the fracture at the skull base will mend, he thought.

The more serious injury to the girl, however, is the rupture of the ear drum of one of her ears. It is not thought she is hurt internally. There are several cuts on her face and body.

COHAN'S INJURIES.

Mr. Cohan has a dislocated and possibly fractured left shoulder, several scalp wounds and lacerations on the forehead and about the body. While the cuts on his forehead may leave ugly marks, the doctors said he probably would be able to leave his bed within a week or two unless internal injuries develop.

Mr. Edinger has a badly injured forearm and cuts about the face. One cut over the left eye is a deep

MAYOR GAYNOR SAILS SECRETLY.

Surprises Friends by Sudden Departure for Europe.

Mayoralty Campaign Clouded by Independence League.

Committee Delves Deeper Into Sulzer's Finances.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Mayor Gaynor surprised his friends and political enemies alike today by sailing for Europe on the steamship Baltic. Astonishment that he should leave New York on the eve of his campaign for re-election was somewhat allayed by the announcement that his trip would last only twenty days.

Mayor Gaynor's plans, previously announced, speak of a vacation of two weeks to the Adirondacks, which was to begin today. Nobody knew that he had gone abroad until after the Baltic had sailed at noon.

The Mayor changed his plans at the eleventh hour because he believed that a sea trip would give him greater relief from the throat trouble that has recurred at intervals since he was shot in the throat more than three years ago.

Three candidates for Mayor are in the field here but the political situation was clouded today by doubt about the composition of the ticket to run with Mayor Gaynor, under the slate of the shovel and by the attitude of the Independence League. Efforts were being made to learn whether the Mayor would accept on his ticket the fusion nominees for Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen.

The Democrats and the Fusionists have designated complete tickets for the primary nominations. There is a vacancy in the Independence League ticket because John Purroy Mitchel, the fusion candidate for mayor, refused to accept a place at the head of the ticket. The place may stay vacant until William R. Hearst returns from abroad on September 14.

The legislative committee investigating City Comptroller Sulzer's finances delved today into the Statewide campaign for direct primaries. The committee established that the campaign cost $17,684. It also sought to show that most of the expenses borne by the State had either been paid by Sulzer's friends. It was asserted that the Governor had violated the law in exceeding his appropriation for printing by $7065, and that the State Comptroller had spent $2000 on the postage to circulate Sulzer's literature.

INTERCEPTED BY CUSTOMS MEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Customs officers, accompanied by a corps of lineyankees from crews of revenue cutters, swarmed aboard the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Chiyo Maru when it arrived from the Orient today and instituted a search for smuggled opium like the one that has been in progress for three days on the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, upon which the searchers found $4400 worth of opium.

A revenue cutter intercepted the Chiyo Maru as it approached port and trailed it into the bay. It is stated that a practice of smugglers of trans-Pacific liners has been to throw overboard packages of opium attached to floats as the vessels entered port.

Surveyor of the Port Justus S. Wardell and Special Treasury Agent W. H. Tidwell headed the twenty odd customs officers who boarded the Chiyo Maru. The examination of the baggage of the 700 passengers aboard consumed the greater portion of the day after the vessel's arrival, but when it was completed the task of searching the ship started. This was continued up to midnight, when the vessel was placed under a guard of armed sailors from crews of revenue cutters.

The search of the Manchuria continued through the day today and up to midnight tonight. No further discoveries of the drug have been made.

FIND LUMPS OF GOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOWNIEVILLE, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Coarse pieces of gold, some of them worth $10 each, have been found in the Morse Brothers' placer mine, situated about four and one-half miles above Downieville, on the middle fork.

The Morses have been over a year sinking an incline ninety feet down to the present point, having encountered huge granite boulders, making the progress slow. They had just reached Bedrock. On a small space, six by seven feet, they have taken out $75. One piece is worth $12.50 and another $10. All the gold is of a coarse character. The pay gravel which has just been entered promises to be very rich.

Steps Out as Postmistress of Ohio Town After Quarter Century of Service and May Recall Her Resignation—Couple Intended to Leave for Florida When Groom Collapsed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWARK (O.) Sept. 4.—A hasty marriage at Somerset last night, followed by the sudden death of the bridegroom, T. C. Wilson, today, ended romance of Miss Nellie Sheridan, daughter of the late Gen. Phil Sheridan.

Miss Sheridan was postmistress at Somerset for twenty-five years and she forwarded her resignation to Washington Monday. The ceremony was performed last night and the couple expected to leave today for Florida for the benefit of Mr. Wilson's health. Early today he was seized with convulsions, resulting from Bright's disease and his death occurred five hours later.

It is understood at Somerset that Mrs. Wilson will recall her resignation as postmistress.

JAILS INTOXICATED AUTOIST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because he drove an automobile in Oakland while intoxicated, Fred Smith will spend the next 100 days in the City Jail. This sentence was imposed today by Police Judge Mortimer Smith in Oakland.

Fred Smith is a machinist employed by H. W. Norman of Oakland. From the Norman garage he recently took out an automobile while under the influence of liquor and went for a ride on the foothill boulevard. It ended in a collision between the auto and a telegraph pole, the auto being smashed.

The police judges say that heavy sentences await similar offenders who may be picked up in the future.

RUBBER OF SAGE BRUSH.

Congressman Raker Believes Brazilian Monopoly Will Be Broken by Western Product.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Will the Brazilian rubber monopoly "be busted," and the rubber supply of the world soon be produced from sage brush and greasewood of the western plains?

Representative Raker believes this will soon be accomplished. Recently Raker introduced a bill appropriating $5000 for investigation of the possibility of making rubber from sage brush and greasewood. Today he took a sample of rubber made from sage brush to experts of the Department of Agriculture, who pronounced the samples equal to the best Para product.

These experts have secured a large supply of sage brush and greasewood and will soon begin a series of experiments concerning the possibilities of the Raker scheme.

WOMAN AND CHILD MURDERED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FREMONT (Neb.) Sept. 4.—The wife and 2-year-old son of Rasmus Peterson were murdered in their home last night, the bodies being found by neighbors this morning. The woman had been choked and beaten to death and the child's brains beaten out.

The authorities are searching for Peterson and have bloodhounds on his trail. Peterson and his wife separated a few weeks ago and he went to Minnesota.

The police were notified of the arrest at South Omaha of a negro who had just arrived from Fremont. The man gave the name of Joe Waters and had in his possession a small savings bank believed to have been taken from the Peterson home.

and severe one. Both legs are badly bruised and there is a possibility of internal injuries.

Mr. Hope's left elbow is fractured and his wrist also. There is a gash over one of his eyes that reaches to his ear, which is torn. His back is sprained, and Dr. Rowley is not sure that the spine has not been hurt.

Sam Harris, Mr. Cohan's business partner, came up to Hartford an hour after the accident happened. He visited all the victims, and late tonight reported Mr. Cohan feeling much better and resting more comfortably.

THE ACCIDENT.

The accident occurred on Maple avenue, which is part of the Berlin turnpike, just inside of the city limits. The Cohan machine crashed into a heavy garbage wagon driven by John Gabriel, son of the garbage contractor. The wagon was turned abruptly in front of the Cohan machine, which was traveling in the same direction at a speed of forty-five miles an hour. Van, the chauffeur, had increased speed a moment before in order to pass another touring car containing a New York party.

Gabriel turned into a driveway without giving the signal, it is said, and the Cohan machine struck the front of the wagon, killing the horse and throwing the driver out. He was not seriously injured.

The automobile overturned, pinning the five occupants beneath. Van soon extricated himself and the others were taken out quickly. The party was rushed to the Hartford hospital by a New Britain man who happened to be passing at the time in his automobile.

At the hospital Mr. Cohan and his daughter were sent to the operating room, where it was found that the girl was seriously hurt. After an examination, Van, who has only superficial hurts, was discharged.

The Cohan party was on the way to Hartford from New Haven. Mr. Cohan's new play "Seven Keys to Bald Pate," was to have been produced at Parsons' Theater next Monday, and Mr. Cohan and the others of the party were coming for the final rehearsal.

Ethel Levy, Cohan's first wife, who is here from London, had begged him to not take their daughter with him on the motor trip, but he laughed at her fears, saying: "We shall be perfectly safe in the automobile."

Lamar Tells Committee of Alleged Outside Effort to Stop Government's Suit to Dissolve Steel Corporation.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Existence of a lobby to pass Representative Levy's resolution to stop the government's anti-trust suit against the steel corporation was alleged before the house lobby committee today by David Lamar who offered testimony on his charge and declared the government would lose the $25,000,000 claim against the corporation if the suit was dropped.

The committee took up the case in executive session. Lamar has vainly been trying to get a hearing before the Senate committee.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Francisco de la Barra, the new Mexican Minister to France, was received cordially today by Stephen Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, at the Foreign Office.

The French statesman informed Senor de la Barra that President Raymond Poincare would accept his credentials as soon as he returned to Paris from his holiday in the country.

Ocracoke Island lies just below Cape Hatteras and is one of the narrow reefs that form the outer wall of Pamlico Sound. It is about fifteen miles long, from a mile to two miles wide, and lies about thirty miles off shore.

Like the other keys or "banks," guarding the sound, Ocracoke is low and sandy. Its inhabitants, known along the coast as "bankers," are mostly small fishermen. The island offers no protection from the elements, either through big trees or promontories.

HAVOC WROUGHT AROUND BEAUFORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEAUFORT (N C.) Sept. 4.—The storm which swept along the North Carolina coast wrought havoc in this vicinity. Mail boats from Core Sound reported that all wharves for a distance of twenty-five miles had been destroyed, several houses blown down and hundreds of cattle and horses drowned. No lives were reported lost. Many small craft in Beaufort Harbor capsized or were smashed against wharves or the breakwater. The steamer M. W. Marks was damaged.

NEW YORK CITY STORM SWEPT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A deluge of rain—much the heaviest of the summer—fell on New York City and the surrounding territory tonight, accompanied by terrific cannonading of thunder and flashes of lightning.

Enormous damage was done, not only along the water front, where continued southerly and southeast winds had banked up the tide until it overflowed the streets, but even in Broadway and as far north as Forty-second street, where the water fell in such torrents that the streets and cellars were flooded. By 11 o'clock Lower Broadway from Forty-second street south was a great current, overlapping the sidewalks and creeping into the shops that were on a street level.

WILL STAGE REAL COLLISION.

State Fair Directors Ignore Railroad Protest that It Will Incite Boys to Wreck Trains.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In spite of the protests of the Southern Pacific, the State Fair directors plan to have a real collision of locomotives as one of the features of the coming State fair.

When the proposition was first made a few weeks ago that there should be such a collision, a representative of the company wrote a strong letter to the committee having the matter in charge, asking that the plan be abandoned. It was pointed out by the railroad official that there was danger that the making of a holiday spectacle of a collision might inspire thoughtless boys to throw switches or otherwise cause railroad accidents for the purpose of having some excitement. The members of the committee took the view that this particular feature had been shown in other parts of the country without such results, and there is no reason to apprehend them here.

HUERTA SENDS AN ENVOY TO CONFER WITH WILSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) Sept. 4.—Preparations to play a role almost identical with that of John Lind, the personal representative of President of the United States, Manuel de Zamacona, former Ambassador at Washington, sailed from here this afternoon and will proceed immediately to the American capital. It is understood that Senor De Zamacona will take up the diplomatic end of the case at Washington for Gen. Huerta, and that he will act unofficially as the provisional President's representative with sufficient power, however, to undertake negotiations.

What proposals he has been instructed to place before President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan are not known generally, but it is believed that he will urge the necessity of more cordial co-operation between the two governments, and even recognition in order that the best interests of both be conserved. It is asserted that President Wilson will be assured of the good faith of Gen. Huerta in refraining from becoming a candidate for the Presidency and of the holding of the elections in October.

It also is expected that Senor De Zamacona will point out the absurdity from Gen. Huerta's point of view of entering into any agreement with the rebels, especially since the contention of the government is that the greater part of the enemies of the government have no connection with any organized army of rebellion, but belong to the bandit element.

The sending of Senor De Zamacona to Washington is regarded here as indicating a desire on the part of Gen. Huerta to entrust his case to a dependable lieutenant to place before Secretary Bryan or President Wilson himself instead of having to deal with the unofficial representative, Mr. Lind. Senor De Zamacona is a man the government has called on before in moments of gravity. He was Ambassador at Washington, succeeding Francisco de la Barra, and prior to that was financial agent of the government at London. In financial matters he is regarded as an authority.

Mr. Lind still remains at Vera Cruz.

Even in case of intervention, if it came to that, Gen. Huerta said today:

"The government is most jealous of its good name, would put forth all efforts in order that American citizens residing among us should not suffer in the least at the hands of Mexico, and they would only be exposed to the consequences which an international war of such magnitude brings with it."

Gen. Geronimo Trevino, anent whose coming to the capital there has been much speculation, arrived by special train in Mexico City tonight.

tion today of administration officials, who also let it be known:

That oral assurances had been given Nelson O'Shaughnessy, Charge d'Affaires of the American embassy, of Huerta's intention not to be a candidate in the approaching elections;

That the United States would construe literally the argument in the second not of Federico Gamboa, Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs, who pointed out at great length that a provisional President in Mexico is ineligible to succeed himself;

That any effort on the part of Huerta to circumvent the Constitution by resigning in advance of the elections in favor of another provisional President would be regarded by the United States as a breach of faith before the world.

The Washington government does not disclose exactly the nature of the oral assurances given Charge O'Shaughnessy within the last few days that Huerta does not intend to run for the Presidency. Intimations of this character, however, have come to the administration from other sources—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson on his return from Mexico City having informed the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations that Huerta had assured him he would not be a candidate.

In contradiction of these assurances, however, today's dispatches from the Mexican capital stating on high authority that Huerta would resign soon in favor of Gen. Geronimo Trevino so as to be an eligible candidate for the Presidency, and news that Gen. Trevino has started for Mexico City, also attracted wide attention.

BUFORD ORDERED ON MEXICAN TRIP.

WILL BE RUSHED SOUTH TO PICK UP REFUGEES.

First Definite Move Which Indicates that the Administration Admits the Failure of Lind's Mission. Transport Will Touch at Principal Ports on West Coast.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Wilson has ordered the big United States transport Buford, now in this port, to proceed to ports on the west coast of Mexico with all possible speed that American citizens who have been warned and urged to leave the revolution-torn republic may be taken aboard the big troop-ship and transported without cost to such California ports as they may desire to reach.

The Buford will sail for Mexican waters at 5 o'clock next Monday evening in command of Capt. Griffin, who today booked a full complement of officers and crew, and additional preparations to carry out the President's order are being made.

The Buford is today being coaled at the Ft. Mason docks and stores sufficient to feed 1000 persons three weeks, exclusive of the crew, are being taken aboard.

This is the first definite move to carry out the President's attitude in the Mexican situation, as outlined in his recent special message to Congress.

While it is not taken to mean that the mission of John Lind, the President's special envoy, now at Vera Cruz, has entirely failed, the order for the hasty dispatch of the transport is assumed to indicate that the President and State Department are not hopeful of Lind's success in his negotiations with the Huerta government.

SECRET ORDERS.

Through Secretary of War Garrison, the President's order directing that the Buford be immediately sent to the west coast of Mexico was received in a code telegram by Maj. S. F. Bottoms of the quartermaster's department Monday, but was kept secret until preparations for the dispatch of the vessel were well under way.

The transport Buford was sent on a similar mission by President Taft eighteen months ago, when the Madero revolution was at its height. At that time the troop-ship brought 400 refugees to this port.

It is expected that the Buford will proceed as far south as Salina Cruz, stopping at Acapulco, Mansanillo and Mazatlan on the homeward voyage. It is possible that the troop-ship may also proceed to Guaymas to take out Americans. When the Pacific Mail steamer City of Para left Mazatlan ten days ago, with all the passengers she could possibly accommodate, there were more than eighty American citizens left behind, who were clamoring to get out of the country. At that time it was known that about 150 refugees who were unable to longer withstand rebel atrocities in Durango, were journeying over the mountains on a twelve-day trip to Mazatlan.

For the past three months the transport Buford has been at Mare Island undergoing a complete overhauling. The vessel has been practically rebuilt and is said to be in first-class condition.

THOMAS TO THE ORIENT.

The Ft. Mason transport docks are today seething with activity. The extraordinary preparations for the sailing of the Buford on its important mission to Mexican waters are augmented by making ready the transport Thomas for the September trip to Honolulu and the Philippines. The Thomas, in command of Capt. Joseph M. Healey, will sail at noon tomorrow with more than 1000 persons aboard, including troops for Hawaii and Manila.

FELIX DIAZ EXPECTS TO WIN.

Confident He Can Restore Order in Mexico—Will Join His Uncle Porfirio at Biarritz.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—Gen. Felix Diaz, who arrived here today from London, says all reports received by him concerning the prospects of his election to the Presidency of Mexico are favorable. He believes his chances of election are good, and expects Provisional President Huerta to be neutral.

Gen. Diaz expresses the utmost confidence in his own ability to restore order in Mexico in case he is elected, but refrained from expressing any opinion concerning President Wilson's policy, saying he was without information on the subject.

Senora Diaz came here with her husband and they will stay here a few days before proceeding to Biarritz to meet Gen. Porfirio Diaz, the former Mexican dictator, whom they intend to join in time to be present at the celebration of his birthday September 15.

RIVEROS FLEES TO HERMOSILLO.

REBEL GOVERNOR OF SINALOA DRIVEN OUT OF STATE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Felipe Riveros, self-appointed rebel Governor of Sinaloa, has arrived in Hermosillo, after he and the main part of the rebel troops were put to flight. Rebel chief Juan Cabral has been dismissed from the rebel army because he allowed his command to be cut to pieces by the Federals in the recent fighting at Batamotal. The Federals are making preparations to celebrate Mexican Independence Day on September 16 in Hermosillo.

The most vigilant border patrol since the issuance of Taft's neutrality proclamation is now being maintained. All conveyances going into Mexico are closely examined and every possible effort is being put forth by the United States army to enforce vigorously the neutrality law.

Another burden has been placed indirectly on the Sonora merchant and directly on Mexican and American employees, by a recent decree of rebel Governor Maytorena, in which he orders that all merchandise entering Sonora from other parts of Mexico shall be subject to the same duties as are applied to imports from foreign countries. Extra war taxes are also being placed on all manufacturers in the State of Sonora. The manufacturers and jobbers, in turn, are raising their wholesale prices to dealers.

YAQUI INSURRECTION.

The Sonora rebel government is sorely perplexed as to how to handle the critical situation precipitated by the Yaquis, who have risen against the rebels, making demands for lands and towns. When the Yaquis recently revolted against their commanding officer, Rebel Lieut.-Col. Ygnacio Rodrigues, in Cocorit, south of Empalme, a large force of rebels overpowered the Yaquis, killing six and wounding a number of others. Three of the ringleaders of the Indians were executed by Rodrigues, which resulted in five Yaqui chiefs going south into the desert, where, in a general conference, they demanded the execution of Rodrigues and his staff. Rodrigues and his force beat a hasty retreat to Navajoa, where they have fortified the town. The rebels feel that Rodrigues was entirely in his rights, having been dispatched by Obregon to put down the uprising. They refused the Yaquis' demand for execution, resulting in the revolt of nearly the entire tribe, carrying with it many of the Mayo and Pima Indians now fighting under the rebel state standard.

American interests along the Yaqui River now operating under concessions granted by the Mexican government, occupy portions of the lands demanded by the Indians.

FEDERALS UNDER GEN. MASS DEFEAT COL. MURGUIA.

Constitutionalists Take Up Position in Narrow Defile Near Monclova and Await Artillery Attack—Carranistas Employ Machine Guns Smuggled Across Border.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) (By courier from Puerto Apache.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Both armies, consisting of 1500 Federals, under command of Gen. Maas, and 800 Constitutionalists under Col. Murguia, began fighting at daybreak this morning for the possession of three passes commanding the territory between Monclova and Cuatrocienegas. The Federals captured Puerto Carmen after a battle lasting nearly two hours. The revolutionists fell back to Puerto Apache, a narrow defile between almost vertical granite walls, and there halted the advancing column, throwing the Federal advance into confusion with apparently considerable loss.

Efforts are now being made by the Federals to bring up artillery with the intention of directing the cannon fire from the hills radiating from Puerto Carmen, a few kilometers east of the Constitutionalist position. For the first time the Carranistas are making use of the Colt machine guns and munitions recently smuggled across the line at Eagle Pass, and they assert that the results thus far have been highly satisfactory. The rebel position is considered impregnable and severe fighting is expected before morning.

HUERTA ASSURES AMERICAN SAFETY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—Neither the American Embassy nor the American Foreign Office appears to share the optimism of Washington officials regarding the early solution of the difficulties between the two nations. At the Embassy it was said tonight that no communication had been received from Mr. Lind in three days. Senor Gamboa, the Foreign Minister, seemed equally ignorant of any further interchange tending toward a settlement. He said that there had been no official communication with Mr. Lind since the dispatch of his last note.

The Foreign Minister's attitude apparently was not changed since the departure of Mr. Lind from the Mexican capital, and he reiterated the statement he made a week ago that he did not expect any further negotiations unless the administration at Washington saw fit to submit a rejoinder to his last note, in which he pointed out the inability of Gen. Huerta as a Presidential candidate and withdrew the suggestion of a resumption of full diplomatic relations between the two countries. That, he said, still is the attitude of Mexico.

President Wilson's warning to Americans to leave Mexico has called forth a declaration from Gen. Huerta in which he gives assurances of safety to Americans under any circumstances even in case of intervention, as far as the Mexican government is able to afford protection, and an offer to aid those desiring to leave, by affording special trains to the ports and making good the difference in the price of steerage and the class of passage to which the refugees aspire.

"The personal sentiments of the constitutional interim President of the republic," says the declaration, "towards citizens of the United States residing in this country are benevolent and just to the extent that, their government having recommended without justifiable cause that they leave the country, and while lamenting the disposition which caused alarm, as well as the fact that many Americans have decided to leave the country, the President has resolved to recommend to the proper authorities—in view of the fact, stated in the newspapers, that the government of the United States finds it impossible to furnish only three classes passage—that they offer in a spontaneous and kindly manner to cover the difference which exists and even provide free special trains and gratuities, to the end that the Americans arrive in their country with greater comfort and means than those which they otherwise would have."

Gen. Huerta's declaration was made in response to a series of questions put to him by certain newspapers.

"Should there be the least sign of an anti-American uprising," he said, "the Mexican government, well knowing its obligations and responsibilities would suppress it with all energy, always within the law from which it has no intention to depart."

REPORT VICTORY FOR WINE MEN.

Californians Said to Have Gained Concessions.

Committee May Urge Cut in the Brandy Tax.

Viticultural Commission Gets Into the Campaign.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was reported today, but not verified, that the fight of the California wine men against the Pomerene amendment to the tariff bill, which provides for an increase of from 2 cents to 1.10 a proof gallon in the tariff on brandy used in the fortification of sweet wine was launched today by California's new Viticultural Commission. A resolution declaring that the adoption of the Pomerene amendment would be a serious blow to the entire wine industry, of the State was adopted and long telegrams to be followed at once by letters were sent to each of California's representatives in Congress.

C. J. Whetmore of San Francisco was elected president of the commission. Other officers chosen were Frank Swett, Martinez, vice-president; H. F. Stoll, San Francisco, treasurer, and Edgar Sheehan, Sacramento, secretary, at $2400 a year.

Lots were drawn by the nine members of the commission to decide the four who will serve two years. Those who got the short terms are C. J. Whetmore, H. F. Stoll, Secundo Guasti and Wyllie N. Griggs. The other five members serve four years.

The commission decided to begin at once the compilation of a roster of every grape grower of California.

Raisin growers of the State who find themselves in a predicament similar to that of the wine men because of the tariff bill were promised help by the commission.

TO DELAY CURRENCY BILL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A resolution to direct the Senate Banking Committee to withhold final action on Administration Currency Bill until the December session of Congress, was introduced today by Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, Republican. Suggestions by Senators Reed, Owen and other Democrats on the committee that they would like to discuss the resolution, resulted in Senator Weeks agreeing that it should go over until tomorrow without action. He said he would endeavor to force the Senate to decide whether it wants to proceed now on currency revision or to allow the banking committee to conduct hearings until December.

"There is no emergency at the present time that has not existed in an equal degree for the past two years which should necessitate banking and currency legislation," said he.

Paul J. Wade of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, one of the representatives of the Chicago conference of bankers, told the committee that the Administration Currency Bill would put the whole burden of organization on the "commercial banks" of the country.

"The national banks are simply the commercial banks moving the marchandise and the commerce of the nation," he said. "This bill, in its principles, ignores the great banking strength that has really developed the country—the State banks and trust companies that have financed building, land development, farming and internal improvements."

Inducements necessary to draw in the State and national banks had apparently been lost sight of, he thought.

Wade declared the issue of currency and the handling of the bank reserves should be divided and not joined as in the new bill.

"It would be a fatal economic mistake for the government to issue the currency of the nation," he said, "because it would put the government in debt that much more than is necessary. He declared the bankers appeared not as bankers but as public spirited citizens in urging the change.

"We say: 'Don't put the credit of the government behind this great issue of notes.' The time may easily come when the nation's credit will need all the strength it can command for emergencies."

He had on a black shirt, white button shoes and wore a gold wedding ring with the letter "S" engraved thereon. There was nothing in his clothes by which he could be identified. His clothing bore the laundry mark "5175." Dr. Byron Palmer was called for the bullet at the Receiving Hospital but said there was slight chance of the man's recovery.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was reported today, but not verified, that the fight of the California wine men against the Pomerene amendment to the tariff bill, cutting brandies used in fortifying sweet wines, $1.10 per gallon, to item partially successful, and the committee of the Senate Finance Committee will soon report that the rate should be cut down to 74 cents or 75 cents per gallon. If this is done the Californians here fighting for the interests of the wine industry, against the attempt of Pomerene and other Democratic Senators to ruin it, hope to get a further reduction when the bill goes to conference.

The tax of 25 cents per gallon on native wines, made principally in Ohio, will be allowed to remain by the sub-committee, it was said.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DECIDE THAW USED STEALTH.

Immigration Authorities, However, Fail to "Railroad" Him and He Is Still Held Pending a Decision as to His Sanity, Which Will Be Handed Down Today.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COATICOOK (Que.) Sept. 4.—Harry K. Thaw was not "railroaded" across the border by the immigration authorities today as his counsel had predicted. A special board of inquiry sat on his case from 10 o'clock this morning until late this afternoon, and then adjourned until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the prisoner will be recalled.

Thaw was on the stand most of the day, and made a good witness. Toward the close of the afternoon session his inquisitors gradually worked into the question of his sanity, and though his counsel violently objected, it was of no avail, and this line of interrogation will be taken up again tomorrow.

Though staving off deportation for the day, Thaw lost in two particulars. His lawyers were denied a writ of prohibition by Superior Judge Matthew Hutchinson at Sherbrooke, the same judge who sustained the writ of habeas corpus which cost Thaw out of the Sherbrooke jail yesterday, and he failed to establish before the board the contention that he had entered Canada as a tourist, and like Jack Johnson, should be allowed to continue to his destination. He could produce no through ticket to any point outside Canada. There was in his possession a ticket to Detroit, but unfortunately for Thaw, it had been purchased at Coaticook.

THE STEALTH CHARGE.

Unable to show that he had come into the Dominion at any recognized port of entry, Thaw practically was convicted of entering by stealth, and on this charge alone he can be deported. But on this charge he could appeal to the Minister of the Interior, while no appeal would lie should he be found insane at the present time, or to have been in an insane asylum within five years. If found of unsound mind now it is within the discretion of the board to deport Thaw direct to the New York State line, possibly to Rouse's Point. This would mean swift and certain return to Matteawan. Conviction on either of the other two charges would mean deportation to Vermont.

JEROME IMPATIENT.

William Travers Jerome spent an impatient day waiting for something to happen. As chief of the New York forces, he hoped to have Thaw across the border tonight. His automobile stood all day near the Grand Trunk Railway station in the second story of which Thaw is held, and all day Jerome strode up and down the station platform. Twenty other automobiles were ready for the dash to the line, nine miles away.

Thaw resented keenly the questions as to his sanity. If this were to be taken up, he contended, he should be allowed to have alienists present. Two physicians for the immigration authorities, Drs. Gurd and Beauchamp, were present.

FEAT OF MEMORY.

When asked point blank if he was sane or insane when he killed Stanford White, Thaw quoted, with remarkable show of memory, from the conflicting opinions of the many alienists identified with his case and laconically suggested that the board take its choice. He bridled when asked about his mother's condition just prior to his birth, and said that perhaps she was better qualified to answer.

The Thaw lawyers, despairing of defeating deportation, have begun to make plans for resisting extradition in Vermont. Counsel have been retained there, it is understood, and unless Thaw is sent to the New York State line the lawyers hope to fight on in the States.

T. R. E. McInnes of Ottawa, one of the fathers of the immigration law, joined the group of Thaw lawyers today. From now on he will seek to find a loophole in the law he helped to create.

The belief was general tonight that Thaw would be deported tomorrow. L. T. Marechal, counsel for the immigration board, insisted there would be no "strong arm" work and that Thaw would be escorted to the border in a dignified manner.

OTHER WITNESSES.

Besides Thaw the witnesses today were Henry Johnson, a farmer who drove Thaw across the border; Octave Nadeau, a farmer who drove him to the inn of Ben Cadieux at Barford, where Thaw was arrested, and the innkeeper himself. Their testimony was adduced to support the "entering by stealth" charge.

Thaw issued the following statement tonight:

"Being informed that one motive behind this illegal pursuit is a suspicion in a small but influential quarter that if put on trial in any court outside New York State we might uncover those names that were protected in 1907, we are forced to state we have no intention of ever uncovering those names that were left in blank."

Controversy.

REFUSES TO PRODUCE BOOKS OF WESTERN FUEL COMPANY.

Court Will Impose Prison Sentence Today and Other Officers of the Concern Will Also Be Summoned to Fudge Themselves of Contempt of Court.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—David C. Norcross, secretary of the Western Fuel Company, eight of whose officers and employees are under indictment on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government, ignored an order of the United States District Court today and failed to produce the books of the company before the Federal grand jury. According to the mandate of the court, issued by Judge Maurice T. Dooling, Norcross will be cited for contempt tomorrow.

The Western Fuel cases came into prominence with the Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases, when former United States District Attorney John L. McNab resigned and explaining his action, said that the Department of Justice at Washington had ordered him to postpone both sets of cases.

A summons to appear before the grand jury and bring the books and papers of the company was served upon Norcross a week ago, and when he refused to produce the company's books, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Matt I. Sullivan obtained from Judge Dooling an order of court directing Norcross to obey the summons and appear today with the company's books or be cited for contempt of court.

Samuel Knight, attorney for the Western Fuel Company, notified Asst. Atty.-Gen. Sullivan today that Norcross would not produce the company's books. He said he would appeal from whatever sentence might be imposed upon Norcross tomorrow.

The charges against the eight indicted ones are that they defrauded the government of immense sums by manipulating weights in the sale of coal. The eight are: John L. Howard, president and manager; James B. Smith, vice-president and director; Joseph L. Schmitt, treasurer and director; Robert Bruce and Sydney V. Smith, directors; Fred C. Mills, superintendent, and Edward J. Smith and Edward H. Mayers, weighers.

The cases are set for trial October 11.

It is stated that the purpose of the government in seeking at this time to bring the books of the company before the present Federal grand jury is to glean information which may involve former employees of the customs service and may result in the issuance of new indictments.

PRISON SENTENCE.

Following the failure of Norcross to produce the company's books today, a report of the matter was made to United States District Judge Dooling by John R. Hanify, foreman of the grand jury and Special Prosecutor Theodore Roche, who appeared in court with Hanify, asked that Norcross be punished by imprisonment.

Judge Dooling announced he would sign an order tomorrow directing that Norcross be imprisoned. It is stated his counsel will be prepared to resist this order through habeas corpus proceedings.

Officers of the company will also be required to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt when Norcross is haled into court. As a doubt exists concerning which of the directors are responsible for the secretary's failure to produce the company's books, Special Prosecutor Roche recommended today that a heavy fine be imposed on the Western Fuel Company itself.

HE CONDOLES WITH SULZER.

ROOSEVELT ADVISES HIM TO MAKE FULL EXPLANATION.

Governor, However, Declares He Will Wait Until the Impeachment Trial Before He Makes a Clean Breast in Reply to the Frawley Committee Charges.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 4.—Col Roosevelt has advised Gov. Sulzer to make a "full and straightforward explanation and answer in reference to the charges" that resulted in the Governor's impeachment.

In a letter replying to two communications relating to the gubernatorial situation sent by the Governor to the former President, while he was traveling in the West, Col. Roosevelt says:

"You owe it to yourself and to all those who have supported you to take the earliest opportunity to answer the charges made against you."

Gov. Sulzer made the Roosevelt letter public today without comment. Asked if he would follow the former President's suggestion, the Governor referred his interrogators to his general denial of the charges made by the Frawley committee, issued on the advice of his counsellor August 10, three days prior to the adoption of the impeachment resolution by the Assembly.

"My explanation will be given at the impeachment trial," the Governor declared.

Col. Roosevelt's letter follows:

"On my return from Arizona I have received your two letters. I thank you for them. I believe I thoroughly understand the assault that is now being made on you. I have yet to meet a single person who believes, or even pretends to believe, that a single honest motive has animated the proceedings of your antagonists. From Mr. Murphy himself to the legislators who obeyed his directions, there is no possible question that all of your assailants are the enemies of the public and that their aim is to acquire the evil domination of the State government, and that the conspiracy against you has not one saving impulse behind it that can in the remotest degree be ascribed to patriotism or civic spirit or to anything save the basest impulse of crooked politics. We have never seen a more startling example of the power of the invisible government under the present system.

"The extraordinary thing is that the 'conservatives' upholders of this present system, should have witnessed the decrees of the invisible government carried out within twenty-four hours, who nevertheless denounce as revolutionary our proposal for changes in the form of government whereby the deliberate judgment of the majority of the voters may be executed within a space of time no shorter than that required for the execution of their deliberate judgment in the choice of a President of the United States.

"Let me add one thing, my dear Governor. You owe it to yourself and to all those who have supported you to take the earliest opportunity to answer the charges against you. That the purposes of those bringing the charges are wholly evil, I am sure all honest men feel. Moreover, I am sure that honest men feel that the assault made upon you by your foes is due to your having stood up for the principles of good government and decent citizenship, even when it was necessary to defy the will of the bosses of the two parties, and especially of your own, and to stand in the way of the success of the corrupt schemes of the party machine managers.

"But there also is among honest men a desire for a full and straightforward explanation and answer in reference to the charges made against you, and I very earnestly hope that as soon as possible the explanation and answer will be made."

HALE CONFERS WITH WILSON.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—William Bayard Hale, who spent the last three months studying political conditions in Mexico, laid before President Wilson today information he gathered about the Huerta government, and also conferred with Secretary Bryan. He declined to discuss his visit with the administration officials but it is understood he gave them an intimate description of the negotiations conducted by John Lind and Huerta officials up to a week ago today, when he left Mexico City. So far as is known, Mr. Hale's connection with those negotiations was unofficial and informal.

Dispatches from Mexico City saying prominent Mexicans believed Huerta would resign in favor of Geronimo Treviño, and thus make himself an eligible candidate for the Presidency lacked confirmation here, but the news was not surprising to administration officials. While they are still hoping for a definite assurance that Huerta will not be a candidate they realize that a plan to install him in the Presidency has been under way for some time.

No inkling has been given as to the administration's future policy should Mr. Lind's efforts to obtain a definite assurance of Huerta's elimination prove fruitless, but developments of either an affirmative or negative character are expected soon, which will affect the Washington government's policy materially.

Ontario Park Commissioners Will Make Their City the Fairest in All the South—News Briefs.

ONTARIO, Sept. 4.—Ontario is to be made the cleanest and most attractive city in the State if the city Board of Park Commissioners has anything to say about it. Notices have that all vacant lots and all parkways fronting their property must be cleaned of rubbish and weeds at once or that it will be done by the city and charged to the property.

Much of the cleaning work has already been done by the property owners and the city is to take a hand in improving neglected places in the near future. The Park Commission is also doing good work in the pruning of shade trees on the city streets. The work is being done scientifically and where a large limb is removed a hole is gouged into the trunk of the tree and filled with concrete. This prevents dry rot.

E. V. Caldwell of the firm of Minter & Caldwell, haberdashers, is confined to his bed today as the result of a fall downstairs last evening at the home of his father, Councilman J. V. W. Kulp, owner of the large Bonita ranch to the south of this city, is made defendant in an action filed today by J. Conriquez in the local courts. Conriquez claims $2.42 due himself, his father and his uncle for work and labor done on the ranch while in Kulp's employ. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Archie D. Mitchell.

The resignation of Mayor L. Vredenburgh of Chino, which was accepted last night by the City Trustees of the city to the south, is said to be the result of a threatened recall by the members of the Yeoman lodge of Chino, under the direction of D. D. McDonald of this city, district organizer for the order. R. C. Homan, editor of the Chino Champion, attacked McDonald through his paper, after the launching of the recall proceedings, with the result that McDonald has started a second paper in Chino to be known as the Chino Herald, and the first issue is already out.

All that was lacking in the marriage here this morning of Percy Carter and Mary Lou Jordan, colored, of Riverside, was the kissing of the bride by the judge. The ceremony was quickly performed by Judge J. R. Pollock, but he delegated the honor of kissing the bride to the groom.

R. L. English, proprietor of the Sierra Vista stock farm to the south of this city, has shipped to the Sacramento State Fair eleven head of show horses, which will be on exhibit there. Chief among the shipment is the famous Highland Squirrel King, saddle stallion, who, during the past five years, has been exhibited seventy-seven times, won sixty-seven blue ribbons, nine seconds and one third. He is now 15 years old and the Sacramento show will end his career as a show horse.

FAKE ADVERTISEMENTS.

Laboring Men Induced to go to Van Nuys Through a Misleading Publication.

VAN NUYS, Sept. 4.—Criminal prosecution may be started against the individual who perpetrated an alleged "practical joke" in Van Nuys this week.

The would-be humorist inserted an ad Sunday morning in a Los Angeles paper for five plumbers, signing the name of H. P. Pattillo, a contracting plumber of this place. Monday morning there were five men waiting for Mr. Pattillo when he came down town to open up his shop. Six more filed in when the next electric car arrived from Los Angeles. Mr. Pattillo patiently explained that he knew nothing whatever of the ad, but the men were wroth, and one or two of them almost felt inclined to vent their wrath on Mr. Pattillo, who is just five feet three inches, and weighs 130 pounds.

In all there were about twenty-five applicants for the jobs, and some of them spent money to reach Van Nuys which they could not afford to waste.

Then on Monday and Tuesday another ad appeared in the Los Angeles papers, presumably by the same person, advertising for five plasterers, and this ad was charged to H. O. Jett, a Van Nuys plastering contractor.

This last ad produced similar results to the first one, and Van Nuys was further injured by some of the men telling their story to a sensational Los Angeles penny sheet, which blamed the town for the affair and "roasted" the community.

Clews to the identity of the culprit have been obtained, and it is possible that proceedings will be started against him, as his act makes him criminally liable. Residents of Van Nuys are much incensed at the incident, as they feel that the reputation of their home city has suffered thereby.

International Dancing Masters Declare Wriggly Effects Vulgar and Ungraceful.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.) Sept. 4.—Before the International Association of Masters of Dancing, which yesterday began a three days' session here, P. H. Kelly of Holyoke, Mass., secretary of the association, declared that the "turkey trot," the "horse trot," and the "grizzly bear" were vulgar.

"We will never recognize them," he said. "The dancing is from the hips up, instead of from the hips down, as is proper. It is not so much what the turkey-trotters od with their feet. That does not count. It is the position which leads to vulgarity.

The association during its session will unify the steps of the approved dances, in order to teach them correctly.

WOMAN FALLS INTO THE BAY.

BALBOA Sept. 4.—Mrs Florence Seidel, a graduate of the Glenn Martin Aviation School, was seriously injured here this afternoon while making a flight in a hydro-aeroplane for a moving-picture concern.

The young woman had completed her flight and was volplaning to the waters of the bay, when she suddenly lost control of her machine. It tilted sharply and in an effort to right it the young woman threw it too far the other way. She fell 150 feet and was pinned under the water by a rod which supports one of the wings. Rescuers hurried to the spot and released the aviatrix, who was unconscious for half an hour after being removed from the water.

BROTHER PLEADS FOR CAMINETTI.

Tries to Shift All Blame on Marcia Warrington.

Makes Theatrical Appeal to Emotions of Jurors.

Also Rings in Political Services of His Father.

[BY A. P. DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The fate of F. Drew Caminetti will rest in the hands of a jury by noon tomorrow. Given the same charges, the same admissions, the same judge to make the same rulings on virtually the same evidence, and the same defense to oppose it, his chance of a verdict different from that found against his companion, Maury I. Diggs, lies in the fact that twelve different men are trying him.

As the defendant's own brother put it to the jury today, "This whole case has simmered down to a single issue—namely, what was the intent and purpose of the trip to Reno? The whole evidence tends to show that the defendant left Sacramento because he feared impending arrest and articles about to be printed in the newspapers. No one but a man crazed and maddened by fear of arrest would have gone on that crazy trip—none but a lunatic.

"We do not claim that fright is a defense for crime, but, when seeking for a motive, the state of mind must be considered."

If this is the strength of the defense, the weakness of it may be stated in the words of Theodore Roche, arguing for the government. "The contention of the prosecution," he said, "is not that Caminetti alone induced or enticed the girls to leave Sacramento, but that he aided in inducing and enticing them. There is plenty of evidence to show that the girls did not want to go.

"It was Caminetti himself, however, who suggested that the girls go to Reno together, to be joined later by Diggs and himself. It was he who doctored in his pocket and gave Lola Norris $20 to pay her transportation. The main points of the prosecution have not been denied by the defense or by Caminetti when upon the stand.

"Agitation or fright is not a legal defense for crime. The defendant should have been frightened if he was not. He was not, however, too frightened to discriminate against the four opposite berths he might have engaged on the train to Reno, instead of the drawing-room he chose, nor too frightened to rent a bungalow in Reno for thirty days and live there with the girls."

BROTHER PLEADS.

The most striking divergence in the course of the Diggs and Caminetti trials was the wholly-unexpected appearance late today of Anthony Caminetti, Jr., as an advocate in his brother's defense. Young Caminetti has sat at counsel's table with his brother's lawyers throughout the trial, but it was not suspected that he formed part of their strength. There was a gasp and flutter of surprise when he rose to make the opening argument for the defense. Young Mrs. Caminetti was not present in the room, but his mother and Mrs. Diggs were.

There was a strong reminiscence of the shouting, passionate delivery of the father, A. Caminetti, Sr., Commissioner-General of Immigration, as the son lifted his voice till the walls of the courtroom rang, and shook his clenched fists with the very gesture Congress and the State Legislature have grown to know.

"It didn't need much urging to convince Marcia Warrington," he argued, "that she ought to leave Sacramento, considering the condition in which she found herself. Gentlemen of the jury, don't you believe that Marcia did a little persuading of her own? Don't you believe she urged Lola Norris to make the trip that she might have a companion?

"It may seem an error for me to plead for my brother in this case, but I can't stand idly by without uttering a word of protest. I don't want you to forget that an anxious mother awaits your verdict and a father who has served his country well."

This direct appeal to the emotions was too much for the mother. She had been holding her handkerchief to her eyes part of the time and part of the time glancing alternately at her son and at the judge, but here she broke down entirely and, sobbing audibly, rose and hastened from the room.

DEFENDANT ON STAND.

Caminetti's own testimony in his defense during the morning was brief and carefully avoided taking him onto ground which the government on cross-examination might make treacherous for him. In no wise did he attack either the character or the testimony of Lola Norris. He was even careful to assert that Miss Norris was influenced in her final decision by the insistence of Marcia Warrington that, go one, go all.

"We were in the Peerless restaurant," he testified, "and Diggs, who had just returned from Berkeley, told us that his father was coming to Sacramento the next day to have all of us arrested.

"'Then I'm gone,' I said, meaning that I wouldn't be there when he came to get me.

"Maury said: 'I've got to go if you do,' and Miss Warrington said: 'I'm going, too, I can't stay here if you go.'

"Lola said she couldn't go but Marcia said: 'Lola, I'm going, and you've got to go, too.'"

But in this considerateness for Miss Norris Caminetti's counsel had no share. When it came to the arguments, they attacked her sharply.

"The character of Miss Norris is peculiar," Attorney Devlin told the jury, "and her ideas of morality are strange. She is a study in human nature and does not appear to have the ideas of morality of a 16-year-old child. We find that she deceived her father and mother from the first, lied to them, and introduced Mr. Caminetti under an assumed name; that she finally left home without the shedding of a tear nor cared about Mrs. Caminetti and her baby left without a dollar in the world.

"We find that she lies freely to save herself, and this alone should be sufficient to raise a doubt in the minds of the jury as to her story. Where the liberty of a man hangs in the balance, what will you say of the testimony of a witness who is proved to have lied once?"

BLACKENED BY OWN WITNESS.

The defense of Caminetti, like that of Diggs, found itself placed where, in putting forward testimony to help him, it must blacken his general character. Thus again today, the strongest testimony against him was that poured out with fervor by Mrs. Diggs, his own witness, supposedly testifying to help him.

In a voice shaking with emotion she told how she had called the defendant from a saloon to her house and heaped him with scorn and shame while he hung his head and mumbled now and again "It's all true; it's all true."

The intent of the defense was to add cumulative weight to previous evidence of Caminetti's sufficient cause for agitation and desperation, but the eagerness with which the jury listened was so satisfactory to the government that Matt I. Sullivan asked a couple of perfunctory questions and excused her virtually without cross-examination.

Judge Van Fleet has said that his charge tomorrow will occupy not more than twenty-five minutes. The defense has but twenty minutes left and the prosecution an hour for further arguments. Allowing for no delays, the jury should have the case by a quarter to 12 tomorrow.

Con O'Keefe, Collector of Customs in Arizona, Forced to Resign for No Other Reason Than that He Is Known to Be a Staunch Republican.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Con O'Keefe, as he is known throughout Arizona for the past thirty-five years, Collector of Customs for the district of Arizona, was requested to send in his resignation to President Wilson. This was current in the streets last night. When Mr. O'Keefe was approached on the matter he did not deny the fact. Collector O'Keefe's resignation caused universal regret even among Democrats and the request came as a surprise to his many friends after the statement of the President that no employee who properly conducted himself in his official duty would be removed during the term of his office.

The customs district of Arizona never had a better administration than that of Mr. O'Keefe, who enjoys the distinction of being the first collector who ever served a full term of four years. President Taft reappointed him without any opposition. He had half of his second term served when he was called upon to tender his resignation. Mr. O'Keefe was asked if there were any charges against him. He replied that there were. Asked the nature of the charges he laughingly replied that he was charged with being a Republican and guessed he was guilty.

JAPAN SPURNED GERMAN OFFER.

Frustrated Triple Alliance to Control Far East.

Diplomatic Secret Revealed by Hayashi's Diary.

Berlin and London in Compact Regarding China.

[BY A. P. DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—That England and Germany actually did make a compact concerning China in 1905, that Germany did not wish Manchuria to be included in this understanding, and that heretofore Germany probably did not wish to come into the proposed Anglo-Japanese alliance, is shown in further extracts from the diary of the late Count Tadasu Hayashi, former foreign minister for or Japan, just printed in the Jiji Shimpo of Tokio, under date of August 31, copies of which were received here today. The paper shows the work of the Japanese censor, but Count Hayashi is quoted quite fully concerning many features of the negotiations that led up to the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

At this time Prince Ito was in Europe, ostensibly on a pleasure trip. During the negotiations between the English and Japanese diplomats Count Ito was visited in Berlin by Count Hayashi and told not to negotiate with Russia for a treaty affecting the policies of those nations in the Far East.

Count Hayashi's diary states that Prince Ito, however, had adopted a number of amendments to the proposed treaty, especially as affecting Japan's policy in Korea. The treaty provided that Japan should have a free hand in the development of her policy in Korea, England not to interfere in this, but to support Japan. The understanding regarding China was distinct. It provided for the open door, and for the territorial integrity of China.

Germany, according to Count Hayashi, was notified that this alliance (between Japan and England) had been made, and was also told of its significant nature as affecting Chinese territorial integrity.

NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

Concerning the proposition to include Germany, thus forming a new triple alliance, Count Hayashi's diary states that this proposition first came from Germany. But Germany was not desired by Japan as a third party, because England and Germany at that time were not on especially friendly terms. Count von Buelow had made a speech denouncing England, says Count Hayashi, "and the English people were very angry about this." Joseph Chamberlain had replied to Count von Buelow's speech.

GERMANY NOT INVITED.

Count Hayashi says: "Especially we did not invite Germany for the alliance because at this time the relations between England and Germany were not favorable. However, such an alliance was first suggested by Germany (the German embassy at London.) But at this time it does not appear that they wish to come in."

Count Hayashi intimates that an understanding existed between Russia and Germany regarding China, although he makes but passing reference to it. He says: "Therefore, in view of the relations between Germany and Russia, Germany in the first place did not want to come in at all. In 1905, when England and Germany made a compact concerning China, Germany wished Manchuria not to be included in this compact. Therefore I can imagine that Germany does not wish to come into this alliance. As I said before, the position of England and Germany is not favorable, so we did not persuade Germany to come in."

Count Hayashi states that England did not wish that formal announcement be made of the signing of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, but wished it to have become public informally. Japan, however, insisted that a formal announcement be made to all nations, in order that there be no misunderstanding regarding the policy of the allies regarding China and Korea.

Company Also Fathered by the National Vice Commission Goes to New Orleans to Stage Drama Depicting Downfall of a High School Girl.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A theatrical company of twenty persons, backed financially by John D. Rockefeller and the National Vice Commission arrived here this morning to stage a big moving play in Storyville, the New Orleans restricted district. The play, which is by Charles H. London, is to show the life of a white slave from the time of her leaving high school until her downfall.

The first exhibition of the completed film will take place at Columbia University, New York.

The first step in the girl's downfall is her introduction to the villain in a New York department store. After a whirl of New York life she is placed on a coastwise steamer and taken to the New Orleans district of Storyville, which is fifteen city squares wide and as many long and is called "Storyville" after the alderman who had the houses segregated.

JAPAN SPURNED GERMAN OFFER.

Federated Triple Alliance to Control Far East.

Diplomatic Secret Revealed by Hayashi's Diary.

Berlin and London in Compact Regarding China.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—That Japan and Germany actually did make a compact concerning China in 1900, that Germany did not wish Manchuria to be included in this understanding, and that heretofore Germany probably did not wish to come into the proposed Anglo-Japanese alliance, is shown in further extracts from the diary of the late Count Tadasu Hayashi, former foreign minister of Japan, and printed in the Jiji Shimpo of Tokio, under date of August 1, copies of which were received here today. The paper shows the work of the Japanese censor, but Count Hayashi is quoted quite fully concerning many features of the negotiations that led to the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

At this time Prince Ito was in Europe ostensibly on a pleasure trip, but the negotiations between the English and Japanese diplomats Count Ito was visited in Berlin by Count Waldersee and told not to negotiate with England for a treaty affecting the policies of those nations in the Far East. Count Hayashi's diary states that Prince Ito, however, had adopted a number of amendments to the proposed treaty, especially as affecting Japan's policy in Korea. The treaty provided that Japan should have a free hand in the development of her power in Korea, England not to interfere in this, but to support Japan. The understanding regarding China was distinct. It provided for the open door, and for the territorial integrity of China.

Germany, according to Count Hayashi, was notified that this alliance (between Japan and England) had been made, and was also told of its defensive nature as affecting Chinese territorial integrity.

NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

Concerning the proposition to include Germany, thus forming a new triple alliance, Count Hayashi's diary states that this proposition first came from Germany. But Germany was not desired by Japan as a third party, because England and Germany at that time were not on especially friendly terms. Count von Buelow had made a speech denouncing England, and Count Hayashi, "and the English people were very angry about it." Joseph Chamberlain had replied to Count von Buelow's speech.

GERMANY NOT INVITED.

Count Hayashi says: "Especially should not invite Germany for the alliance because at this time the relations between England and Germany were not favorable. However, such an alliance was first suggested by Germany (the German embassy at London). But at this time it does not seem that they wish to come in."

Count Hayashi intimates that an understanding existed between Russia and Germany regarding China, although he makes but passing reference to it. He says: "Therefore, in view of the relations between Germany and Russia, Germany in the first place did not want to come in at all. In 1900, when England and Germany made a compact concerning China, Germany wished Manchuria not to be included in this compact. Therefore I can imagine that Germany does not wish to come into this alliance. As I said before, the position of England and Germany is not favorable, so we did not persuade Germany to come in."

Count Hayashi states that England did not wish that formal announcement be made of the signing of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, but wished it to have become public informally. Japan, however, insisted that a formal announcement be made to all nations, in order that there be no misunderstanding regarding the policy of England regarding China and Korea.

Company Also Fathered by the National Vice Commission Goes to New Orleans to Stage Drama Showing Downfall of a High School Girl.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A theatrical company of twenty persons, backed financially by John D. Rockefeller and the National Vice Commission arrived in this city this morning to stage a big moving picture in Storyville, the New Orleans restricted district. This play, which is by Charles H. London, is to show the life of a white slave from the time of her leaving high school until her downfall.

The first step in the girl's downfall is the introduction to the villain in a New York department store. After a short New York life she is placed on a Mississippi steamer and taken to the New Orleans district of Storyville, which is fifteen city squares wide and twenty long and is called "Storyville" after the alderman who had the law segregated.

PROPOSES WORLD MONOPOLY.

Congressman Kent Introduces Joint Resolution for Government Control of Manufacture of War Munitions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Government monopoly for the manufacture and control of munitions of war was proposed in a joint resolution introduced today by Representative Kent of California. A committee of two Senators, two Representatives, two officers of the army, two of the navy, and one official of the State Department, would recommend a plan for a government-owned plant for the manufacture of explosives, and would suggest to the American representatives at The Hague that it would be well to consult with foreign nations as to some action leading to world-wide control of the manufacture of munitions of war.

The resolution sets forth that there "exists an international trust for the manufacture of explosives, that agreements exist binding foreign manufacturers not to sell to the United States government; that the trust charges the government extortionate prices."

KENTUCKY BELLE SAYS HER HUSBAND IS A PRISONER.

Member of Blue-Blooded Breckenridge Family Charges His Parents Are Forcibly Detaining Him in Order to Influence Him to Marry Another Woman of His Own Faith.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Edith Breckenridge Goldman, a member of the blue-blooded Breckenridge family of Kentucky, today brought suit against her husband, Sidney J. Goldman, son of Joseph G. Goldman, superintendent of the Junction Oil Company, for $250 a month separate maintenance. Mrs. Goldman charges her young husband is being influenced or forcibly detained from living with her by his parents, and that he is now living with them at their handsome home at No. 146 Locust street. She adds that they are endeavoring to bring about a divorce between her and her husband in order that he may marry a woman of his own faith.

Mrs. Goldman, young, pretty and typically southern in her accent and manner, is at the Beck Apartments, where she says she was deserted by her husband August 1, last. She was married in Sacramento, November 21, 1911, and the marriage was kept secret until the latter part of July last.

In the interim young Goldman sat beside his father in the Judson Oil Company office, took dinner almost nightly with his parents and visited his pretty wife as often as he could. At length his father heard rumors of the marriage and of the pretty apartments in Bush street. When confronted young Goldman admitted the truth. A scene ensued, the bridegroom was taken from his desk and, it is alleged, made a prisoner in the parental home. Mrs. Goldman says she has telephoned many times but is always told that her husband is not in. Mrs. Goldman says she is sure her husband's affection for her has not waned, and that if left to his own wishes he would return to her, for they have never quarreled in the eighteen months of their marriage. She says his salary at the Junction Oil Works is $500 per month and she asks for half.

Mrs. Goldman was formally an actress. She was born and educated in New Orleans and says she feels herself to be the equal of her husband in birth and breeding, and for that reason will not consent to a divorce.

She says that she will resort to habeas corpus proceedings if necessary to have her husband restored to her.

LARGE DECREASE IN FOREST FIRES.

ACREAGE BURNED OVER THIS YEAR REMARKABLY SMALL.

United States Service in California Develops System of Prevention and Protection that Kept Down Losses for Season to Less Than Three Thousand Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The forest fire record for the present calendar year in the national forests of California shows a remarkably small acreage burned over and very few fires compared with former years. Up to August 16, there had been 609 fires on the nineteen national forests of the State, 88 per cent. of which were extinguished before they had burned over ten acres each.

The average acreage per fire to date is thirty-one, the total acreage burned over is 18,929, and total damage, $3619.42.

This remarkable decrease in disastrous forest fires in California is largely due to the highly developed system of fire prevention maintained by the United States Forest Service, which covers approximately 28,000,000 acres of the forest and brush area of California. The system comprises about 850 men in the field during the dry season; ninety lookout stations manned and equipped with fire-detecting and locating devices, over 3000 miles of government-owned telephone lines, and conections, with an equal mileage of private lines; patrol stations, tool and supply caches, motorcycle, and railroad speeders, and mounts for upward of 750 men.

It provides for the organization in advance of the fire season of all volunteer help—some 10,000 men—for their speedy equipment and transportation to fire lines, and for immediate payment for services rendered.

SUFFERS A SLIGHT ATTACK OF CATARRH.

Temperature Is Normal and His Hoarseness Is Diminished So that He Is Able to Receive Cardinal Ferrari and a Body of Seven Thousand Pilgrims.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Sept. 4.—Pope Pius X, who has been suffering for the last day or two from a recurrence of the catarrh of the throat, was much improved this evening. His temperature was normal and the hoarseness had diminished. He reassured his sister, Maria and, his niece, who had remained in Rome for the summer to be with the Pontiff.

The Pope received in audience today, Cardinal Ferrari of Milan, who, instead of being accompanied by the whole chapter of the Cathedral of Milan, as originally arranged, took with him only four priests, so as not to tire the Pope.

Cardinal Ferrari was in charge of a large body of pilgrims, numbering 7450, many of whom had undertaken a long journey to see the Pontiff. All gathered in the court of St. Damaso and His Holiness appeared on the balcony, imparting the apostolic benediction.

TO HALT WATER DIVERSION.

California Delta Association Protests Against San Joaquin Water-shed Project as Danger to Lives.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—Charging that the water of Kings River, now flowing into Tulare Lake, is to be diverted into the San Joaquin watershed and that such a diversion will imperil lives and property of land owners along the San Joaquin and even the Sacramento Valley, the California Delta Association today asked the State Reclamation Board to exercise additional powers conferred on it by the last Legislature and prevent such a dangerous undertaking.

The association said such a diversion of water would increase the volume in the San Joaquin watershed at flood season from one-third to one-half and would cause such a choking of the Sacramento and San Joaquin delta that floods would back up the Sacramento River, doing great damage.

Col. J. P. Irish, president of the association; Carson Cook, secretary, and H. H. Henderson, its engineer, appeared before the board.

Irish told the board that the work of tapping the Kings River had been carried on in secret.

"At one time we wrote for information and were told that the work was not in progress. It has been hard to find out who is back of this reclamation work, but we have a few names," Irish said.

CORONER ORDERS TRAINMEN HELD.

NEW HAVEN ENGINEER AND FLAGMAN ARRESTED.

Charged With Responsibility for Causing the Death of One of the Victims in Recent Disaster—Both Said to Have Told Widely Conflicting Stories.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Sept. 4.—August B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain Express, and Charles H. Murray, flagman of the Bar Harbor Express, the two trains involved in the fatal North Haven wreck on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad last Tuesday morning, were formally placed under arrest by Coroner Mix late tonight, charged with having "criminally caused the death of Royal H. Hotchkiss," one of the victims of the disaster. They were placed under $5000 bail each under a Coroner's warrant, effective until twenty-four hours after the Coroner has rendered a verdict in the inquest into the catastrophe, which he began in private, today.

Bail for Miller was furnished by the local Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. Murray was locked up for lack of bondsmen.

The men, who have been detained by the Coroner in the County Jail since the day of the wreck as material witnesses, were arrested after they had given testimony at a night session of the Inquest. The pair, who, it is said, have told widely conflicting stories as to the causes of the accident, were examined separately.

Miller, though gaunt and nervous, was in a fighting mood after his release on bail. "They have called me a scapegoat," he said. "I am no scapegoat. I want to say that I have nothing to fear. I am going to clear myself. I have been demoralized by all that has been printed about this wreck, but I don't care so long as the truth comes out. That's all I want."

"On the contrary," Dr. Barnes says, "about 75 per cent. of the cases have shown increased activity of the disease which would not have been expected under ordinary sanitarium treatment. One patient, suffering from joint tuberculosis, showed marked improvement."

Two Officers Lose Lives in Aeroplane Test.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—First Lieutenant Ross L. Love of the Eleventh Cavalry, U.S.A., one of the officers detailed to study aviation at the North Island camp, was dashed to death early this morning when the aeroplane on which he had been sailing shot to the ground with fearful velocity from a height of about 250 feet. Every bone in the officer's body was broken and his skull was fractured in three places.

Lieut. Love rose for a flight at 7:35 o'clock this morning. The day was ideal, there being scarcely a breeze. After flying around North Island for about twenty minutes the aviator circled for altitude until he reached a height of 2000 feet. Then he shut off the motor and volplaned till his machine was about 250 feet from the earth. Then he sought to ascend. But in some manner the motor was started. It drove the machine like a shot to the earth, Lieut. Love meeting death at the camp from which he had ascended. The cause of the accident cannot be positively known, but the aviation experts express the opinion that the lieutenant accidentally touched the motor clutch with his foot, the aeroplane pointing toward the earth at the time. That the motor started was evidenced by a puff of smoke noticed by the watchers the instant the downward rush began.

The remains of the dead officer will be taken to Fairfax, Va., leaving here tomorrow.

Capt. A. S. Cowan, commanding officer at the aviation school, speaking of the accident, said:

"Lieut. Love was a careful and conservative flyer, not given to taking chances of any sort. A board today will inquire into the cause of the accident."

The lieutenant was assigned to duty with the first aero squadron last April, coming to the San Diego station last June.

According to the army roster the aviator's nearest relative is Judge James M. Love of Fairfax, Va. Locally Lieut. Love was a social favorite, both in Coronado and San Diego.

He had a pilot's license from the Aero Club of America and was preparing to take the examination for the military license. He was about 33 years old and not married.

DEATH'S HEAVY TOLL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Eleven aviators have been killed in the army and navy service since experiments were started with heavier-than-air machines, 1908—ten in the army and one in the navy. In the aviation world over 332 persons have been killed since 1908, 113 during the present year.

MISS DAW BREAKS RECORD.

FLIES WITH TWO PASSENGERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—What is believed to be a world's record for women passenger-carrying in an aeroplane was established by Ruth Law, sister of Aeronaut Rodman Law, from the aviation field at Garden City yesterday. Miss Law made a ten-minute flight in a biplane carrying Miss Pearl McGrath and Mrs. Richard B. Sinclair, the former seated on the lower wing of the machine. Mrs. Sinclair was formerly Miss Helen [illegible] of Baltimore. A maximum altitude of about 800 feet was reached.

SNATCHED FROM DEATH.

AVIATRICE DROPS INTO BAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 4.—Miss [illegible] ence Seidell, an aviatrice of the [illegible] escaped death today while flying over Newport Bay, five miles from this city. Mrs. Seidell had been making what had appeared to be a most successful flight when her machine suddenly dropped into the bay. Caught in the wires, she was thrown beneath the aeroplane and thrust under water, unable to free herself. Rescuers in motorboats hurried out from the shore and Aviatrice's predicament were quick to extricated her after she had been submerged three minutes. She was taken ashore and resuscitated with considerable difficulty.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

UNION FIXES COTTON PRICE

National Convention of Farmers' Union at Salina Votes to Adopt Trust Methods and Takes Advantage of Tight Money Markets to Maintain High Quotation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALINA (Kan.) Sept. 4.—The National Farmers' Union in session here fixed today the price at which members will sell this year's cotton crop at 15 cents a pound. The present price is approximately 12 cents.

The action binds every member of the union to hold his cotton until the market reaches the figures set.

Similar resolutions have failed of passage at previous conventions this year there was no opposition to the plan.

Several of the leading cotton growers wanted the minimum figure set at 17 cents or 18 cents, pointing out that, owing to the tightness of the money market and the unsettled conditions in Europe and this country prices of all products would soar and cotton would bring that price if the members of the union held out.

FRUITS OF PINCHOTISM.

New York Man Robs a Grave So Nothing Valuable Thereon Will Go to Waste.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 4.—Obsessed with a desire to "prevent waste," due, physicians say, to a diseased mind, John Stephens, aged 21, son of an Albany merchant, robbed the grave of Mrs. Pauline [illegible]. Young Stephens has confessed.

A workman about the cemetery discovered the desecrated grave [illegible]. The body lay in one end covered with earth. One finger, together with a ring and ear-rings, was missing. [illegible] was the inner coffin.

A maid in the Stephens home one night found the coffin in the cellar. She notified the family physician, who secured young Stephens's story. He was out riding on a bicycle [illegible] and passed the cemetery during a burial service. He thought he noticed that it was a waste to allow the woman's jewels and the coffin to rot in the grave, so he conceived the idea of returning after them. That night he went alone to the grave, broke to the outer receptacle, removed the body and carried the coffin and [illegible] home.

TO CURB JEWELRY JOBBERS

Government Asks Injunction Against So-called Combine, and May Start Criminal Proceedings.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A move in equity to obtain from the Federal Court an injunction under the Sherman law against the so-called jewelry combine to curb the activities of the middleman or jobber, was precipitated for filing today by United States District Attorney Marshall. Attorneys for the jewelry manufacturers and their salers, it was said, have come to a friendly settlement of the [illegible] tion.

With the filing of the petition it is understood that the criminal proceedings brought last June are to be dropped. Feliz H. Levy, counsel for the defendants, announced that the form of the present petition was acceptable to his clients and that they would not oppose the suit. The decree prayed for is designed to end the activities of the jewelry jobbers.

CURRY THREATENS TRACY.

May Hold Up Hetch-Hetchy Bill in Senate Unless Tracy Affairs Are Promised Electric Power.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive dispatch.] When the Hetch-Hetchy bill reaches the Senate there is trouble in store for it. The trouble is being furnished by Representative Curry. At least it is likely to be so, unless he demands that the bill be so amended to provide electric power for irrigationists at Tracy.

"The rights of the irrigationists must be respected," said Representative Curry today, "or I shall make all kinds of trouble for the progress of the bill. I am willing that they should wish it, that San Francisco should have a water supply, but there is no reason why the people of Tracy should not be taken care of, and unless provision is made for it in this bill, I shall, for twenty years or longer if necessary, fight them their rights."

Congressman Church says he was satisfied with the bill as it passed the House and he was grateful to him appreciate the anxiety shown by Curry for the Tracy irrigationists.

Santa Ana.

JUSTICE MAKES AWFUL BLUNDER.

LOS ANGELES MAN FALLS INTO MATRIMONIAL TRAP.

Santa Ana Official Becomes Confused and a Lord of Creation Promises to "Honor, Cherish and Obey"—Woman in Case Agrees to "Protect" the Groom.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 4.—Justice of the Peace Cox got his words tangled up today while performing a marriage ceremony, and before he finished he had the groom promising to obey the wife and the girl promising to protect the husband. Arthur R. Dentler, 25, a clerk, and Miss Lydia Turner, 28, a stenographer and good looking, both of Los Angeles, were the couple concerned.

Justice Cox halted a jury trial on a call to the County Clerk's office. In his haste he asked the young man:

"Do you promise to take this young woman whose right hand you hold, to be your lawful wedded wife, and will you promise to love, honor, cherish and obey her so long as both shall live?"

Dentler looked aghast, but he thought it was all in the ceremony, and he responded in the affirmative.

Turning to the pretty young woman whose hand Dentler held, the justice asked her if she would "love, honor, cherish and protect him."

"Yes," replied Miss Turner, and instantly Justice Cox pronounced the couple man and wife.

"I got that ceremony mixed up," said the justice, "but that's all right. I want you to remember what you you promised."

"I'll see to that," laughed Mrs. Dentler. "And I'll protect him, too."

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce may start a movement to establish a municipal gas plant in Santa Ana. Last night, W. A. Zimmerman, president of the Orange County Savings and Trust Company; Attorney H. J. Forgy, and J. C. Metzger were appointed a committee to make a report upon the feasibility of starting the movement, and upon the advisability of bringing natural gas to Santa Ana from the oil fields at Olinda and Brea.

Attorney Tustin P. Dyer of Los Angeles is on trial before a jury on a charge of having used insulting language toward Mrs. Della Gillon at Huntington Beach.

The Board of Supervisors has transferred the Seventh and Eighth Precincts of Santa Ana from the Fifth Supervisorial District to the First, which puts all of Santa Ana into one district. New precincts are to be formed in Fullerton and Huntington Beach. Yorba, Linda, and Cypress will have one precinct each. The Magnolia precinct, formed out of what was once part of Stanton, was transferred to the third district. Owing to the rapid growth of the county, twelve or fifteen new precincts must be formed.

COURTS CHOKED.

With no other aid than the visit of a Los Angeles judge once a week, the Superior Court of this county has been attempting to stave off business until Gov. Johnson appoints a new judge or until Judge West gets back from his vacation. When Judge West left on August 8 to be gone for six weeks' deer hunting and trout fishing in Siskiyou county, he had no doubt but what Gov. Johnson would appoint an additional judge for this county the next week, as provided for by the Legislature.

Gov. Johnson made no appointment, and the belief that he does not intend to appoint a judge in strengthening as time goes on. Three weeks have gone by and still no new judge has been named. Several prisoners awaiting trial have had their cases postponed, and civil cases have been moved forward. Each Friday a Los Angeles judge comes down to look after the law and motion calendar, but he has no time to try cases.

Today County Clerk Williams wired Judge West that it would be best for him to be here for a criminal trial on September 10. The judge had sent word to wire him in case no judge was appointed and his presence was needed. He will cut his vacation short two weeks.

Attorney R. H. Jackson of Long Beach, who was here on business, stated that he heard in San Francisco that Gov. Johnson does not intend to make an appointment. Local Progressives do not take that view of the matter, saying that they do not think the Governor would have signed the bill had he been of that mind. The most logical reason given for the failure of the Executive to make an appointment, is that the Orange county Progressives cannot agree upon a man. There are three candidates, S. M. Davis, S. S. Finley and W. H. Thomas, and they are wondering just what the Governor is going to do.

Imperator Fire Report.

The official report of the Hamburg-American line concerning the recent fire aboard the S. S. Imperator was received yesterday by the steamship department of the German-American Trust and Savings Bank. Under date of August 19, it is in part as follows:

"The fire was confined entirely to a compartment containing provision storeroom and extinguished after a few hours. The steerage passengers, who were still on board last night, were transferred to the pier in perfect order, without a sign of a panic. All cabin accommodation is positively unimpaired. The only casualty was, unfortunately, the death of Second Officer Gobrecht, who was overcome by smoke in his attempt to manage the fire hose single-handed. The damage caused is very slight and the departures from New York on September 20, October 11 and November 1, 1913, and the sailings of the Imperator to the Mediterranean on February 4 and March 5, 1914, from New York, will be maintained as per schedule.

ALMOST PERSUADED.

Federated Improvement Association Nearly Indorses Espee Depot Plans but Finally Holds Off.

The Federated Improvement Association came within an ace last night of indorsing the Southern Pacific depot plans when a committee, to which the question of a union depot had been left, recommended that the plans proposed by the railroad be supported. Upon the adoption of the committee report there came a merry fight which developed that the committee had not consulted Santa Fe or Salt Lake route officials at all. After a long discussion the report was merely received and the committee instructed to go ahead with investigations and make a report on the whole matter later.

The federation had already indorsed the union station plan and named a committee of fifteen to go into the matter and report. This committee delegated the work to a subcommittee of three and its report was so favorable to the Southern Pacific plan that other delegates to the association wondered if the union depot plan had been overlooked altogether. The committee reported that in discussing the matter with Southern Pacific officials it did not find the officials defiant, but ready to aid in any plan that would be feasible.

David Evans of the County Civil Service Commission, placed the federation on record as favoring the abolishment of the City Assessor and collector and turning their duties over to the County Assessor and Collector. He was so successful in seeing this motion rushed through unanimously that he tried another. This time he suggested that the federation indorse a move to combine the civil service of the city and county departments. The federation stood for it unanimously.

Then President McCallum, after the vote was taken, said that he was opposed to the move because he thought it was all politics. This aroused Richard W. Kelly, and he moved to reconsider. The result was that the civil-service matter was left to the Executive Committee, composed of the officers of the association, with the president as chairman.

EXPERTS DIFFER AS TO DRAINAGE.

BULL YOUNG MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAYS ANOTHER DOCTOR.

Testimony Given Shows Operation May Have Been Unnecessary—Because Bandages Prevented Flow Blood and Incision Was Not Big Enough.

While Dr. Hugh Johnson, the second expert called by the prosecution in the manslaughter case against Willard and others for being instrumental in causing the death of Young ("Bull") Young, was not willing to say that improper treatment caused the death of the pugilist, he did say that in his judgment several things might have been done to help the dying man.

He stated that he believed the operation was not considered enough to get out all the coagulated black blood and that further investigation apparently would have relieved the congestion. He also said he believed the manner of bandaging the head stopped the drainage. This was the very thing the surgeons wished to accomplish.

Dr. Johnson was, in the opinion of the spectators, more favorable to the defense than to the prosecution. Possibly this moved Chief Deputy District Attorney Ford to inquire if he had conversed at length with counsel for the defense.

Dr. Johnson replied he had talked with probably 100 persons about the operation and doubtless had given his views to Earl Rogers, chief counsel for Willard and the other defendants.

The doctor stated that the beating of Willard's hands was the direct cause of previous injuries to Young, and the force of his blows was increased rather than strengthened by the bandages wound around his hands before he put on his gloves.

"As I observed condition," said the physician, "Young was in a critical condition for about fifteen minutes after the blow and fell. The usual symptoms of concussion followed. The man was taken to the hospital and the injury to the brain is one of those whose symptoms develop slowly.

"I believe death resulted from concussion of the brain with the bandages and fall as the contributing causes. However, the operation was not satisfactory to me. I don't think it went far enough."

He then explained at length his theory of the injury and the conditions which he believed the proper treatment would have been relieved and free drainage provided to allow the stagnant blood to be drawn out.

Dr. Johnson declared the patient was in a normal condition when he left the operating room. He made the inference that there was a possibility of compression due possibly to the lack of free drainage.

This point will doubtless play an important part in the defense's case when comes to a jury trial in Superior Court.

Dr. R. B. Griffith was subjected to a stiff cross-examination by Ford in the morning session. The latter asked him if Dr. Johnson could grasp the instrument to prevent him from breaking through the skull in the matter of the brain. Dr. Griffith replied he did not remember on that incident.

The doctor reiterated his former contention that Young had died of concussion almost immediately after he received the fatal blow. Ford, Rogers and Griffith then indulged in a discussion as to the best method of performing a trephining.

The case will be resumed at 10 o'clock this afternoon. Prosecuting Attorney Fredericks will then call Dr. Griffith to the witness stand for cross-examination by Ford, after which he will be excused and the case will go over until Monday, when it will be taken up with the grand jury.

Chief Executive Calls U of Strong Body of Citize ments at Interest to Inn geles Shall Offer Outlyin

A MESSAGE from Mayor Rose, officially filed last night, will be to the City Council this morning submitting a proposition to secure action on a general plan for consolidation with the city of Los Angeles of territory to be served by the waters of the aqueduct.

The Mayor proposes the formation of a committee representing the various elements at interest for the purpose of seriously considering and making a public report on a series of subjects in this connection, which he outlines in his message. The message says:

"Without doubt the most pressing problem in municipal affairs in Los Angeles is that of properly, legally and advantageously disposing of the water the aqueduct will deliver into the San Fernando reservoirs about ninety days hence. It is necessary that this city put its water to beneficial use within the shortest possible time—this because its power development depends on the amount of water moved; and because there is grave question whether even the city can withhold the water from use and retain its rights thereto.

"The Public Service Commission has declared a policy in regard to the disposition of water on land that may properly be considered eligible for annexation to the city, either at an early date or in the future. Since no permanent right to the water can be gained by purchasers unless they be inside the city itself, and since very few land owners are desirous of contracting for a temporary supply of water for irrigation, it follows that the distribution of aqueduct water must be more or less closely considered in connection with the question of a very extensive series of annexation proceedings.

"There are many angles to the problem of the annexation of a large area, or several of them. The voters of the city and of territories seeking annexation have the last word on the subject. Preliminary to any annexation election, and, in fact, preliminary to a campaign for or against annexation of any given territory, a large amount of work must be done without remuneration for anyone doing it, and with no reward save the satisfaction of having a share in an important project that concerns the welfare and prosperity of the whole community—both inside and outside the city.

FOR CONSOLIDATION WITH AQUEDUCT WATER USERS.

Chief Executive Calls Upon Council to Secure Services of Strong Body of Citizens Representing All the Elements at Interest to Immediately Decide What Los Angeles Shall Offer Outlying Districts.

A MESSAGE from Mayor Rose, officially filed last night, will go to the City Council this morning, submitting a proposition to secure action on a general plan for consolidation with the city of Los Angeles of territory to be served by the waters of the aqueduct.

The Mayor proposes the formation of a committee representing the various elements at interest for the purpose of seriously considering and making a public report on a series of subjects in this connection, which he outlines in his message. The message says:

"Without doubt the most pressing problem in municipal affairs in Los Angeles is that of property, legally and advantageously disposing of the water the aqueduct will deliver into the San Fernando reservoirs about sixty days hence. It is necessary that the city put its water to beneficial use within the shortest possible time —this because its power development depends on the amount of water moved; and because there is grave question whether even the city can withhold the water from use and retain its rights thereto.

"The Public Service Commission has declared a policy in regard to the disposition of water on land that may properly be considered eligible for annexation to the city, either at an early date or in the future. Since a permanent right to the water can be gained by purchasers unless they be inside the city itself, and since very few land owners are desirous of contracting for a temporary supply of water for irrigation, it follows that the distribution of aqueduct water must be more or less closely considered in connection with the question of a very extensive series of annexation proceedings.

"There are many angles to the problem of the annexation of a large area, as several of them. The voters of the city and of territories seeking annexation have the last word on the subject. Preliminary to any annexation election, and, in fact, preliminary to a campaign for or against annexation of any given territory, a large amount of work must be done without remuneration for anyone doing it, and with no reward save the satisfaction of having a share in an important project that concerns the welfare and prosperity of the whole community—both inside and outside the city.

STRONG HANDS NEEDED.

"Consequently, I greatly feel the need of an able and interested group of public-spirited men and women to act with the regularly constituted city officials in the consideration of the question that must, of necessity, be faced in connection with the problem of water distribution and annexation. I am impressed with the importance of obtaining, both for myself and the other city officials, the advice and assistance of private citizens—men and women who are in a position to come in closer touch with popular opinion concerning annexation than is possible for men isolated in a public office. Moreover, such a body of men and women as I have in mind would be able to concentrate its efforts on this immense problem where others would be compelled to give a share of attention to other complex and time-consuming questions.

"I respectfully suggest to the City Council, the Public Service Commissioners, and the people of Los Angeles and contiguous territory that a commission be appointed—all its members to serve without pay—to be known as 'the Greater Los Angeles Commission' or similar title, for the purpose of studying, and of making recommendations to the city officials concerning the following points:

THE QUESTIONS.

"(1.) Should annexation be made a condition precedent to the sale of any aqueduct water?

"(2.) What territory, or districts may properly be considered eligible to annexation to the city?

"(3.) Should Los Angeles conduct a campaign in these territories, or districts, which will educate the occupants concerning the value to them of such annexation?

"(4.) How and when should such a campaign be instituted and pressed, if at all?

"(5.) On what terms should annexation be arranged?

"(6.) What pledges, if any, is Los Angeles justified in making, or in position to make, to the residents of districts proposed to be annexed?

"If, in the judgment of this commission and of the officials of the city—particularly the Council—it should be deemed wise to begin annexation proceedings at once in connection with water distribution in any territories or districts, I would suggest that this commission be asked to continue at its work—this to aid the city officials in carrying on whatever campaign it is determined to institute.

"It may not be amiss for me to suggest that, if any considerable territory about Los Angeles is finally annexed to the city, the resultant municipality must certainly comprise a large area, compactly built up and developed as a unit, and that the logical next step may be the consolidation of city and county offices. If

Son of the late John Wigmore of this city, news of whose sudden death in Tokio, where he was military attache to the American embassy, was received here yesterday. Maj. Wigmore began as a bugler in the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., graduated from West Point, served as a captain of cavalry in the Spanish War in the Philippines in the Engineering Corps and became a major only last February, at the age of 39.

Succinct.

"I REST ON MY RECORD," DANA BARTLETT'S REPLY.

"I REST on my record," said Rev. Dana A. Bartlett, superintendent of the Bethlehem Institution, when he returned to his home, No. 1437 Malvern avenue, yesterday, from a ten weeks "city planning tour" through France, Germany, Belgium and England, and learned for the first time of the confiscation of his charitable works by the Municipal Charities Commission and the bringing of serious charges against its management by Earl Ward Pearce, a former secretary. "There is absolutely nothing connected with the Bethlehem Institution that cannot be explained to the satisfaction of any fair-minded person."

Dr. Bartlett refused to discuss the charges in detail until he had had an opportunity to read a certified copy of them and formulate a reply, but he intimated that within a few days he would have something pertinent to say.

Discussing the allegation in the Pearce affidavit that practically all of the Bethlehem enterprises have passed out of existence, the superintendent admitted that this is the fact, but declared that it was never the intention of the Institution to maintain them as permanent charities. "Our desire," he said, "was to demonstrate their usefulness and then turn them over to the city or county for maintenance by the people at large. Our work is only experimental. My desire is to keep pressing on to new and better solvents of the problems of our city. It is proper that the detail work should be carried on by the authorities.

"Just a few people do most of the giving anyway. It has been the idea of the board to give over all of the institutions into the hands of a combined county and city commission within the next year. I do not know anything about the Municipal Charities Commission or understand the extent of its authority, but it should be the one to handle the matter, well and good.

"I have nothing to conceal. My life in Los Angeles is an open book. Mrs. Bartlett and myself have given our lives to the work of improving the conditions under which our more unfortunate brethren live. We lived among our people in the slums until good friends made it possible for us to occupy our present home. We denied ourselves much, but have no complaint. I do not propose to leave Los Angeles. It is the best city in the world, and I am going on working for her and doing my best to make her ideal.

"Those who know me know what to think of stories of mismanagement and graft and misappropriation of funds, and those who do not will not condemn a life work and an institution which has done a vast amount of good until both sides have been heard. I will, of course, appear before the commission at the hearing next week, and I do not propose losing any sleep over the matter."

Dr. Bartlett gave out the following signed statement: "Having just returned to the city, I find that during my absence an appeal for indorsement was made to the Municipal Charities Commission by the Bethlehem Benevolent Board, and thus far has been refused because of certain reports laid before them. I am thankful that the commission saw fit to await my return for final decision. As yet I have not seen a copy of their preliminary report and so can say nothing in detail. I understand that next week an opportunity will be given me to appear before the commission and explain in full, which I will be glad to do."

Cruel.

SINKS LIKE A STONE IN THE GREEN DEEPS.

PASSENGERS gazing down into the crystal clear depths of the ocean from a glass-bottom boat on the bay at Avalon, Catalina Island, yesterday witnessed a marine tragedy that is a puzzle to both medical men and seamen.

They saw Russel Fisher, the sixteen-year-old son of J. W. Fisher, a builder and contractor of No. 1026 Hudson avenue, Hollywood, dive from the side of a skiff into sixty feet of water.

They watched his body as it curved under the boat and sank foot after foot until it finally rested far below them on the bottom of the sea, still plainly in view.

They watched and waited for the body to rise again. But Russell Fisher was dead. None realized this. That the body would not rise again to the air, they could not believe. Finally a cry for help was raised.

Diver Frank McGrath reached the spot below which the body could be seen. He is called the world's champion coin diver. His body poised for a second on the brow of the boat, then it cleft the water as a knife and shot straight down.

McGrath's arm was seen to circle young Fisher's body. The diver's legs crooked under him and he shot his body upward; and after what seemed an eternity two heads appeared above water by the side of the boat. McGrath had been under water almost two minutes. But his heroism was in vain.

Resuscitation methods, all that science has taught, were applied in the futile effort to again start the blood in the veins of young Fisher. But he had been under water for fifteen minutes.

DEATH CALLS IN FAR EAST.

Maj. H. L. Wigmore, U.S.A., Is Stricken Near Tokio.

Japanese Embassy Military Attache Taken.

Scion of an Old Family Here; Distinguished Career.

Maj. Hubert Llewellyn Wigmore, U.S.A., scion of one of the oldest families of the city, military attache to the United States embassy at Tokio and the developer of rich deposits of naval coal on the Island of Batan, died suddenly last Monday, of appendicitis at Chuzenji, a summer resort near Tokio.

A cablegram containing the simple statement of the death was received Wednesday by the mother, Mrs. John Wigmore, from the young widow at Chuzenji. Arrangements for the funeral will depend on the wishes of the widow. A letter from her is expected to arrive here today. It is probable that the body will be brought here for burial.

Those who mourn the loss of the brilliant officer are Mrs. John Wigmore, the mother, of this city; the widow, now resident in Tokio, and Alphonso A., Cyril and George H. Wigmore of this city; John H. and F. M. Wigmore of Evanston, Ill., brothers; Mrs. J. N. Densham of San Francisco and Mrs. J. D. Hunter of Evanston, Ill., sisters. John H. Wigmore is dean of the law school of Northwestern University.

LOSS TO THE ARMY.

Born in San Francisco, October 14, 1874, Wigmore's life was in the words of a brother yesterday that of "a man upright and straightforward, whom to know was to love." In its larger aspect, it was that of a man who through native ability and insight so shaped his life that at the time of his death his name was a bright one in army circles.

Following the removal of the Wigmore family to this city in 1887, he attended the public schools and the old Harvard School. In company with the present Brig.-Gen. Wankowski and Col. A. W. Bradbury, Wigmore joined the drum and bugle corps of the Seventh Infantry, C.N.G.

This led to his appointment to West Point in 1895. On graduation from this institution in 1899 with distinguished honors, he entered the cavalry arm of the service and was sent to Porto Rico. From there he was ordered to the Philippines and later transferred to the engineering corps, in which he served through the first Moro campaign.

NOTABLE SERVICES.

Decorated and promoted for distinguished gallantry, the then Capt. Wigmore was next intrusted with the development of the government coal mines on the Island of Batan. In this development he added a notable chapter to the development of the islands, a chapter which assures this country of coal deposits of great naval value in case of war. On this island, with the thoroughness characteristic of him, he developed coal deposits of immense quantities and of potential heat-units comparable to that of the Pocahontas coal of Virginia, the coal that before that time had been considered the only fuel that would meet the trying demands of war usage.

In 1908, Capt. Wigmore was recalled to the United States and assigned to harbor work at New York. Meanwhile he had married Miss Irene Elizabeth Moore of Greensboro, Pa. Later he was stationed at Washington Barracks, near the national capital.

In June, 1912, he was appointed military attache to the American embassy at Tokio. In February last he was advanced to the rank of major.

LANE MAY COME TO SEE VALLEY.

RIVER COMMISSION INVITES HIM TO VISIT IMPERIAL.

Regulation of the Colorado Water Supply and Assurance of Development Requirements Sought of the Secretary of the Interior — Long Distance Talk on Today.

As part of a plan to assure the Imperial Valley of all water needed for development purposes, the advisory board of the Arizona and California River Regulation Commission met yesterday, approved the report of the special committee, with but one slight modification, and authorized Chairman Willis H. Booth to extend an invitation to Secretary of the Interior Lane to visit this city and familiarize himself with the water needs of the Southwest.

Booth expects to get in communication with Lane at San Francisco today over the long-distance telephone and to elicit from him a promise to visit this city on his way East. In case Lane acquiesces in the plans of the board he will be taken on a tour of the Imperial Valley and, with maps before him, he will be thoroughly familiarized with the crying need for early government action that the water users of the Pacific slope may be forever assured of a sufficiency of Colorado River water for development purposes.

Booth stated yesterday that if the Secretary of the Interior can be persuaded to come here and will set a definite date for his visit, he will immediately call a meeting of the board to make plans for the visit to the Imperial Valley.

RICH WIFE HAS HUSBAND JAILED FOR NON-SUPPORT

CHARLES R. BAKER, prominent in local music and dramatic circles, was arrested yesterday on a complaint sworn to by Mrs. Baker charging him with failure to provide. Simultaneously Mrs. Baker replevined a two-carat diamond ring, a diamond scarf pin and a gold watch and gold locket, said to be worth in all about $1000.

Baker was arrested at 5 o'clock and remained in the County Jail about two hours, when he furnished bond for $1500 and was released. He is represented by Attorney A. P. M. Narlian. Mrs. Baker's attorney is Col. George Shumway, formerly Mayor of her home city of Galesburg.

Mrs. Baker says she has spent $20,000 on her handsome husband. The disappointed wife lives with her three grown children in an expensive home at No. 914 Kingsley drive. Since the separation of the Bakers, July 16 last, the husband has been living at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

The first husband of Mrs. Baker was the late Ephraim Scharps, a wealthy clothing merchant of Galesburg, Ill. The widow met Baker at a time when she was very ill and grieved.

She found him attentive and sympathetic and a willing nurse when she was suffering with muscular rheumatism. They were married se[ven] years ago in South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Baker alleges that for the f[irst] five years she supported both h[im]self and her husband and started h[im] in two business ventures, both [of] which, she says, were failures.

Two years ago Mrs. Baker says [she] advised her husband that her re[al] money was becoming exhausted [and] asked him to obtain a position. [He] avers that he found employment [and] supported himself, but refused to c[on]tribute toward her support. Two [of] waists which he brought from Ho[no]lulu were all the clothing that [he] bought for her during their marr[ied] life, she claims.

"I wish to make it plain that th[ere] is no vindictiveness in the action t[hat] I have taken, but it seemed to [me] that I had been treated so wron[g] that I should do something to fo[rce] him to do his duty," said Mrs. Ba[ker] last night. "When I turned the d[ia]monds and watch over to him [he] promised to return them whenever asked for them. He refused my [de]mand and there was nothing else [for] to use the law to regain them."

Baker, when seen last evening, expressed most kindly feeling for [his] wife, but would not comment furt[her] upon the matter, simply giving as [the] cause of Mrs. Baker's action "[the] children." He was inclined to t[ake] the matter lightly.

The Bakers came to Los Ang[eles] two years ago.

MAKE HISTORY FOR RAILROADS.

Harriman Line Conference at Salt Lake.

To Consider Ways and Means to Greater Growth.

Fair Year Problems the Big Feature of Programme.

Pursuant to the call of B. L. Winchell, newly-appointed director of traffic for the Union Pacific system, representatives of every affiliated line of the big Harriman road, including the Southern Pacific, Salt Lake, Oregon Short Line, Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation Company, Chicago and Northwestern, and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railways, will assemble in Salt Lake City [illegible], to consider joint arrangements to care for the huge traffic that is expected to be created by the near-simultaneous opening of the Panama Canal and the San Diego and San Francisco expositions.

The Salt Lake will be represented by General Traffic Manager Wann; the Southern Pacific by Passenger Traffic Manager Fee. Wann will arrive here today for Salt Lake, stopping off at a number of places en route. Fee is expected to leave San Francisco the latter part of the coming week. Vice-President Munroe is expected to represent both the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation Company. Nothing is known here as to the representatives which the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will send.

Though the Union Pacific, the parent company of the once-great Harriman system, has been severed from its dependents by government action, such history is expected to be made at the meeting, as the Union Pacific is the keystone line of the traffic arch which connects the Salt Lake, et al., with Chicago, the gateway through which much of the exposition-year traffic is expected to move.

Some months ago, the Salt Lake, Union Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern, and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul cemented an agreement here which has resulted in near-joint operation of the four roads between the East and West. That Winchell, former president of the great Frisco system, is about to perfect the agreement whereby the former Harriman line will be further entrenched in its hold of Pacific Coast business is probable.

Until yesterday there was an effort to throw a veil of secrecy around the meeting. The facts leaked out, however, and officials of the participating companies thereupon admitted that the meeting is not only to be held, but that action of primary interest to the traveling public of the Pacific Coast is a probability.

TO SAN BERNARDINO.

BY FIRST OF YEAR.

Previous to departure yesterday for San Francisco, President Shoup of the Pacific Electric stated that a Herculean effort will be made to begin operation into San Bernardino by January 1. Various surmises as to the date this line will be put in operation have been made, but Shoup stated definitely that January 1 is the date as has been furnished the Southern Pacific management as the one on which the Pacific Electric can assure continuous car service between this city and San Bernardino. Shoup's words are terse on matters connected with the placing of a contract at an early date for forty-five new cars.

SIGNALLING BLOCK SIGNALS.

Approval was granted yesterday to the installation of automatic block signals on the Pasadena Short Line of the Pacific Electric, between Fair Oaks and Alliso streets, this city, and Indian Village. The work is being done by the Union Switch and Signal Company, the same company which has been working for some time on a block signal installation on the entire short line.

[illegible] ABOUT GAS.

Gas Lighting Company Official Makes Plain the Situation About Which the Controversy Centers.

The following communication to the city officials and the public regarding the gas controversy, was made public yesterday by W. G. Kerckhoff, president of the Southern California Gas Company:

To the Mayor, the City Council, and the citizens of the city of Los Angeles:

In view of the statement made before the City Council and the large number of misleading articles appearing in some of the newspapers, we deem it to make a statement in order that the public may be advised of the true status of the gas affairs of the city, particularly so far as it concerns the production of natural gas.

Some time ago a corporation known as the Midway Gas Company was formed for the purpose of acquiring leases for the purchase of gas in the Midway oil territory, and for the transportation of the gas to Los Angeles. In order to secure as large a gas-producing territory as possible and thereby insure a long use of natural gas for this city, contracts were made with the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, Kern Trading Oil Company, Southern Pacific Oil Company, Associated Oil Company and the Munro Oil Company. Later contracts were made for the construction of a pipe line to transmit the gas produced from the Midway oil fields to Los Angeles, and for the sale of the gas to the Southern California Gas Company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, Economic Gas Company, Edison Electric Company and the Western Fuel and Gas Company. The pipe line was built and completed in October, 1912, but, owing to the fact that the gas wells which were depended on to furnish the gas available were not in a position to deliver gas, the furnishing of natural gas could not be proceeded with until about May 1.

Further delay was encountered in operation was made to the Public Service Commission in conforming their orders requiring modifications of the contracts entered into before their final approval was received.

In the meantime, it was found that owing to the drilling of oil wells [illegible] the gas measures the natural gas pressure, which was previously very large, had dwindled to such an extent that it was impossible to deliver gas to Los Angeles in large quantities with the rock pressure now existing. It was, therefore, necessary to install a compressor plant, which is now under construction.

However, in order to utilize the gas available, as well as to obtain information as to the results of the use of the natural gas, we used it under our boilers and for heating the gas generators. At our request, some of it was used by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation for the same purposes. Later, six larger quantities of gas became available, the gas was mixed for the purpose of improving the quality of manufactured gas and also to ascertain what would be the reduction in the quantity of gas consumed due to the use of natural gas, which reduction we knew would occur on account of the additional heat units in the natural gas.

A careful analysis of the gas has been made daily, and it has been found that as the amount of natural gas mixed with the artificial gas was increased, the heat units were increased as expected, and as the heat units increased the consumption decreased. This, of course, is an absolute gain to the consumer, as the amount of gas consumed decreased in proportion to the increase of heat units.

We will also state that we now note, in the reading of our gas meters a considerable decrease in the amount consumed, showing that the consumer is taking advantage of the better quality of gas furnished. As our experience so far is limited to the short time in which we have been mixing gas, and as the quantities mixed have varied during this time, we do not yet have absolute data on the questions involved. It would still be extremely difficult to say what, if any, has been the reduction in the cost of manufacture by the use or addition of natural gas. First, because of the increase in cost per thousand of the manufactured gas, due to the smaller quantity manufactured, without any reduction of pay roll, or decrease of interest or depreciation in the manufacturing plant. Second, due to the varying proportions of the gas mixed in the course of our experiments. Third, on account of the decreased consumption of the better quality of gas.

It will take a number of months to determine how much the cost of manufactured gas is affected by the introduction of the natural gas, and also how much this decreased cost, if any, will be offset by the smaller use and the consequent larger distribution cost of the mixed product. We have had experience enough in the use and mixture of natural gas to know, however, that the cost of serving our consumers has not been reduced 13 cents per thousand feet, or anything like it, nor are the companies serving gas saving $400 or $600 per day, or any sum remotely approaching these figures. Just what is the saving, if any, it is impossible to determine at this time and with the data so far secured. In any event, the consumers have the advantage at the same price of the better product, as the amount of natural gas is increased and their bills are correspondingly reduced. In fairness to both the public and the companies sufficient time should be given to ascertain full data as to cost of product and cost of distribution.

Originally, it was anticipated that the twelve-inch pipe line for the transmission of gas would take care of the needs of Los Angeles and surrounding territory for a period of years. The rapid growth of the city and the consequent increase in the use of gas, have shown us that it will be impossible to supply the needs of Los Angeles and surrounding territory with natural gas wholly during the coming winter months through the twelve-inch line. We had, therefore, intended to install additional transmission capacity, at the earliest possible moment, to enable us to furnish the amount of gas required, but the agitation that has been going on for a reduction in the rate of mixed gas, and the very low price for natural gas advocated by some of the papers of this city, before there are complete data available from which it can be determined what the price of natural gas should be, have made it impossible for us to secure additional funds for the increase in facilities.

If, through persistent misrepresentation and abuse, we are unable to obtain the necessary additional capital to fully develop this project, and the city of Los Angeles does not receive a full supply of natural gas the public will certainly know upon whom to place the blame.

If by reason of unfair opposition the use of natural gas in the city of Los Angeles is prevented, it will be necessary for the owners of this gas to utilize their product in other directions, and Los Angeles will be deprived of the benefits which should result from the use of this superior product. It is probable that an attempt may be made to interpret this statement as a threat. Any allegation in this line will be manifestly untrue, for we will do everything in our power to put the natural gas into service.

In reference to the statement made regarding the rates prevailing in the East, as compared with the rate for Los Angeles, we would say that we have never quoted any proposed rate for natural gas, expecting that the rate would be established by the proper authorities at the time the gas was available, and the cost of the same determined. In passing, we might also add that a large number of the companies which are furnishing natural gas at ridiculously low rates, are in the hands of receivers, or are asking for advances in their rates, or are endeavoring to build up small towns by the use of practically free gas for manufacturing purposes.

The projectors of this enterprise are among the longest residents of the city of Los Angeles, and have devoted a large amount of time, experience and money to the development of the city. They have in mind the making of Los Angeles a smokeless city, as well as largely increasing the manufacturing industries, due to the introduction of a cheaper fuel. It never occurred to them that in so doing they would be branded as criminals, malefactors, enemies of the public and violators of the law, and they are not yet willing to believe that such sentiments are indorsed by the fair-minded public.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS COMPANY,

By W. G. Kerckhoff, President.

FALL TO THEIR DEATH.

Two Killed When Bucket Drops Two Hundred Feet to Bottom of Well.

One man was instantly killed and another fatally injured yesterday when they fell to the bottom of a 200-foot well on the Ford ranch near San Fernando.

The men, Roy Herbert and Charles Sanders, employed by the Byron-Jackson Iron Works, were going into the well to install a pump when the bucket slipped off the cable.

Sanders was dead when rescuers reached the bottom. Herbert died, however, while being hurried to the hospital.

BEGIN PRESSING.

Indications Are for Average Grape Crop—Sweet Wine Makers to Push Product.

The sweet wine and grape harvest is now on in Los Angeles county, and indications are for an average crop. Pressing has begun at Cucamonga, and within a week will be in progress in every part of the sweet wine field. The output last year amounted to 4,000,000 gallons, and it is believed that a like amount will be pressed during the present two-month season.

No school for the teaching of the duties of the sweet wine gaugers will be held by Collector Carter this year, as there are about thirty eligibles on last year's list, and that will be sufficient for the needs of the service.

Sweet wine makers are expected to push themselves in the amount of the product turned out this season, on account of the Pomerene amendment fixing a tax of $1.10 per gallon on brandies used for fortification purposes, as against 3 cents now collected.

If the tariff bill embracing the amendment becomes a law it will not go into effect until January 1, and the wine makers will prepare themselves as far as possible as they will not be compelled to use the high-priced brandy on this season's product.

A compromise on the amendment is probable, and it is not beyond possibility that the amendment may be defeated entirely. The makers of sweet wine in Ohio, and along the lakes are behind the Pomerene amendment.

Missing Salesman Told Woman He Wanted to Impress Customer by Wearing Her Diamond.

Complaint was made to the police yesterday by Miss Ethel Hayes of Sioux City, Iowa, of the theft of a diamond ring valued at $500. Miss Hayes, who is visiting relatives at No 1031 East Thirty-first street, told the police that a traveling man she has known for three years, and whose name the police withhold, borrowed the ring to make a "flash" in the company of a customer.

This occurred, she says, on a steamer between San Francisco and San Diego, and later the ring was returned. A few days passed. He called on her at her hotel in San Diego and related the same story. She loaned him the ring again. Since then, she says, she has seen neither salesman nor ring.

SIGNIFICANT.

Since the adoption of the workman's compensation law in the State of Washington accidents in that commonwealth have more than doubled.

THE MAN BEHIND.

Atty.-Gen. McReynolds has filed suit to dissolve the coal-carrying combination of the Reading Railroad. Wonder who has been McNabbing him out in Pennsylvania?

LOCKING THE STABLE.

Safety devices are useful appliances which are introduced immediately after some bad accident. This is as comforting as having a man run you down with his automobile and then call to you to look out.

UPSTAIRS.

Seventh avenue between Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets in New York City is to have a building 901 feet high. It will cost $9,000,000. It will be erected by the Pan-American States Association. That is quite a considerable getting upstairs.

A DIVING STEAMSHIP.

The advantages of a somersaulting aeroplane are not sufficiently apparent to encourage the practice of navigating the air downside up. The next thing in order will be a steamship constructed to dive under an iceberg instead of trying to run it down.

HIS OLD TITLE.

William Howard Taft is a president again. He is now at the head of the American Bar Association. You can't keep a good man down. We would not even be surprised to see another former occupant of the White House made President of the head hunters of Borneo.

A LITTLE LATE.

The United Railroads at San Francisco have elected a new president who will open a bureau of complaint to receive the people's recommendations for improvement of service. Let's see, didn't the people of San Francisco hold some sort of an election about two weeks ago? It seems to us we remember hearing talk of a big bond issue and a municipal street car system.

WHY DON'T WE?

Would it not be wonderful if upon one hilltop in or around Los Angeles everything were Moorish, another Italian and another converted into a little Switzerland? Then people could go to these places when they were in a mood for them and feel as if they had made a little journey to a foreign land. No one should have to go around the world for an hour of foreign atmosphere.

THE NEWEST DANCE.

And now approaches the beginning of the end. Out of all the vulgar, unthinkable dances which have agitated society for the last three years something lovely has come, in much the same way as grub worms turn into butterflies. The one step has happened and close upon its dainty heels comes the hesitation waltz. We trust the intentions of the latter are honorable. It listens stickier than taffy. Dancing will never be divorced from sensuous suggestion, but we are glad to see it another step removed from the sensual, and we hope yet to see it glide into softer motion.

METALLURGY.

When we see steel in a good sword or in a cable drum which doesn't break we recognize that metal has its place. When we see fine old brass candlesticks we realize that metal always has been useful. When we strike metallic personalities we are less comfortable about the proposition. There are different kinds of metals even there. Sometimes a metallic woman is golden, but she is still metal. Sometimes she is like fine old brass, richly carved and inlaid with pearl, but the ring of the metallic is a bitter warning for all of her loveliness. You can never quite trust metallic persons because feeling will only go so far with them and the sword is never quite sheathed. Swords may have gilded, bejeweled handles, but their slash is cruel none the less. A tigress has a glove as soft as that of a kitten, but beware of the claws.

THE COST OF PEROXIDE.

There is a man in San Francisco who is unlucky. He let his wife get a divorce and the court soaked him for $100 a month alimony. He has been paying this for some time to the lady of discontent while she made a couple hundred more by being a pretty and acceptable cloak model in New York. He has just learned something which may put a kink in the alimony proposition and he hopes to make it stick because he needs the money. Saving money by cutting down alimony is just like finding it. The lady is a brunette, and he has heard that she has bleached her hair a beautiful yellow. She denies this by mail and by affidavit, but the court demands to be shown. If the lady has blonde hair her alimony will be reduced or removed. If it is still brown, she will continue to get the $100. This man's fate may be said to be hanging by a hair. If the lady wins it will be a hair-breadth escape. It is probably the way she dressed her hair that caught him in the first place. There are tricks of that kind [illegible] women know them.

WILL THERE BE AN AWAKENING?

Is patriotism a corpse, or only sleeping? Will we ever have a real Fourth of July again? Have prize fights and auto races and football matches permanently or only temporarily superseded the firecrackers, cannon, poems, orations and reading of the Declaration of Independence, and marchings, and playing of national airs with which we were once accustomed to celebrate the Fourth of July? Have our schoolboys forgotten how to whistle "Yankee Doodle," and have their sisters been uninstructed how to join in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee"?

Will the commercialism and iconoclasm that has, to a certain extent, invaded our social life and well-nigh strangled religion in its remorseless clutch continue its ravages until Sunday-school scholars shall open their exercises by dancing the bunny hug, and a function of prayer meetings shall consist of bridge-whist tournaments?

Do our Congressmen faithfully represent public sentiment when they vote against the construction of battleships and make only meager appropriations for our little army?

Red-browed Mars may not be as desirable a divinity as Orestes praying for peace, but with men and women with souls he is preferable to dusk-browed Plutus clutching at his ducats.

The boys now growing into manhood will share in the benefits of scientific discoveries, of beneficent inventions, of developments in transportation and in industrial growth. But will they not miss the uplifting impulses that caused the patriotic pulses of their fathers to throb with love of country?

Who that lived in the olden days will ever forget the patriotic uprising of '61, when the North uprose to defend the nation's life, and the South sprang to arms in behalf of a cause in which it believed? Who cared for dollars then? They were dross, fit only to be pitched into the vortex of battle. The plows were left rusting in the furrows; the hammers ceased to clank in the shops; the counting-rooms and offices lost their occupants, and millionaires and tramps marched cheerily shoulder to shoulder to "wounds and death, singing "'Tis sweet for one's country to die."

Thirty years later the patriotic spirit of the nation slumbering from the effects of the opiate of three decades of prosperity again awoke into vigorous life. Church deacons joined in the refrain—

"Remember the Maine—To hell with Spain!"

And the American in a public gathering who ventured to remain seated with his head covered when the "Star Spangled Banner" was played was jerked to his feet and his hat knocked to the floor.

Not alone in the ranks of armies; not alone at recruiting stations where men crowded each other to sign their names to enlistment rolls; not alone on fields whose surface men's feet shook like thunder and whose turf was their last pillow; but on fields where weary feet followed the plow to earn food and shelter for the children of the absent, and at firesides where eyes dimmed with tears guided the needle through garments that were being fashioned for the brave boys who battled for the Stars and Stripes and in counting-rooms where aged fingers wrote the checks that capital gave to country—

"Dusk-browed labor o'er the red forge,

everywhere, everywhere, on land and sea, in street and shop, on mountain and in valleys; in the hospitals where patriotic women ministered to wounded heroes, "by the midnight watch fire and amid the roar of battle," wherever hearts throbbed and swords gleamed, there, upon the parchment of the eternal ages the Genius of America wrote the story of patriotic sacrifice.

Again, in lesser duration but with equal fervor and power, was the story of American patriotism repeated. Dewey compressed it into a sentence when he said, "damn the torpedoes, go ahead." Hobson was imbued with its spirit when he sank the Merrimac. Roosevelt shouted it when he led his Rough Riders up San Juan Hill crying "It is up to us, boys!"

War is to be deplored, but not the spirit that would accept war rather than national dishonor. "The best security for peace is the most tremendous preparation for war," and the most effective preparation for war is the spirit which impels men of whatever fortune or whatever pursuit to say: "This is our flag and wherever it floats, in our own or in foreign lands, it shall be respected, and by God whoever is entitled to its protection shall receive it."

WHO OWNS NATURAL GAS?

The Times is not opposed to municipal ownership of such public utilities as, in the nature of things, ought never to be under the control of private corporations. Water is a necessary of life—nothing can take its place or supply its loss. Sewerage is a necessity of health, and the municipality alone should own and control the sewers. Dockage is a necessity of commerce, and it should not be in the power of any combination of steamship companies to prevent an ocean tramp steamer from tying up at a wharf. It is different with electric or steam railroads. If their charges for transporting freight and passengers are excessive, and the authorities neglect or refuse to exercise their power to regulate them, the public can use autos and horse vehicles. Indeed there are many auto-trucks now running which compete with the railroads in transportation of freight to near-by towns.

But when political Socialists propose municipal hotels, lodging-houses and restaurants, municipal bath-houses, theaters and nickelodeums and municipal barber shops and department stores they go too far.

Natural gas at the mouth of the wells is the property of the company that bores the well just as much as the gold extracted from a quartz lode is the property of the company that mines it. The right to lay distributing pipes in highways and streets is a franchise which may give the granting power the right to fix the rate at which gas shall be sold. But suppose the owners of the gas well are not the owners of distributing pipes and decline to become such owners. Suppose they say to the State, the county and the city "We refuse to submit to your restrictions or your control. This is our gas, emerging from our well, bored with our money, on our premises. We will deliver it on our own premises to anybody who runs a pipe there, at a price fixed by ourselves and not prescribed by any board, commissioner or meddlesome one-scent, Progressive newspaper proprietor. Take it or leave it at our price as you please. If you don't want it we will let it escape into the air, or cap the well and wait until there is a better market for our goods. The fact that a company in Ohio or Indiana sells its natural gas for less than we ask for ours does not influence us. You have no more right as a purchaser to fix the price at which we sell gas than you have to fix the price at which a farmer must sell his eggs. We risked tens of thousands of dollars in boring this well. We might never have struck gas. If we had not struck it would you have reimbursed us for our outlay? If you don't care to buy our gas you can try your luck at boring a well of your own."

Substantially this is what the Railroad Commission decided with respect to natural gas. But it did not need its decision to establish a proposition founded in common sense and common honesty.

THE RETREAT OF THE MICE.

Two reasons are assigned for the cessation of militant activity in England recommended by Mrs. Pankhurst in an "order of the day" issued from her retreat on hospitable shores of France. On the one hand the London Standard repeats its assertion that the funds of the organization are at a low ebb and its active membership is dwindling; on the other hand it is suggested that Mrs. Pankhurst has been induced to call a truce between the militants and the government to strengthen the hands of members of the Cabinet working for the suffrage.

Both explanations seem to amount to about the same thing, an admission that militancy is not the best and only means of obtaining the suffrage, and that the "cat-and-mouse" act is not quite the dismal failure that the militants would have us believe. It is most probable that the Standard is right in its contention as to the lack of funds and members, and it is entirely within the bounds of possibility that some kind of informal agreement has patched up with the government; but we can imagine Mrs. Pankhurst a few months ago entertaining the idea of a truce with that body of traitors and charlatans in which the male electorate of Britain has intrusted the direction of the affairs of the country. We fancy we can hear the ringing tones in which the beloved leader would have proclaimed a fight to a finish and repudiated any suggestion of making terms. We did hear them only a few days ago, a little weakened in pitch perhaps, when Mrs. Pankhurst left the shores of England, still hurling at the government her ultimatum that it must kill her or give her the vote.

And now Mrs. Pankhurst urges her followers to emulate her example, as they have been in the habit of doing in the past, and take a well-earned holiday. Somehow there seems, says the New York Sun, to be an anti-climax here. Of course Mrs. Pankhurst may uphold the logic of that wise maxim which declares that:

"He who fights and runs away
May live to fight another day."

But the fact of the running away remains; the retreat is made with all the honors of war, with bands playing and colors flying, but a retreat it must be considered.

"LETTING" THE FILIPINOS.

President Wilson is still desirous of "losing" the Philippines, but before parting with them and turning them over to Japanese, or German, or French occupancy, or to a Kilkenny cat orgy of mutual mastication, he benevolently proposes to "fit" them for independence and has made the first step in that direction by appointing as their Governor ex-Congressman Francis Burton Harrison.

The brief public career of that gentleman has demonstrated that he is about as well qualified to "fit" the Filipinos for independence as a rabbit would be to fit a lot of wolves for house dogs. He gained from Tammany a seat in Congress from New York City with the aid of the prestige and the money of his gifted mother, and he signalized his career there principally by ardent and—it is suspected—well-compensated advocacy of the interests of Dago lemon importers, against the interests of the lemon orchardists of California. However, there is no danger of Gov. Harrison doing or failing to do anything except what President Wilson orders him to.

The task of "fitting" the islanders for independence will be nothing compared with the task of President Wilson in "fitting" the thought of the American people, of whatever politics, to forgetting the hour when Dewey's guns crashed open the gates of Asia to our commerce, and forgetting that, under the Federal Constitution, there is no way by which this nation can divest itself of its territory, or throw from its shoulders "the white man's burden," or take away from any American dwelling in the Arctic or the Orient the citizenship which is lawfully his.

Again Mr. Wilson asserts that he does not expect that the islanders will be "fit" for independence before 1921, and he will not attempt their final expulsion prior to that date.

But suppose Mr. Wilson should not be President in 1921. Suppose the awful calamity of his absence from the Executive chair should be visited upon a desolate nation early in March, 1917, and his successor should entertain different views about "losing the Philippines." What then?

THE MINIMUM WAGE.

The practical operation of the minimum wage system is that employers are apt to give jobs only to the quickest and most efficient workers. The aged, the slow and the less competent are thrown out of employment. The tendency of the law is to make the minimum wage the maximum wage as well. If competent men will not work for the minimum wage, less competent men will take their places, and the goods made by inefficient workmen will be apt to be less valuable than the same kind of goods made by skilled workmen.

Dr. Clark, in his work on "Labor Conditions in Australia," shows that the minimum wage law there has had a reactionary effect, in that it has retarded the natural evolution to properly-supervised factories and has driven the slow or semi-competent workmen—unable to secure employment at the regular minimum wage—into attic shops, where they make wares which they peddle around at starvation prices to the less scrupulous jobbers.

If the employer cannot pay the minimum wage prescribed by law and make a profit on the wares produced he closes his establishment, for there is no law to compel him to keep it open at a loss.

"It is perhaps worthy of passing mention," says Dr. Clark, "as evidencing how the problem of industrial regulation grows upon the hands of the authorities as soon as it is once undertaken by the government, that the only solution of the difficulties suggested is for the government 'to provide work at remunerative wages' for men able to work, and old-age pensions for the old workers."

In other words, the outcome of regulative legislation—the only means by which it can accomplish even its most modest objects successfully—would be state Socialism.

POVERTY CAUSED BY INDUSTRIAL INEFFICIENCY.

In the Fortnightly Review there is a remarkable article by J. Ellis Barker entitled "Great Britain's Poverty and Its Causes," which would be hard to match for cogency of argument and wealth of clear and indisputable facts. Unlike many economic students of the subject of poverty, Mr. Barker is not led away by sympathetic zeal. He marshals his material, gathered evidently at the cost of great patience and labor, and permits his figures to do the rest, says the Sun of New York.

Mr. Barker begins with the postulate that, instead of being the richest country in the world, as is frequently alleged, Great Britain is a relatively poor nation, because the British masses are very poor. He shows from tables of wages paid to workingmen that the 4,656,915 grown-up men enumerated received on an average only thirty shillings a week. Other investigators have agreed that one-third of the population of free-trade Great Britain lives in poverty, and Mr. Barker gives figures collected by the official British Board of Trade showing that in 1900 one person in every twenty-one had recourse to the poor law for assistance. He says of the 30 per cent. of the British population living "on the verge of hunger" that:

"The majority of these unfortunate people do not consist of idlers, loafers, shirkers, tramps and professional beggars, for whom one need, perhaps, not have much sympathy, but of workers engaged in wealth-producing industries."

With this terrible promise Mr. Barker sets out to analyze the causes of such widespread poverty in his country. A few weeks ago the British Board of Trade issued the "Final Report of the First Census of Production." By means of this Mr. Barker has been able to compare analytically the manufacturing industries of his country with those of the United States. In a most exhaustive and elaborate table in which he has enumerated twenty-six important trades Mr. Barker finds that the British industries still rely very largely on hand labor, and they do this because hand labor is so cheap. The total horse power used in British manufacturing is 8,683,341, while that used in the United States is 18,675,376. And so, although the population of the United States is only twice as large as that of the United Kingdom, its income is four times as great.

Therefore Mr. Barker argues that the poverty of the British workers is not caused by a vicious distribution of wealth, as the Socialists claim, but by insufficient production; for production determines wages. For instance, it is clear that a man who produces only ten shillings' worth of goods a day cannot possibly earn twelve shillings a week in wages. He says:

"In the inefficiency of production in the Far East, not in the low standard of living, lies the reason that wages are very low in China and India, while in the efficiency of production lies the reason that wages are very high in the United States. According to the Socialists, the standard of living determines wages. That is of course nonsensical. Very efficient production makes possible very high wages, and very high wages create a high standard of living."

Thus also does Mr. Barker contravene the world-wide and almost inherent belief that America's enormous wealth is due to its vast area and its boundless resources. In his view it is due to the increasing improvement and to the superior productive capacity of our labor-saving machinery. Our vast wealth has grown up in the factory sheds, not on the prairie. In one pregnant and powerful paragraph he sums up his entire argument and conclusion:

"Owing to the greater efficiency in manufacturing which is brought about by the more extensive use of labor-saving machinery the production per man per day is far greater in the United States than it is in Great Britain. In the boot and shoe trade the British operative produces gross 9s 6d worth of goods per day, and the American 28s 6d worth, or three times as much; in cardboard boxes the daily gross output per worker is 5s 6d in Great Britain, and 15s in the United States; in cement it is 10s 6d in Great Britain, and 2os 9d in the United States; in clothing it is 8s 6d in this country, and 26s 6d in the great republic, etc. As the gross and the net output of the American workers is from two to three times as high as is the output of the British workers, it is only natural that wages are from two to three times as high in the United States as they are in this country. The assertion of our Socialists and labor leaders that all is right in British production, and that the poverty of the workers is due to the greed of its capitalists and to the unfairness of distribution is untrue. The poverty of the British people springs from our industrial inefficiency, or one ought perhaps to say from the great inefficiency of our industrial equipment."

In these progressive days, says the Sun, when professional agitators and pseudo-Socialistic politicians are doing their level best to make the American working man discontented, when these demagogues strive to spread and inflame the spirit of unrest that they have sowed abroad in this land, with the result that we now hear on all sides what Archbishop O'Connell accurately described as the "tumult of the envious," it is well to pause and give long reflection to the above searching comparison between the lot of the British workman and that of his brother here. Which indeed, has cause to be envious and which contented? The answer is obvious.

THE WAY OF A WOMAN.

[Judge:] Foolishly he asked her for a kiss; naturally she said "pot;" bravely he took it, anyway; angrily she put him away; scornfully she told him what she thought of such action, and meekly he stood for the same old bluff.

"I am surprised and mad at you!" she said, and she looked every bit of it. "I don't think a gentleman would do such a thing; and now, if you are going to stay here this evening, I don't want you even to touch me, but let us sit here and talk like sensible people."

Thoroughly cowed, he agreed.

Seeing, however, that she had carried her little bluff too far and he was taking her seriously, she made use of a bright idea.

"Will you promise to be good now?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Well, let's shake hands on it."

Solemnly they shook hands.

"Now," she said, with a cunning and meaning little twinkle in her eye, "you have touched me already and broken your promise. So, being as you have gone that far, you might as well go ahead and break the rest of your agreement."

FRIDAY MORNING.

Sinks Like a Stone.

For more than an hour two physicians worked over the body before hope was abandoned.

Remarkable as were the attempts to save the boy's life, they were less impressive than the unexplained reason why the youth's body sank like a stone to the depths of the sea and lay there as though weighted and anchored.

Medical men said last night that perhaps the victim's lungs were abnormally open, and that they sucked in the water as an open vessel would, and that the body immediately became waterlogged. Seamen offer the theory that the boy's lungs were not strong enough to withstand the tremendous pressure which sixty feet of water overhead put on them.

Fisher and his chum, Elmer Mueller, a neighbor, went to Catalina yesterday morning to spend the day. Mueller was with Fisher when the latter sank.

Fisherfolk on Catalina say the drowning is the first to occur in the bay in more than a quarter of a century.

No Chance to Howl.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A few mornings ago my wife announced, after reading the morning paper, that we had been using "natural gas" for two weeks, and we didn't know it. I immediately replied "by gosh," and, after reading the comments since, am still of the same opinion. My chief physical exercise of the day is to get up in the morning, put a kettle of water on the stove and light the gas, and what gets my goat is, here they had switched the mixture on me and I didn't know it. I have missed a good many opportunities to "howl," simply beat out of them by McReynolds and the gas company. You bet your life, had we known the thing was done, we would have been unable to light the fire, as the stuff wouldn't have burned, and could have smelled it all over the city, and hanged if I know whether to "cuss" or command for putting one over on us, thereby getting an unintentional honest expression from the people. If we had known in advance such was to be done, there would have been no end of complaint, and the thing we have to complain over now is only that we were not taken into the secret, and not the quality of gas, so that if the mixture is good and can be furnished cheaper than the manufactured, of course the next thing is to get together on an equitable rate. I judge it would have been practically impossible for McReynolds to get permission from the Council to make the experiment, and as he made the facts known himself it doesn't appear that a great crime has been committed.

HORSE MOVIE HERO.

Toby is Four-footed Star of Films Drama of Love and Comedy in Which All Ends Happily.

One of the cleverest picture stories ever written around an educated horse is "Hearts and Hoofs," just completed by the Majestic Motion Picture Company at the Boyle Heights studio.

"Toby," who is one of the most interesting actors ever shown on the screen, has the leading role in this western drama, which was photographed in Griffith Park and Sierra Madre.

Toby has something of a Cupid role to play, for it is through his sagacity that his owner, a young plainsman, wins the girl of his choice.

During the story Toby carries messages between his master and the attractive daughter of a wealthy rancher. That he is welcomed by the pretty miss and greeted affectionately, goes without saying, all of which Toby seems to relish. There is nothing that this wise horse does not seem to know how to do. He fills a canteen for his master, rings a bell to call time on the love-making between the two, and eventually runs a score of miles for assistance when the father falls prostrate on the desert.

At the finish, when the father has made up his mind to give his daughter to the young plainsman, Toby takes the clue, and goes to his master and whispers to him to come for the girl.

"Hearts and Hoofs," which was written by Sydney Diamond, was directed by M. Adolfi. Miss Francelia Billington has the role of the daughter, and William Garwood makes a most handsome lover, Toby, of course, has the leading role.

THREE-MATE LAW.

Bureau of Navigation Orders Enforcement of Law Which Is Protested by Seamen.

Commissioner Chamberlain of the Bureau of Navigation, Washington, has transmitted to Collector C. W. Pendleton instructions in regard to the enforcement of what is known as the "three-mate" law.

The Commissioner says there has been protest against enforcement of the law on account of difficulty in procuring mates, unsatisfactory conditions aboardship, reduction in the number of deck hands and lack of qualified mates.

Commissioner Chamberlain says that masters of vessels must see to it that conditions on their vessels are improved and that the law in question will be enforced in the same spirit as other laws enacted for the protection of life and property.

ADMISSION DAY FETE.

Forty Thousand Sons and Daughters of Illinois and California to Attend.

Sons and daughters of Illinois and California, engaged in a joint celebration of California's natal day anniversary, have completed plans for an old-fashioned basket picnic and social reunion at Eastlake Park on Admission Day by 40,000 enthusiasts. The celebration is to be conducted under the auspices of the Illinois Association of Southern California, the Los Angeles pariors of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West, and members of the Illinois Veterans' Association are to be the guests of the Illinois Society. Ex-Congressman of Illinois George W. Prince, Police Judge White and State Senator R. F. del Valle will address the picnickers.

Sinks Like a Stone.

For more than an hour two physicians worked over the body before hope was abandoned.

Remarkable as were the attempts to save the boy's life, they were less impressive than the unexplained reason why the youth's body sank like a stone to the depths of the sea and lay there as though weighted and anchored.

Medical men said last night that perhaps the victim's lungs were abnormally open, and that they sucked in the water as an open vessel would, and that the body immediately became waterlogged. Seamen offer the theory that the boy's lungs were not strong enough to withstand the tremendous pressure which sixty feet of water overhead put on them.

Fisher and his chum, Elmer Mueller, a neighbor, went to Catalina yesterday morning to spend the day. Mueller was with Fisher when the latter sank.

Fisherfolk on Catalina say the drowning is the first to occur in the bay in more than a quarter of a century.

Among those who witnessed the tragedy are Rev. Bruce Brown, pastor of the Christian Church at Fullerton, Miss Ruth Carroll, a Chicago girl, who is visiting a sister at No. 1734 West Thirty-ninth Place, and Miss Madden de Luna.

POSTMASTER JAILED.

Assistant to Head of Colton Department Admits Having Taken Federal Funds.

A complaint was filed in the United States District Court yesterday against Fred Fraser, former assistant postmaster at Colton, charging him with embezzlement of $640.42. The arrest of Fraser, who is now in jail at San Bernardino, followed an investigation by Postoffice Inspector Lowe.

Fraser was assistant postmaster under Wilson Hays, who died last December, and also under F. H. Owen, who was placed in charge of the office pending the appointment of R. H. Summers, August 4. An investigation of the office made on July, 1911, indicated a shortage of $500, but as everybody seemed to have access to the cash, the matter was settled by the payment of the shortage. A second examination made April 3, last, showed another shortage of $97.65.

When Fraser was arrested, he admitted he had taken the money. He was an active worker in the Baptist Church.

ASSAULT ON HIGH SEAS.

Fish Concessionaire in Jail, While Dancer Is Called Before the Federal Grand Jury.

J. H. Orozco, who is connected with the company holding fishing concessions in Lower California, was made the subject of a complaint filed in the United States District Court yesterday, alleging assault on the high seas. Orozco is in jail in San Diego.

On August 8, a party of show people, including Miss Myrtle Montague, a dancer, known at the Regal Theater, this city, took passage on the fishing steamer Bolinas, en route from San Diego, to Ensenada.

It is claimed that on the voyage Orozco made an attack upon Miss Montague.

The matter will be taken up by the Federal grand jury today. Miss Montague, who is at Avalon, was summoned by wireless yesterday, to appear as a witness this morning.

RUBIO COMMISSIONERS.

Before Buying a Player Piano

The combination of the famous Ludwig piano and the pioneer and premier of all the players, the Angelus has met with instantaneous success.

Carload after carload has found its way into the homes of those music-loving people who want a known article at a moderate price.

The Ludwig is high grade throughout, combining a deep, full tone with that staunch durability so essential in a piano to be used with a player. It can be had in rich mahogany or Circassian walnut.

The Angelus you must see to realize how unlike any other player it is; no more mechanical than the bow of a violin; makes the piano "eat out of your hand," do everything in fact except talk.

The Mel-o-dant subdues the accompaniment and accents the melody notes. No player piano without this device will interest or satisfy any real lover of good music after the brief time it takes for the novelty to wear off.

The Phrasing Tablet rightfully called, the "heart of the Angelus," on which one finger rests, subconsciously executes your interpretation whether inspired or fanciful. To operate any "tempo lever" to an Angelus owner is drudgery, dull and uninteresting.

The Diaphram Pneumatics will outwear any other type being made of leather instead of rubberized cloth and operating without folds or corners.

No other player has these features—insist upon them if you want lasting pleasure in your purchase and the minimum depreciation.

"STONE THE WOMAN."

A TALE OF THE CHRIST.

THE glad skies bend above Jerusalem;
The sun, all golden, from his vast blue dome,
Beams on the lovely land. The whisp'ring winds
That woo the leaf-crowned trees blend their low tones
With murm'ring of the softly-gliding streams
That seaward flow, the call of happy birds,
The shout of reapers in the fruitful fields,
And gentle footfalls where the camels pass.

Who bring no honey to the hives of man
But haunt the dens where idle Gossip breeds
The lies with which to feed their evil tongues—
The temple seek, wherein the gentle Christ
Sets forth the law. But not to learn come they;
They come to mock and ridicule the words
Of Him, the meek and lowly Nazarene,
Who, men have said, owns such rare gift of speech
That he can melt with love the coldest heart.

But now the people with new wonder stir!
A crowd of Scribes and Pharisees appear,
And in their midst a wretched woman moves,
Her head is bent in utterest of despair;
Within her hands she hides her burning brow
While bitter tears are coursing down the cheek
That conscious sin makes red with tingling blood.
Shame clothes her as a garment, while her soul
In horror views its desecrated shrine,
Stained and unspeakably defiled:
A sight so sad, so terrible her grief
The angels well may weep at her dismay!

Her sin has smote her; she can nevermore
In happiness lift up her comely face
Glad with a young wife's chastity and love,
Nor view with innocence the holy skies
With eyes reflecting their own blameless blue;
Nay, nevermore through the long drift of years
Can she walk upright in the ways of men
And meet the whole world bravely, eye to eye,
Strong in the sacred whiteness of her soul,
Nor taste again, in elemental bliss,
The tender sweetness truth alone can give;
For her no more a husband's faith, nor touch
Of infant lips, nor friends, nor home or hearth,
Nor all the sweet domestic joys that shed
Their blessed perfume o'er a perfect life.

It might have been; it nevermore can be:
Sin's dark simoon has swept across her heart
And left it burnt and barren. Not for her
The fragrant blossom that the guiltless pluck,
The lily pure and splendid as the snow.
She has defiled the beauty of her soul;
Hers the dark passion-flower of sin and death:
Stands she accursed before both God and man.

They hurry onward through the sunlit streets
With ribald jest and coarse and mocking words:
She is not fit to walk the fruitful earth—
She must be stoned—the law must be fulfilled.
But first they lead her to the Nazarene
Whose hated doctrines, all so strange and new,
Are scorned by every hard, unbending Scribe
And Pharisee who loves the written law.
"Let him pass judgment and pronounce her doom,
And if by chance," say they, "he dares to break,
By word or spirit, our old Jewish codes,
Our vengeance shall be on him swift and sure!"

They reach the temple: in a moment more
The woman stands before the Savior's face.
How wonderful that face! The burning tongues
Of seraphim alone can tell its charm!
Divinely sweet, unfathomably calm,
Unutterably tender are the eyes—
Their patience God-like and compassionate;
His sacred lips are like his mother's own,
That wear a sign of weariness suppressed,
As though pain slept beneath the outward smile.
How young he seems, and yet He seems not young,
But grave and gentle, as if many cares
Unjustly pressed against that loving heart.

The trembling woman kneels before her Judge
To her has purity ne'er seemed so pure
Nor sin so dark and horrible as now.
She does not plead; her shame has made her dumb;
An utter outcast waiting for the words—
The fatal words—"The woman must be stoned!"
The crowd draws near to hear what Jesus says.
A silence falls upon the multitude;
The sunbeams through the temple windows steal,
Through open doorways sigh the cooling winds;
The little children laugh in joyous glee
In quiet corners, knowing not, as yet,
Life's tragedy, intense and passionate.

Now Jesus speaks; the temple straight is hushed,
And every list'ning ear intently strains
To catch the words: "Let him among you who
And blushes gather on the brows unused
To such strange color. Slowly, one by one,
And dumb of speech, abashed they steal away,
Till Jesus and the woman stand apart.
"All thine accusers have condemned thee not.
Go, sin no more." Thus saith the Christ. And forth
To mend the broken beauty of her life
And wash her soul in penitential tears,
She goes, and ever with undying love
To follow Christ, lamenting all her sins.

But, where is he, the sharer of her guilt?
The man whom God appointed as the head,
The shield of woman in her weaknesses,
Whom she should deem the highest, after God,
One lovable and worthy of her trust,
Incapable of wronging the weak heart
That finds its strength in meekly loving him?
Is not he, too, in deepest grief and shame
Filled to o'erflowing with an agony
That cannot, like the woman's, seek relief
In scalding tears that furrow down the cheek?
Is not he, too, surrounded by a crowd
Of fierce accusers, loathing, holding up
His shameful manhood that has spurned his God
By bringing ruin on a woman's soul;
And shouting in his ears, do they not flaunt
His utter degradation?

That same night
Upon his board is spread a sumptuous feast
Where joyous guests are pledging him in wine:
Clothed in fine purple, with the flashing light
Of gems that sparkle on his jeweled hands,
He sees his fellows hang upon his words.
The dancing girls are waiting in the halls
With harp and cornets to beguile the hour,
And trick the senses into soft delight.
A scoffing smile plays round his sensual lips,
And ribald laughter greets the willing ear
As careless banter passes on the tale
A woman from her sacred marriage vows.

Yes, stone the woman, let the man go free:
Draw back your precious robes lest they, perchance,
Should touch her skirt in passing. But to him
That led her to destruction and disgrace.
Shut up from her the sacred ways of toil,
That she no more may win her honest bread,
But ope to him all honorable paths
That he may win distinction. Give to him
But pass her by, thou maiden proud and pure,
Yet on thy bridal day clasp hands with him
And swear to love, to honor and obey,
Till death do part. Put thy blind trust in him,
Who led thy sister woman to her fate.

Yes, stone the woman, let the man go free:
Let one soul suffer for the guilt of both:
Such is the madness of a foolish world
That strews his way with roses, hers with thorns,
And makes the weak to suffer while the strong
Go all unwhipped.

But, ah, how shall it be
On that great day when Truth's all-searching flame
Shall make men tremble with a mighty fear,
And all shall stand before the Righteous Judge?
Shall sex then punish or absolve the sin?
Will He, the searcher of the hidden heart,
In His eternal and divine decree

Jonathan Land.

LANTERN-LIGHTED JINKS IN WHISPERING PINES.

JONATHAN LAND, among the whispering pines of the San Bernardino Mountains, was in darkness last night, save here, and there an old-fashioned tallow candle, until the arrival of a large truck load of lanterns and a supply of coal oil from San Bernardino late in the evening, according to a message received late last night.

For the big jinks of the club which begun yesterday, a special electric plant had been installed at Jonathan Land, but for some reason, at the crucial moment, the dynamo failed to produce the juice and Jonathan Land was in darkness, the gay clubmen from the Angel City groping their way about in the shades of night.

Repeated efforts failed to produce the electricity, and so an automobile was rushed off twenty miles to Cajon station and a telegram sent to San Bernardino ordering that all the lanterns, and oil in the city be hurried to the camp. Thirty minutes later a big mountain truck was off to the land of Jonathan loaded with several hundred lanterns, and fuel, the camp being reached late at night.

"Weather good. Eats better. Crowd best," was the simple message flashed from Jonathan Land to the Jonathan Club at dinner-time, evidently sent before darkness. The tables weren't very thickly populated because most of the Jonathans had followed the King, but those who remained felt a poignant regret at being on the receiving instead of the sending end of the message.

More than 200 Jonathans slumbered under the pines last night. And the pines weren't lonesome, either, because of the weird jinks by lantern light. Until Sunday afternoon the clubmen will disport themselves in the forest, and when they return they will make most other members resolve to drop all work next year when the King summons his subjects and hikes off to the hills.

The Jonathans left at 8 o'clock yesterday morning on a special train and arrived safely without the loss of a single member en route. As they passed San Bernardino there was a group at the station to greet them. Not many miles further they detrained and started up through the forest by auto.

At the kingdom known as Jonathanland the visitors found a tent city sufficiently established to receive them. The members had been assigned to tents and by the time the gong sounded for dinner every man had his clothing stowed away and was ready to eat. A swimming pool, among other things, diverted attention during the afternoon. Athletic sports, baseball games and a rendition of "As You Like It" by the Egan players formed the first round of entertainment. The evening was given over to jinks.

The big rush will come Saturday, when another group of Jonathans will go back to the woods.

SUIT CASE FULL OF DREAMSTUFF.

FORTUNE IN SMUGGLED OPIUM IS RECOVERED.

Hundred Five Tael Cans, Valued at Forty-eight Hundred Dollars, Confiscated After Arrest of Man at Espee Station—Prisoner Held in Jail in Default of Heavy Bail.

A man giving the name of [illegible] Morris was captured at the Arcade Station yesterday morning on arrival of the Southern Pacific train from El Paso by Special Agent C. W. Salter of the Treasury Department, and Policeman Lennon.

A heavy suit case Morris had [illegible] culty in handling excited suspicion and after he was placed under arrest was found packed with 100 five tael cans of opium, worth $4800.

The prisoner was arraigned before United States Commissioner Williams and in default of $5000 bond was committed to the County Jail.

Agent Salter testified that Morris told him he had brought the opium up from Mexico. Morris says he is from Oakland. His denies he has ever said he would tell enough to blow up the opium ring.

Morris is said to have acknowledged that the opium was smuggled across the border from Mexicali to Calexico and then taken to Colton where it was delivered to him. Morris told the usual story, that he was acting for others.

He says the suit case was delivered to him Wednesday night and that he started north with it, buying a ticket to Los Angeles, but intending to go to Oakland, where he expected to get rid of it at a fat profit. His only mistake was in attempting to bring so much into the country at one time.

JINKS AT CATALINA.

Realty Board Preparing for Two Days Outing to Include Barbecue, Sports and Ocean Rides.

Herbert Cornish, W. W. Mines and Harry Callender, special committee appointed by the Los Angeles Realty Board to arrange for the annual outing of the board, announced yesterday that the trip will be to Catalina and will cover two days, the 13th and the 14th inst.

It is expected that 150 to 200 members will take the trip. More than fifty applied for reservations when the announcement was made at the weekly luncheon yesterday. The party will leave San Pedro by steamer Saturday morning, the 13th. Soon after arrival at Avalon there will be a barbecue spread followed by a number of interesting programs of outdoor sports. The annual high jinks will occur that evening. A trip by steamer will be taken the following day to the isthmus.

REPRESENTING FRANCE.

Max Binheim, secretary of the American Colonization League, was notified yesterday that he has been appointed correspondent of the French Chamber of Commerce of Alameda county for Southern California. The French Chamber of Commerce of Alameda county is trying to encourage manufacturers and jobbers in France and in the French possessions to establish plants and factories in the State of California, and the combined efforts of the chamber and the American Colonization League will certainly bring several industrial establishments to Los Angeles and the southern ports of the State.

BATTERY CHARGE.

John Dysert was arrested yesterday on a battery charge preferred by Mrs. A. F. Powers of No. 1642 Crown avenue, Hollywood, whose husband, according to her story to the police, received a severe beating at the hands of Dysert. According to the story related to the police, the Powers rented Dysert's furnished house while Dysert went East. He returned, the complainant asserts, before the time agreed upon and made a demand for possession of the house. The dispute ensued.

Vallely-O'Connell Wedding.

At a pretty ceremony yesterday morning in St. Vincent's Church, Rev. Richard Gleason officiating, Miss Eleanor Vallely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Vallely, became the bride of Geoffrey O'Connell. A musical programme rendered by Miss O'Brien was a special feature and occupied the time while the guests were being seated.

The bride, on the arm of her father, entered the church attired in white chiffon and lace, over which fell a long veil. She carried a large shower of lily of the valley and orchids. Her sister, Miss Maria Clare Vallely, as maid of honor, and Miss Leta Murrietta as bridesmaid, were attired in white charmeuse with trimmings of chiffon and lace. These were finished with king's blue satin and they carried country bouquets of blue corn flowers matching in color their dainty lingerie hats.

Thomas R. Lee served Mr. O'Connell as best man, and the ushers duties were performed by Jack Vallely, Henry H. Wheeler, J. W. Patterson, Gerald Young and Louis Mesmer.

The church was done in white and gold, a profusion of golden glow and asters having been combined. Following the service breakfast was served at the bride's home beneath the trees in the garden. A northern honeymoon will be enjoyed.

At Crags Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley E. Meserve of No. 111 South Vendome avenue were host and hostess last evening at a dinner party given at the Crags Country Club in honor of Miss Alice Cline and Stanley Guthrie. About a Bride and Groom.

Lieut. and Mrs. Arthur B. Moore have been passing a few days at Arrowhead Motel, where they have received the especial attention given to newly-married people. Their wedding was held at Redlands Wednesday afternoon and was the culmination of an interesting romance which began something over two years ago. Lieut. Moore is signal officer in charge of the government wireless station at Northhead, Wash. His bride was formerly Miss Lottie Farley of Redlands, a niece of Mrs. C. A. Barker, one of the prominent club women of that city. After a sojourn at Arrowhead, Lieut. Moore will take his bride north and later they will enjoy a three months' trip East.

From Southern Mexico.

F. Q. Rutherford, from Southern Mexico, is in the city on a visit through California, and will remain here for a week or ten days.

Have Returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Alexander returned from a five months' European trip on the 25th inst., and are again situated in their former apartment at the Hershey Arms Hotel.

Although they had a very enjoyable and interesting trip through Europe, they are glad to be home again and declare after visiting France, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, Northern Africa, the British Isles, Austria, etc., that California is the peer of them all.

They left Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Douglas, who accompanied them on their trip, at New York, as they had planned a tour of the Eastern States before returning home.

Muscovite Ideals.

SCRIABINE'S NEW MUSICAL WORK.

MARKED RUSSIAN INFLUENCE ON OUR OWN MUSIC.

Classical Symphonies, Combined With the Latest Compositions, Feature of Moscow's New Season in Morning Musicales, Matinees and Evening Performances.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Russian music is invading the United States. This season more singers, pianists, violinists and dancers from that far-away country will be heard than ever before.

An opera company composed of artists from St. Petersburg, Moscow and Odessa will appear in New York and Boston in compositions which will be produced in Russian language, with the accompaniment of a Russian orchestra, led by a Russian director. Five distinct symphony organizations will also be heard in various parts of the country during the year under the leadership of some of the best musical conductors from Warsaw and St. Petersburg.

Since the Muscovite musical ideals are imported, recognized and largely patronized, it may be interesting to know the trend of musical taste in the country which has such a marked influence upon our own.

While in the vast Empire of the czars, St. Petersburg is the recognized official capital, Moscow still retains its original position as the religious and artistic center of "all the Russias."

Since 1479, when the Kremlin was completed, the Czars have been crowned in the ancient city.

St. Petersburg has gradually become a great metropolis, more or less cosmopolitan, Moscow the keeper of the holy picture, the palladium of Russia, of the pearl-embroidered sakkos, the vestments of the metropolitan, of the Czar's palace, and has retained also the musical ideal of the Slav far better than the official capital.

For the season 1913-14 this remarkable man, Sergius Kussewitsky, has just announced his programme, which contains a number of new features and an evidence of the universal brotherhood of the arts.

The matinees will be an important phase of musical production in Moscow this season.

But matinees in Russia revert to what their original name meant in French—morning musicales, produced before noon.

These 11 o'clock a.m. musicales have been given already in New York, Chicago and Boston. The Russian influence has already been felt as far west as Kansas City, where Miss Myrtle Irene Mitchell, the successful woman impresario, is to present such eminent artists as John McCormack and Paderewski.

While Kussewitsky conducted the presentation of two Beethoven symphonies, he invited Ernst Wendel of Bremen, A. Bodonski from Mannheim, and W. Orlow and N. Malko from St. Petersburg to conduct the seven other symphonies of the master.

It is the first time that so many world-known conductors have been invited as "guests"—this is the technical term—to conduct symphonic performances.

But in conjunction with the works of the recognised and almost classical composers, Kussewitzky's genius frankly opened the doors to young composers.

Early in the summer he gave "Les Fantomes," an extraordinary thematic composition of a young and promising composer, A. Jourassowski, and "Les Preludes" of Saminski, whose music is considered brilliant, new, complicated. Tschaikowsky was largely represented in the programmes, but the hyper-modern Scriabine seemed to please more than any other.

That Scriabine is the coming Russian futurist, whose music will be played in every musical center this winter, is indicated by the fact that not only Kussewitzky played his "Extase," but the celebrated Rachmaninoff thought well enough of this composer's talent to devote an entire concert of the Philharmonic Society to the production of Scriabine's "Prometheus," and the symphonic concerts conducted on Sunday afternoon by Vassilenko also gave selections from the new composer, mingled with Beethoven, Wagner and Strauss compositions.

This trend of Muscovite taste which could be followed in St. Petersburg and confirmed by the concerts of Nikisch and of Zilotti, indicates that Russian musical lovers still cling to the early composers of the nineteenth century, but that a new era of symphonic composition, thoroughly modernised, is about to largely displace in general appreciation the romantic school which has so long and so beautifully satisfied three generations.

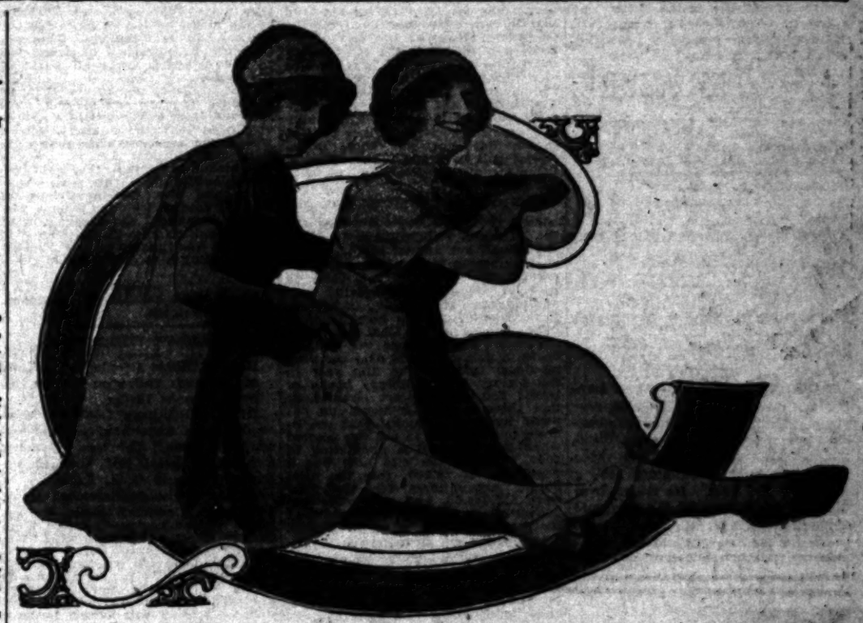
Letters and the fine arts have already changed and departed from the canons of old. Music, the most conservative of all, must follow also the logical evolution.

RAT ATTACKS BOY.

Raids Chicken House and When Youthful Fancier Appears Springs Upon Him.

Bitten by a vicious rat while protecting his pet chickens from the rodent, Dominick Aviani, 12 years old, living at No. 413 Amelia street, was taken to the Receiving Hospital last night that his injuries might be dressed. The boy's hand was badly bitten before he succeeded in putting an end to the rat.

Dominick heard a commotion in the chicken house late last night, and, having in mind the presence of about thirty baby chicks there, the boy determined to investigate. He opened the shed door and stepped in where the chickens were making a great fuss. As the boy peered about in the dim light of a lamp which he carried, a large rat sprang on him and fastened its teeth in his left hand. Dropping the lamp, the plucky lad held on to the rat and crushed it to death, suffering fearfully from the rodent's teeth meanwhile.



The Stuart Sisters,

Up and Down Broadway.

OLD FAVORITES GET WELCOME.

Agnes Johns and Oscar Walch, Both of Old Grand Days, on Hippodrome Bill—Robert Ober Coming to Majestic Soon—"Madame Sherry" on Last Week.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

I said good-by to Sam Harris at the station the other day, and saw him well on his way to 'Frisco, in company with his business partner, Irving Ackerman. They did not leave town, however, until they had seen the Hippodrome launched on the road to success, and after counting up the ticket stubs for three days, had figured it out that two-thirds of the voting population of the city had seen the big show.

Mr. Ackerman is the president of the Western States Vaudeville Association, by the way, and Mr. Harris is its managing director. But they have left some good men in the field whose chief duty in the future will be to count up the box-office receipts. They are president of the Hippodrome Company, S. Morton Cohn, Treasurer Brown and Resident Manager Lester Fountain.

And in the meantime, there are many people on the bill who have so many friends in this city that the big green-room has taken on the aspect of a continual reception. Agnes Johns, who used to be the melodramatic star at the Grand, when that house was a regular place, is on the bill, with some condensed versions of the good old-time thrillers, and Oscar Walch, the dynamic tenor, who also is an old-time Grand Operahouse man, is disporting in a tabloid version of "The Bohemian Girl."

I always wondered how it happened that Eddie Mack, now at the Orpheum, managed to travel at such a high rate of speed, but I discovered yesterday when he confessed to me that once on a time he was a jockey. Now there are some so unkind as to say that Eddie never should have—but then, some people are always that way.

Will Wyatt, manager of the Mason, told me that he has a new one which is going to turn the theater-going public upside down. It is nothing more nor less than the first production here of the original version of "Hamlet."

Now, this doesn't sound so bad, but when you come to figure out that it takes something like six hours to play it, there is cause for some worry. The plan is to begin the show in the afternoon and run right through the evening.

I have offered the suggestion that the Mason call an hour's intermission about 6 o'clock and pass around the beer and sandwiches. Will voted for Rose, and secured my name on the petition, so he ought to come through this once.

In looking over the future billing of the Orpheum I see that Lulu Glaser is to come out here in the near future. That's all right, but her offering is to be "First Love." Now, Lulu has been doing much marrying lately, so I should think that "Last Love" would be a lot more appropriate—unless there are to be others.

At last it is announced that Madame Sherry is to positively close next week. It has been a splendid run and no little credit to Selma Paley and the supporting cast. As near as I can find out, every one in Los Angeles has seen the play, so the news that "The Girl in the Taxi" will soon be on the boards in very welcome.

The special train in which "The Lure" company is being sent here direct from New York is due today. This is one of the longest jumps on record and if the truth were known, I suspect it was made on account of the great business "The Traffic" is doing at the Lyceum.

All of which goes to show that Los Angeles is not half as prudish as it pretends to be. Last Monday every morning paper said "The Traffic" was nasty and the next day you couldn't crowd into the lobby. Also, more perfectly respectable people asked me for tickets than for any show since Valeska Surrat was here at the Majestic.

"Help Wanted" keeps right on drawing the crowds to the Morosco and now it is announced that there will be an extra matinee next Tuesday. Lait fixed up the play a lot before he went away and now it is in great shape. And, incidentally, you ought to read the help wanted columns of The Times. There never before was such a demand for private secretaries.

I don't go to the movies very often, but I dropped into Tally's the other day and saw a film called "Stone the Woman, But Let the Man Go." It is one of those double morality things that is not at all in keeping with modern ideas, but doubly interesting because it makes one think a lot.

Old G. Molasso, the man who is responsible for most of the Apache dances that have been playing the S. & C. time, will be at the Empress himself shortly and bring with him his most famous dancer, Anna Krenson. I am not quite sure just what they are going to give, but with the master and his best pupil here, it is sure to be good.

I got a note yesterday from Robert Ober in which he tells me he is looking forward to his return in "Ready Money," which will be at the Majestic shortly. Ober thought he would never come back, but now that he has been East, he wants to come home and stay here if he can connect with one of the local stock companies. He lays his desire to the climate.

SEEKING HIS BODY.

George Gaylord's Family Endeavors to Recover It From King's River, Where He Was Drowned.

The relatives in Pasadena of George Gaylord are making frantic efforts to recover his body from the swiftly-rushing waters of King's River, at Sangor, near Fresno, where he was drowned yesterday, that it may be interred in the family plot.

Gaylord was the son of Mrs. E. E. Gaylord of No. 618 Herkimer street, Pasadena. He was 35 years old, a popular young Pasadena and Los Angeles society man and was connected with the Folks-Gaylord Electrical Company of this city, the junior partner of which firm is a cousin.

Young Gaylord left Pasadena five weeks ago in company with William Horsley of that city for a long hunting and camping trip. Nothing was heard from them except now and then a postcard stating that they were having a good time, until last Tuesday Mrs. Gaylord received a telegram from Horsley saying that her son had been swept away by the swift current as they were fording the river on foot at Sangor, and drowned. Horsley tried first to rescue his companion, then to recover his body, but was unable to do more than save his own life.

Early yesterday morning William and Charles Gaylord, brothers of the dead man, left for the scene of the accident prepared to drag the river for miles, and do all that human effort can accomplish to recover the body. Mrs. Gaylord, the mother, who is nearly overcome by the news, and who is hourly watching for word that the body has been found, said late last night that no news had yet come.

Besides a mother, George Gaylord leaves three sisters, and two brothers, all of whom live in Pasadena. The funeral will be held there if the body is recovered.

STREET-CAR HOLD-UP.

Two Men Take All Money Crew Has, and Sheriff's Deputies Are After Them.

Two masked men, presenting automatic pistols in support of their requests, held up and robbed the conductor on a [redacted] car at Stephenson and Laguna last night.

M. D. Ausartsherts, the motorman, was compelled to stand with his back turned, while Conductor J. J. Robinson was robbed of $21 of company money and $13 of his own.

There were no passengers on the car when the hold-up men appeared. The taller of the two, a man apparently about 6 feet and heavily built, searched the two street-car men while his companion stood in the shadows. No shots were fired and the men disappeared in the dark, after ordering the car crew to move on. Deputy sheriffs were sent to the scene of the hold-up and secured descriptions of the men, both of them apparently white men.

Knabenshue Makes Flight in Dirigible Balloon.

Librarian Declares City Needs New Building.

Former Publisher Surprises Friends by Marriage.

PASADENA, Sept. 5.—After having had bad luck with several previous attempted flights, Roy Knabenshue yesterday took his giant dirigible balloon, which he has been nearly six months building, to a height of 800 feet. He sailed over the southwest part of the city and announced when he alighted that the rudder, which he has enlarged repeatedly, is still too small. He says he will make more alterations in the airship and then make another flight soon.

It was announced when the building of the airship was begun that it would be used for regular traffic between Pasadena and the beach resorts. It is fitted to carry about twenty passengers and is the largest dirigible that has ever been constructed on the Pacific Coast.

The balloon came down yesterday in the municipal nursery at the corner of Glenarm street and Dos Robles avenue. It was towed back to the hangar by a large army of small boys.

IS LOSING STRENGTH.

Charles H. Cox of No. 1651 Kirkwood Avenue, for whom several hundred people sacrificed pieces of skin from their areas to form an integument for his body, which was horribly burned last Easter morning, will probably not live after all. It was announced yesterday by Dr. J. H. Dreyer, the physician who performed the skin-grafting operation, that while the operation was successful in itself the loss of vitality in the patient had been so great that his present condition is grave, and at the hospital late last night it was said that he had had no change for the better.

The accident in which the man was burned was spectacular. He was attempting to light a stove with kerosene early in the morning when the can which he held in his hand exploded and set fire to the house. His wife was in the yard at the time. Finding the doors impassable, and seeing that her baby was in the flames, she leaped through a pane of glass to rescue it, cutting herself severely. She recovered from her injuries, but the child, which had inhaled the smoke from the flames, died the next day.

PROMINENT PASADENAN DIES.

Mrs. Isabelle Kobbe, wife of Maj.-Gen. William A. Kobbe, U.S.A., died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 116 South Grand avenue, where she had lived for the last three years, at the age of 67. Besides a husband, she leaves four sons, Eric and William, Jr., of this city, Herman, a lieutenant in the United States army, stationed at Ft. Yellowstone, and Ferdinand, a captain, stationed in Texas. The family is prominent socially. Plans for the funeral have not yet been made. Burial will be made in the Federal Cemetery at the Presidio, in San Francisco.

WANTS NEW BUILDING.

Miss Nellie M. Russ, librarian of the Pasadena Public Library, yesterday issued her annual report, which she maintains is the best argument possible that the library is badly in need of a new home, having long ago outgrown the building in Library Park, where it is now housed.

The report shows that the total circulation for the year was 252,524 books, a gain of 27,000 over the year previous; that for the first year in the history of the library books of travel had the greatest circulation; that there is an ever-increasing demand for foreign books; that the library building now in use was erected when the city had a population of 9000, whereas the city now has a population of 28,000; that the total library expenditures for the year were $27,336.59, and that more deposit stations will soon be established for the convenience of working girls.

NOW AT SEASHORE.

The twenty youngsters who constitute the human furniture of the Pasadena Day Nursery removed to Sunset Beach, where they will remain until September 15. When they return to the city they will occupy the new home now in course of construction at No. 82 Worcester avenue.

The new building will not be quite finished by the time of their return, but three rooms will be made ready for them to use until the other part of the building is completed.

FRIENDS ARE SURPRISED.

Coming as a surprise to their many friends here and in the north was the marriage at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of Miss Marian Gwinn, daughter of Maj. John Morris Gwinn, No. 727 Huntington terrace, to Robert Allan Bower, one time head of the Rand-McNally Publishing House. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home in the presence of only immediate relatives and Rev. Leslie E. Learned of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiated. The bride wore a gown of white chiffon fashioned over white satin, and carried a shower of lily of the valley. The only attendant was Miss Clara Bull, who wore blue chiffon over satin. The various rooms were decorated throughout in white roses combined with greenery, and this white and green color scheme was carried out in detail in the living-room, where the service was read.

Following the ceremony a wedding collation was served and Mr. and Mrs. Bower left immediately after for San Francisco, where they expect to stay indefinitely. On their return they will make their home in Pasadena, but have not yet decided on the location. The bride has long been prominent in Pasadena's social set and has taken an active part in the many large society affairs given here. Mr. Bower has been a guest at the Maryland Hotel since coming here from San Francisco and is also well known in Pasadena. The engagement was made known last week, but at that time it was stated the marriage was not to take place until late in the fall.

CITY BRIEFS.

Word was received here yesterday that the 1914 international convention of the Angel Society of Orthodontists will be held in Pasadena. This will probably be attended by from 100 to 150 delegates from all parts of the world.

J. C. Neilson, manager of Clune's Pasadena Theater, and his son, have returned from a fishing trip on Bishop Creek, in Inyo county. Neilson, who would rather fish than do anything else, unless it is to eat the fish he catches, says that the trout are very plentiful there this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grimes of No. 127 South El Molino avenue yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Zillah Grimes, to Frank S. Whittington of Los Angeles. The wedding is to take place in October.

WILL REMOVE THE POLES.

Head of Home Telephone Company at Redlands Called on Carpet, Renews Former Pledge.

REDLANDS, Sept. 5.—What Mayor Williams announced as an "executive session," but was in reality a heart to heart talk between the city fathers and C. A. Rolfe, vice-president of the Southwestern Home Telephone Company, about the removal of the company's poles from Orange street and other main thoroughfares, took place yesterday afternoon following the regular meeting of the Council. No formal action was taken, Mr. Rolfe promising to have the poles out of the way by October 1.

The company had agreed to have the poles removed by September 1, but had failed to do so. The Trustees having heard a report that Mr. Rolfe had made the boast that he was not going to remove the poles because he did not have to, they were in a somewhat indignant frame of mind when Mr. Rolfe appeared before them. Mr. Rolfe denied that he had made such an allegation, but intimated that anything he might have said would not have any direct bearing on the matter. However, he made an explanation about unavoidable causes of delay that eased the feelings of the city lawmakers, who agreed to let the matter rest.

IOWA PICNIC.

The programme for the Iowa picnic Saturday afternoon and evening at Sylvan Park has been arranged by Mrs. Elsie Giles, chairman of the Programme Committee. Following the picnic dinner in the evening there will be a number of speeches, Lyman M. King acting as toastmaster. Toasts will be responded to by Prof. Myers, G. S. Turrill, Dr. John L. Avey, Dr. W. R. Heacock, Dr. W. P. Burke and C. L. Clock.

In the afternoon there will be the usual picnic sports, including foot races for fat men and women and girls under 13 years old; sack race for boys, potato race for women, nail driving contest for women, and a sewing contest for men.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] J. W. Rouse, wanted in Spokane, Wash., on a charge of obtaining $800 under false pretenses, was seized by Sheriff George F. Stone of Spokane this morning in the court room of Justice Solon Bryan, thrust into a waiting automobile together with his wife, and guarded by the Sheriff and two detectives was whirled away to the North.

SHORTAGE IS GROWING.

Colton Official Admits He Is Seriously Involved.

Bull Moose Leaders Fighting for Control.

Highway Commissioners Will Visit Cajon Pass.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 4.—The peculations of Fred Frazier, the assistant postmaster of Colton, in the County Jail here, may reach as high as $1000, it is said. Inspectors Roberts and Lowe are still going over the books of the Colton office and may not complete their work for some days yet. In the meantime Frazier is still in jail, and no effort so far as known has been made to get his release on bail.

Frazier admits his shortage, but says he does not know what became of the money. He says the shortages extend back over more than three years. He says that small discrepancies began to appear and he first made them up out of his own salary. He found he could not keep that process up and so began juggling the salaries account and was successful in keeping the deception from the eyes of the inspectors as long as he was in direct charge of the finances of the office.

But with the advent of the new postmaster, R. H. Summers, who proposed to do much of that work himself, Frazier realized that either he must make good the amount at once or else must confess the shortage.

He went to personal friends, told them of his predicament and asked aid. They refused. He then wrote Inspector Roberts, informing him that his accounts were wrong and asked that he be checked up, resolving to face the music.

After a few hours' work by the inspectors under the guidance of Frazier, they became convinced that something was radically wrong and placed him under arrest.

Frazier's arrest came like a thunder clap out of a clear sky. Even now there is more of sympathy than condemnation for him, and it is believed friends may yet come to his aid when the full facts are known, which will not be until after the inspectors have made a complete investigation.

The open split between State Treasurer E. D. Roberts and Dr. W. P. Burke, each of whom aspire to be the Bull Moose leader in this county, became more open with the holding of a county conference last night at Colton. The meeting was called by Dr. W. P. Burke, who has of late shown evidences of being very close to Hiram's throne, the statement being made that it was to take steps toward organizing next year's campaign. While several of the local Bull Mooseys were invited to the conference, State Treasurer Roberts failed to receive an invitation and was not present, though he was down from Sacramento and here in his home city. The split between Roberts and Burke dates far back. But it reached an acute stage last winter, when Redlands sought the organization of a new county.

The County Highway Commissioners will leave tomorrow for a trip through the Cajon Pass and as far as Victorville in the Mojave River Valley. Later they will take a trip the entire length of the desert district to Needles. The commission just now is giving much attention to the question of routes for the proposed highway system, and is also investigating the type of pavement to be built.

The commission is not yet entirely satisfied that a concrete base is the thing unless it is heavier than is sometimes used. The Riverside commission has declared in favor of macadam after a thorough investigation and the matter will be investigated very carefully by the San Bernardino commission before a decision is made.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. Mark B. Shaw of this city, chaplain of the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., has accepted the invitation of the Jonathan Club to preach at the divine services to be held by the club Sunday morning at Big Pine, the rendezvous of the members this week. The hundreds of clubmen passed through here this morning on the trek to the mountain reservation, where everything is in readiness for the big annual outing. The Jonathan Club has an option on the Big Pines tract and if it is satisfactory to the members, it is probable the tract will be purchased and made a permanent home for the club, a large clubhouse be erected, and cottages built by many of the members.

The local officers are seeking Charles B. Vandale on a charge of issuing worthless checks. He formerly run an employment agency here, but recently left the city.

FULLERTON BRIEFS.

FULLERTON, Sept. 4.—The Odd Fellows of Fullerton have decided to begin the erection of a $10,000 two-story brick building on their East Commonwealth-avenue lot this fall and report that a lot of the stock has already been subscribed at $10 a share. A corporation will be formed at once to take the work in charge. The building will have a frontage of fifty feet and a depth of 100 or 125 feet and will be modern in every detail. The upper floor will be used exclusively for lodge purposes and the first floor for a large storeroom.

Principal Brunton reports that the Fullerton Union High School will open this month with an increased attendance. There will be about 150 students from the outside districts and 140 from Fullerton in the High School, and the junior college will start out with about twenty-five students. The Fullerton grammar schools will open September 15.

MONEY AVAILABLE.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Sept. 2.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Action taken today by the Board of Supervisors of San Luis Obispo county makes a half-million dollars immediately available for work on State highways within the county. Bonds for this sum are to be issued for State road work in the county by the State Highway Commission. The county will invest $100,000 in the bonds. San Luis Obispo banks will take $50,000 and E. G. Lewis, a San Luis Obispo capitalist, has subscribed $100,000. The other half of the issue, $250,000, will be taken up by the State Highway Commission in accordance with an agreement between the State Commission and the Board of Supervisors. Work has already been begun on the first State Highway contract in the county in a district north of San Luis Obispo.

RESTAURANT MAN DISAPPEARS.

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 4.—Leaving a sealed envelope with Mrs. Nancy A. Turnbull, of whom he had borrowed $100, with the request that she open it on the following day, W. E. Huffman, proprietor of the Breakers' restaurant, suddenly left town, leaving a trail of anxious creditors looking for him. In the note Huffman explained that he had been called away suddenly and that he would leave the restaurant for his creditors and wanted the remainder to go to Mrs. Turnbull, of whom he had made a small loan.

Huffman gave Mrs. Turnbull a note for the amount and the sealed envelope at the same time.

Among the creditors are W. E. Newhouse, who holds a mortgage for $550 against the restaurant; the landlord, the grocer, milkman, butcher, the help and others. Just the day before he left Huffman sold a number of meal tickets and the patrons are now wondering how they will get even as the restaurant is closed.

Huffman had made a cleaning, as he took all of the receipts from Labor Day from the restaurant, which was a big day, and failed to pay any of the expenses. Huffman came from New York, and had opened the restaurant in April.

VALUES INCREASE.

The valuations in property for the assessment roll just completed by City Clerk W. A. Anderson, the Assessor, show an increase of more than $1,000,000 over that of last year. The total valuation for assessment is $4,320,549, less exemptions amounting to $93,830, leaving $4,-126,719, while the valuation for the previous year was $3,239,643, less $63,995 exemptions, or $3,175,649. The present valuation this year is almost $1,000,000 greater than last year and the personal has increased more than half a million. This last increase is largely due to improvements in machinery in the plant of the Pacific Light and Power Company. The assessment figures of the City Clerk for this year are: Real estate, $2,515,725; improvements, $734,014; personal, $1,262,510; franchises, $8500, making a total of $4,-220,549. The figures of the last year were: Real estate $1,885,145; improvements, $727,500; personal, $618,998; franchises, $8000. The tax rate will be the same as in past years, $1 on the hundred. The City Council has apportioned the fund as follows: General, .63; City Hall bond, .07; library, .09; sewer bond, .19; tree fund, .05.

TO BEAUTIFY STREETS.

The City Council has appropriated about $1250 for the Park Commission to be expended in planting trees and beautifying the city the next year. The first work of the commission will be the planting of palms on Catalina avenue, one palm in front of each lot with flowers planted between. There will be $600 worth of palms planted on this street. The newly-created Park Commission is composed of F. Jensen, Ralph Hansen, Mrs. W. A. Galentine and C. C. Mangold.

IMPERIAL NOTES.

IMPERIAL, Sept. 4.—Fred Chevis, an employee of the Imperial Steam Laundry, lost a valuable horse yesterday afternoon as the result of a runaway. The animal was hitched to the laundry wagon which Chevis was driving and, taking fright at the city steam roller, ran away and broke a leg necessitating killing it.

The Imperial Irrigation district is to make another assessment. The assessment will amount to about $65,-000. It has not yet been determined what the next assessment will be. The district so far has not acquired any property of any kind, and what a financial statement of the activities of the board would show is a question to all interested parties. Already a referendum movement is on foot petitioning against the new assessment and if this is successful at the polls it means certain and speedy death to the irrigation district.

Two hundred Chinamen, in full oriental dress evidently just from the Flowery Kingdom, arrived in Calexico yesterday, and were personally conducted across the line into Mexico by the United States custom officials there. They look to be much above the average in intelligence of laboring Chinese.

INDIANS ADOPT THE BAD HABITS OF CIVILIZATI

BANNING, Sept. 4.—Teto Nombrie is the musical name of a young Indian of the Martines reservation near Thermal, who is in the toils of the law for playing the part of villian in an elopement which startled Indian circles at Banning yesterday. Teto made love to the daughter of his fellow-tribesman, Tom Morongo, and soon won the heart of the girl of tender years. Parental opposition developed and the young Lothario devised a plan to escape to the hills surrounding Arlington. Not on the foaming ponies such as their ancestors rode did the couple make their getaway, but the young man used the modern railway and soon he and his affinity were many miles away from Banning and parental wrath. Teto, however, reckoned not with the law, and the constable went to Arlington and gathered the young man in. At the hearing Teto was bound over to the Superior Court, having bondsmen clamoring for assistance, he was taken to the County Jail, where he is now pondering the course of true love.

The elopement of Teto and [illegible] is the second elopement of [illegible] in this locality, the other one [illegible] that of the famous White [illegible] years ago. State of Washington Sets Important Precedent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Sept. 4.—When Superior Court Judge denies an application for citizenship papers, there is no appeal to the State Supreme Court, says the Washington Supreme Court, is a decision handed down today denying the application of Morse Cook for a writ of mandate to compel the King county Superior Court to certify a statement of facts so that he might appeal.

The man was denied citizenship here because of his alleged affiliation with the Industrial Workers of the World in Seattle.

Cook, a tailor, was disbarred from a shop in Seattle by his foreman after a quarrel. The Industrial Workers called a strike and picketed the shop. This was the beginning of the turmoil in Seattle last spring. When Gorelick sought citizenship, he had withdrawn from membership in the Industrial Workers of the World.

POINT BARROW (Alaska) Aug. 4.—The whaler Karluk, with the Stefansson exploring expedition, arrived here today after having been stuck in the ice in latitude 71 deg. five minutes, longitude 167 deg. ten minutes for several days.

A report brought to Nome August 25 by the revenue cutter Bear, to the effect that the Karluk had been caught in the ice and her side stove in, probably grew out of the delay of the Karluk when she was caught in the ice on August 2. The ship suffered no injury, according to mail advices received in Seattle.

CALIFORNIA CONCERNS SHOW THREE MILLION INCREASE.

Commissioner Walker's Statement Indicates Prosperous Condition of Affairs Despite Tightness of the Money Market—Over Thousand Dollars Average Borrowing.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—An increase of more than $3,000,000 in the total assets of building and loan associations in California, is shown for 1913 over 1912, in spite of the general tightness of the money market, according to the report of Building and Loan Commissioner George S. Walker, which has been filed with Gov. Johnson.

The report shows total assets of $28,316,021, an increase of $3,649,500 over the previous year, and the greatest increase for any one year since the creation of the commission. The increase comprises a gain of $246,525, money in office and bank, and a gain of $3,127,625, money loaned.

The number of shareholders and investors is placed at 37,811, an increase of 3775 with an average investment of $160.50. The number of borrowers is 15,209, a gain of 1184, and the average loan to each is $1451.20. Loans numbered 2057, an increase of 405 over the report of 1912. The total building loans reported since 1893 has been 46,747.

The report says this about the Continental Building and Loan Association case of San Francisco:

"It was and is yet the claim of this office that a deficit exists in the assets of this corporation notwithstanding the decision of the court. One of the claims set up by us was that the borrowers had not been credited on their repayments with an amount of approximately $52,000. This is a matter of mathematics, not law."

PRICES HELP.

DINUBA, Sept. 4.—Grape growers of the Alta district who were so "forehanded" as to contract their Tokays at 55 and 60 cents per crate, are now bemoaning what they thought then was a good bargain. Within the past week growers have been receiving for their product the highest price paid for this variety of grapes since 1906. Late shipments of last week, on which reports are just coming in, sold in eastern market centers as high as $1 and in some instances especially well colored fruit brought as high as $1.10. While the crop in this section is only fair, the high prices promise a profitable season as a whole in these varieties.

PIPE LINE LAW IS UNDER FIRE.

All Companies Enter Fight Except the Standard.

Declare Common Carrier Act Is Unconstitutional.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Contending that they are exempt from the legislation passed last winter for the regulation of pipe line companies operating in this State and that they are not common carriers, within the legal definition particularly, all the oil pipe line companies, except the Standard Oil, were represented at today's hearing before the Railroad Commission, called for the purpose of investigating their rates and practice.

Of all the companies subject to the legislation, if the legislation is upheld by the courts, the Standard alone has filed its rate schedule. The Associated pipe line, sort of a cousin to the Southern Pacific through the railroad's ownership of Associated Oil and Kern Yarding and Oil, which own the Associated pipe line, has appealed to the Federal courts in an effort to have the law declared unconstitutional.

The Union, fighting in a corner all its own, is simply maintaining that it is not subject to the law, leaving it to the railroad subsidiaries to foot the expense of the legal fight. There is every reason to believe that pending the result of the Federal court litigation, nothing will be done toward fixing the oil carriers rates.

OPENS FOR STANDARD.

Today's proceedings were opened by E. S. Pillsbury of the Standard who said the utility he represents would be glad to present any evidence desired by the commission. T. O. Toland explained the Union's position, saying that the company carries only oil that it owns, has not exercised the right of eminent domain, does not carry oil for outside people, has no authority under its charter to operate as a common carrier and that the public has no use for its lines.

Representatives of the Puente, Murphy Coast and Pinal Dome companies explained that their utilities were small concerns and were principally intended to transport oil to some shipping point. The Pacific Pipe Line Company, through J. F. Turner, explained that the company does not own any pipe line, but "hopes to do so."

The Kern Trading and Oil, through General Manager D'Heur, began the introduction of evidence in the afternoon, seeking exemption from the act because, according to D'Heur, it carries oil exclusively for the Southern Pacific's use.

"Why does the company store so much of it, then?" asked one of the commissioners.

"Because," said D'Heur, "we are laying in a supply for transportation purposes in 1915."

ATTORNEYS PRESENT.

He was not called on for any explanation. There was a big representation of attorneys for the companies, among them Henley Booth and Stanley Moore, for the Associated; E. S. Pillsbury for the Standard Oil, Edmund Tausky for the Amalgamated and Salt Lake companies, T. O. Toland for the Union, Puente, Columbia and Mission Producers companies, L. A. Phillips for the Gracioso, Refiners and Coast oil transportation companies, and John Martin for the Midway Gas.

The principal hearings arranged for are September 11, afternoon, Standard Oil Company; September 15, morning, General Pipe Line Company; September 19, Associated, Amalgamated, Salt Lake and Palmer Union companies; September 17, Union Oil Company and other companies represented by Thomas O. Toland.

Among other facts of interest to the financial and oil world, it developed that the General Petroleum Company is not a member of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency, nor is its admission under consideration by the members of the latter organization.

This was brought out on the cross-examination of L. P. St. Clair, president of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency, by Frank Heney, attorney for the Independent Oil Producers' and Consumers' League of California. Heney's cross questioning of the witness was extremely searching and severe and evidently unlooked for at this time.

ST. CLAIR TESTIFIES.

Mr. St. Clair testified that the purpose of the agency was to secure for its members the advantages of cooperation and stated that only at one time had the organization refused to admit new members. He stated that in 1910, before the Producers' Transportation Company's pipe lines were completed, owing to a sudden increase in the production of oil the agency had been compelled to refrain from admitting new members. This state of affairs was precipitated by the striking of the great Lakeview gusher and ended about the middle of 1911.

Since that time the agency has been willing to admit new members under the terms of its organization, according to the testimony of St. Clair.

SKULL CRUSHED.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The 2-year-old son of J. L. Grantham of Heald's Business College, was the victim of a distressing accident this evening when he strolled too near the Salt Lake track on Vine near Fourth. He was struck by the westbound 5:10 train, a car step crushing in the front of his skull. An operation was performed soon afterwards and the attending physician has some hopes of the lad's recovery.

ORIENTAL TRADE LURES RAILWAYS

Espee and Santa Fe Will Make New Bid for It.

Rates to Be Cut to Compete With the Suez Canal.

Means More Business for California Harbors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] California deep water ports are about to enjoy a great increase of oriental export business. It is announced unofficially that the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, which rebelled at the exactions of the Interstate Commerce Commission several years ago and cancelled their through rates from points in the United States to trans-Pacific ports, have decided to make another bid for the oriental shipping traffic.

Within a short time, it is announced, both roads will file a new schedule of rates with the commission, providing for through routes from domestic points to the Orient. The immediate effect of this innovation will be to bring a big volume of transportation business from the Middle Western and Rocky Mountain States through coast ports en route to Japanese, Chinese and Asiatic trading centers.

In order to participate in the oriental shipping business, the coast railroads are compelled to compete with the trans-Atlantic rates through the Suez Canal, which means that the Asiatic rate from the United States is practically the same as the rate for domestic shipping between points in this country. For instance, the rate on machinery from domestic points to Japanese and Chinese ports of call will be $1.80 per hundredweight, which is identical with the domestic rate on machinery from Chicago or New York to San Francisco. The railroads' margin of profit on shipping to the Orient is comparatively very small because about 40 per cent. of the through rate goes to the steamship companies.

Since the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe withdrew from the Orient trade, the bulk of the shipping business from the West has been handled by the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul through Seattle and other northern ports. The Western Pacific recently established a through rate and the decision of the other two big coast roads to follow suit means a big revival of export activity here. One of the first results will probably be the establishment of local offices here by a number of big eastern exporting firms.

RECOVERY IS SLOW FROM PAST WEEK'S DECLINE.

Continued Drought in the Corn Belt and Rain in Several Cotton and Wheat States Have Their Effect on Standard Securities in the East. Copper Metal Advances.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—While no recovery was made today from the week's decline in stocks, the market was steadier. The various influences which combined to depress quotations appeared to have lessened in force, and there was nothing in the day's news to indicate the existence of any serious cause for business was small. The main movement was downward, although N. Y. Cit ral recorded fractional gains in small trade. Of the dividend paying issues, Union Pacific and Reading, quoted within small fractions of their lowest prices of the year, were a firmer feature in the general market and toward the close of the day call funds ran up to 4½ per cent, the highest rate for months. Continued drought in the corn belt and rain in several cotton and wheat States have their effect on standard securities in the East. Copper metal gained a further advance to 18%. Copper stocks were variously dull. Utilities and miscellaneous issues were brought out in a few cases by special support. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,250,000. NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Goldfield Consolidated was again the curb features, advancing to 1 15-16 on sales of 5000 shares. Balance of list was quiet. United Cigar Stores reaped within ¼ point. Nevada copper were quiet and rather uncertain all forenoon. Butte and Superior was easily the leading feature, advancing a point on good trading. The balance of the market was practically still in every way. The afternoon market continued very slow with the exception of Butte and Superior and Tonopah, which rallied steadily, the former on good-sized trading and the latter on small lots. There was a strong undertone at the close. Copper metal abroad was reported very scarce, even with out heavy exports. And this, with our restricted production on account of the strike at the Lake will doubtless cause good scarcity this fall and winter. This being the case copper stocks should be bought.

London—Amalgamated is asking £75 5s (16¼) for electrolytic and other producers are sold out. It is feared leading producers will be unable to fulfil contracts. There has been an advance in electrolytic in London of £1 5s a ton in past week.

Dow, Jones & Company said yesterday: "All of the leading copper producers and selling companies continued to quote 16¼ for electrolytic and a good business at that level. While demand was still active in European markets all leading interests quote price £75 a ton (16¼c)."

Electrolytic copper has advanced price to 16¼ cents.

Tennessee copper declared regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, payable September 20, to stock of September 10.

Miami Copper Company output for August totalled 3,097,500 pounds against 2,800,000 in July.

An effort is being made in some New York quarters to give the impression that a dividend increase is hanging over the Utah Copper shareholders, and that within a very short period something better than the present $3 disbursement will be ordered by the directors.

We can make the positive statement that no dividend increase is in immediate contemplation, and no official consideration will be given to this matter until the company has so improved its cash position as to make it absolutely independent of the selling and refining interests who are now called upon to make advances against the millions of pounds of copper in process and in transit.

Stockholders also should not lose sight of the fact that the strike in Pinehurst last fall lost to the company the equivalent of $2,000,000 in dividend profits. It is fair to state that had there not been this shrinkage in contemplated earnings for the year, the directors might have been justified in giving attention to an increase in the rate from 6% to 8%, but as conditions now exist the company is determined to make up this $2,000,000 at once and place its finances in such shape that it can carry $5,000,000 worth of "stock in process" without calling upon the selling interests to advance a dollar.

If there is one phase of the operations of the newer porphyries which particularly commends itself to the copper investor, it is the consideration of cheap mining, milling, and there is no purpose to deviate a hair from this pay-as-you-go principle.

It is to be remembered that Utah Copper's shipping operations absorb a substantial portion of the company's cash resources while the company must also finance the necessities of the Bingham & Garfield Railroad. From a cash standpoint, therefore, it is not to be presumed that all of the company's "earnings" as appearing in the quarterly reports, are in the form of available cash. This is what fools many otherwise intelligent shareholders.

At the present time Utah Copper is earning at the rate of $6 per share, against dividend requirements of $3. When a dividend increase is seriously considered it is unlikely that it will be to a figure beyond $4, but, as above stated, such consideration is many months away.

July earnings of Chief Consolidated have not been announced as yet. However, it is not expected that a very good showing has been made from that month's operations.

On the first of July, Chief Consolidated had in its treasury a little over $291,000, and even though the earnings for July were under the average, it is not thought the $200,000 reserve surplus was impaired by the payment of the ten cent dividend, which was payable the five per cent of this month.

The falling off in earnings is expected to be only of short duration, or while a new system of milling is being installed. Heretofore the management has been endeavoring to mill ground that has been stoped with timbering, but owing to the character of the formation, it being full of irregular veaners, this plan of timbering was found to be inefficient and expensive. It was, therefore, decided to use a system that has been tried out to a great many other districts, that is filling the stopes with poor rock. In following up these plans ore production was greatly interfered with.

For the first six months of this year, the company mined $25,792 from the ore shipments of 30,854 tons. The net returns from the smelter for this ore were $200,508, or $6.97 after deducting smelter, freight and sampling costs. The gross value of the ore shipped was $14.85 per ton, showing that the above cost was $7.87 or equivalent to over 50 per cent of the ores value of the ore.

During the first six months of this year, over three times as much development work was accomplished as during the same time last year, and the total tonnage handled was about four times greater. There was a material decrease in the values of the ore shipped, not as close a selection being made.

The output of Shattuck Company for July was 1,019,280 pounds of copper, 20,964 ounces of silver and 118 ounces of gold. This is the lowest production for any month so far this year, and it is evident that the company has not increased ore shipments to the maximum of the contract with the Calumet & Arizona. It is not possible that this smaller product is due partially to the inability of handling any greater tonnage by the new Calumet & Arizona smelter, as it takes several weeks for a plant of this kind to get down to normal working conditions.

Ore shipments for some time past have been made from the 200 and 400-foot levels. On the 200 level a drift has been advanced in ore 105 feet. On the last 24 feet being oxide. A stringer 18 inches wide in this body assayed 44 per cent. copper. Further work on this stringer showed a full face of ore which averaged 15 per cent. On the 400-foot level a body of 6 to 7 per cent. ore is being developed.

The work of unwatering the shaft is progressing rapidly and is now at a point about 20 feet below the 900 level. About 40 cars of slimes which accumulated around this level have been removed and away from 12 to 15 per cent. copper. Work is being carried on at the 800 and 700-foot levels as well as mining the lead ore from the 600 level. Heretofore a sufficient tonnage was available for stoping on the upper levels, and it was not deemed advisable to open up the lower levels until increased shipments were needed.

Boston Copper Market.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—There was apparently no change in sentiment today. Prices ranged slightly under the influence of sentimental selling, but changes were small. Speculation has shifted for the present into grain and cotton, both of which have made sensational advances the past few days. The money outlook is still in doubt, and the big bankers are urging caution. Personally we feel that the anticipation of trouble has exerted any financial crisis, and that we shall see no squeeze in money this fall. We continue bullish on the outlook, and expect to see decidedly higher prices.

Saturday—that is TOMORROW, in fact.

These last days are too busy for arguments or for persuasions. It is with many of the contestants a question as to whether they can get around to gather up the subscriptions which have been promised to them for these last days; so if you want to really give to them the utmost help you will send in your subscription, marked plainly with the name of the one to whom you wish the points accredited. The business office will see that the points reach the right place.

And, let me say—if you ever intend to subscribe for "The Times," why not do so now and let these workers, faithful and persevering that they are, have the benefit of the points which your subscription will give to them? These very points may be exactly what they need to secure the scholarship which will make for them a success in life.

On Saturday night at midnight the contest closes. All out-of-town subscriptions sent in under cover postmarked before midnight will be honored.

EXECUTES HIMSELF.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Herman Bergstedt, a rancher who shot and seriously wounded Dr. H. S. Welsh, a dentist, at 6:30 o'clock last night in East San Diego, a suburb, was found dead in his cell in the County Jail this morning. He had made a rope out of a piece of cord and a necktie and strangled himself to death. It was estimated that he had been dead about ten hours when the body was found. Bergstedt opened fire on Dr. Welsh with a revolver as the dentist alighted from a street car, four bullets taking effect before the man was overpowered and disarmed by passengers on the car. A quarrel over a land deal is said to have been the motive for the attack by Bergstedt.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

President Woodman of the Harbor Commission announced yesterday that plans and specifications for cutting the harbor boulevard through Nob Hill, razing Timms Point, and reclaiming the city's 146-acre tract of submerged land would be ready within one week, and that the work will be done under one contract.

Work will begin today, with a double shift of workmen, on the new First-street wharf, at San Pedro. It will be ready to accommodate business within twenty days.

The hearing on an ordinance to empower the Charities Commission to indorse all persons or organizations soliciting funds for charity, before such solicitation can be made, was indorsed yesterday by numerous organizations and churches, but it is said that it will affect the Socialists' plan for an "industrial store," and Chairman Wheeler of the Public Welfare Committee, before which the hearing was held, delayed a decision.

Building Inspector Backus announced yesterday that work will be started today on the new firehouse of Bungalow type at Bonsallo and Slauson avenues, and that the Hollywood municipal building will be completed soon.

The Council yesterday rescinded its action on the pension ordinances, sustaining the Mayor's veto, but will pass the ordinances today, after they have been amended to conform to the charter, without any change as to the pension to be provided for widows.

At the City Hall.

HARBOR BOARD THUS TO SAVE MONEY FOR CITY.

Would Cut Through Nob Hill, Raze Timms Point and Reclaim Submerged Municipal Acreage Under One Proceeding—Plans and Specifications Ready Next Week.

President Woodman of the Harbor Commission announced yesterday that within one week Harbor Engineer Judd will have completed the plans and specifications for the combination of three large harbor development projects, all of which are to be combined under one proceeding and awarded under one contract, to the decided advantage of the city. This, Woodman believes, will effect a saving of at least 20 per cent. of the cost should the contracts be awarded separately.

The projects include the cutting of the harbor boulevard through Nobh Hill, the razing of Timms Point and reconstruction of Crescent avenue on a new grade, and the reclamation of the city's 146-acre tract of submerged and adjacent to Municipal Wharf No. 1, which will be utilized for slips and warehousing sites, transit sheds, etc.

Woodman declared yesterday that this work will not be contingent upon any outcome of the terminal compromise plan, but that it will be put into execution as soon as possible after the funds are available from the sale of harbor improvement bond funds.

He stated that the way will be left open so that the property owners of Nob Hill may join in the work of that section, by having the private properties in connection with the cutting through of the boulevard, if they so desire.

The Southern Pacific and the Pacific Electric Railroads have completed their inventory of their properties at the harbor to be submitted for consideration under the terminal agreement, and the Harbor Commission has about completed its own inventory. As soon as President Shoup of the Pacific Electric returns to the city, it is the intention of the commission to begin actual work on a basis of selection—to come to an agreement as to what railroad property will be needed to carry through the terminal scheme.

RUN TWO SHIFTS.

ON WHARF BUILDING.

The Harbor Commission decided yesterday to place two shifts of workmen on the building of the new wharf at the foot of First street, San Pedro, work on which will start this morning. This was deemed advisable, in order that the city may have the income from this wharf at the earliest possible date. It is probable that the new wharf will be ready for public use within twenty days. It is to be done by force account. This is the only city wharf available for service at San Pedro, and each day that it cannot be used the city is losing a revenue from the handling of freight and express.

ALL WERE AGREED,

BUT COUNCILMAN WHEELER.

From Catholic, Protestant and Jew and from various civic organizations came the same story yesterday of approval of the proposed ordinance authorizing the Charities Commission to prohibit the solicitation of funds in the name of charity unless the solicitors or the organizations they represent have the board's indorsement.

This was at a hearing before the Public Welfare Committee, presided over by the Socialist Councilman, Fred Wheeler.

Dr. Milbank Johnson, president of the Charities Commission, presented the proposed ordinance, and spoke of its need. Walter J. Desmond, representing Bishop Conaty and the ten charitable institutions of the Catholics in this city, gave the plan warm support. Mat Hughes of the Volunteers of America, sanctioned the plan, and told how his own work was hampered by false representations in securing funds alleged to be for charity, but improperly used. Dr. Larkin, for the Methodist Institutions, urged the recommendation of the ordinance, and declared that all Methodist institutions would welcome it and he believed every truly charitable work would be benefited by it. Prof. E. J. Lickley of the city schools spoke in favor of the proposed law, and there were other speakers, all on the same trend.

Only Councilman Wheeler seemed unconvinced. He kept urging the presentation of arguments in opposition, but there was not a single voice raised.

Then Councilman Lanston started to move that the proposed ordinance be recommended for passage, but he asked him to wait, as he wanted to see certain parties before committee action was taken.

It is understood that the Socialists are planning to open an "industrial store" in the section east of Main street, and that the new ordinance is so drastic that it may interfere with the plans for obtaining goods for this "store."

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association sent to the Council the following indorsement of the proposed ordinance:

"The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has for the last two years attempted to remedy many of the impositions in connection with the soliciting of funds and articles by charitable and philanthropic institutions and has been greatly hampered in the effect of its work because it has had no authority under the law. There is no word in the English language that has been abused in this city to such an extent as the word 'charity.' It is a deplorable fact that charity has been commercialized in this city by many individuals, until it has reached a point where it closely approaches fraud and graft.

"This association fully indorses the action of your honorable body in creating the Municipal Charities Commission, and, after careful consideration of the ordinance proposed by that committee, we give it our hearty approval and respectfully urge its immediate adoption. There is at the present time a crying need for effective and thorough investigation and consolidation of the charities contemplated under the ordinance, as the work is duplicated at a tremendous expense to the public. We have carefully examined the proposed methods of indorsement by said commission and we find that it is the most practical, thorough and comprehensive method that could be inaugurated.

"We therefore request your honorable body to give your sanction to the splendid work inaugurated by said commission and to pass the ordinance as proposed."

MORE FIREHOUSES.

BUNGALOW TYPE USED.

Material is being assembled at Bonsallo and Slauson avenues for the new firehouse to be erected there at once, under the direct supervision of Inspector of Buildings Backus. Work on the structure will begin this week. This will be of the bungalow type, adopted for use in the suburban districts of the city. It will be of brick and will cost $10,000.

The Fire Commission has sent to the City Council a request that steps be taken for the purchase of a lot for a firehouse site within the district bounded by Vernon, Forty-eighth, Compton and Honduras streets. It is proposed to move the old firehouse at Fourteenth and Central avenues to this location.

Building Inspector Backus is also just completing the municipal building at Hollywood, a portion of which is to be used for fire equipment. This building has been erected at a cost of about $29,000.

Backus is also building a blacksmith shop at the municipal machine shops, Pasadena avenue and Avenue 9. This is of brick and frame and is 30x40 feet. It was found necessary because of the great increase of work at the municipal shops.

THE WAY OUT.

FINES TO PAY SALARIES.

Councilman Snowden proposed to the City Council yesterday that the positions of superintendents for the Humane Animal Commission, at $150 per month, and three assistants, at $80 each per month, be created, so that the handling of the humane animal work might be kept directly under the control of the city.

Snowden said that this would give sufficient force to patrol the Los Angeles River bed and see that cases of cruelty to animals were properly presented before the Police Courts, and that the fines resulting would reimburse the city for the outlay on salaries.

"I suggest that we try this out for a few months," said Snowden, "and keep the whole matter under the city's direct control. We should have these men selected by the Council and not through the Civil Service Commission. If that commission is to handle the employees we might as well abscond on the whole thing. The Council should make the selection and be directly responsible for them."

Councilman Wheeler announced that a definite plan would be presented today at the meeting of the Public Welfare Committee and asked that no action be taken until that time.

No Salary Raises.

No salary raises for City Hall employees until the new efficiency bureau gets in its work, is to be the definite policy of the City Council. Several of the Council members have attempted to secure a slight increase in the salaries of the counter clerks in the City Clerk's office, but at yesterday's session the report of the Finance Committee against this was adopted, despite the protests.

"It is a notorious fact," said Councilman Wheeler, "that this city pays less salaries for the same service than any city on the Pacific Coast. I hope the Council can see its way to recognize these men who have especially trying positions and have given the city faithful service for years."

"The efficiency bureau will remedy these matters," declared President Whitten. "We should await its decisions in these matters, as salaries and positions are to be standardized."

Pension Ordinances.

After the reading of the Mayor's veto messages on the pension ordinances for the fire and police departments at yesterday's session of the City Council, the Councilmen discussed the personnel of the proposed Pension Board, but did not enter into the discussion of the other points mentioned in the Mayor's message.

Assistant City Attorney Robertson pointed out that the ordinance must comply with the provisions of the city charter, no matter what might be the wishes of the Councilmen as to its personnel, and the ordinances were referred to him for readjustment in this regard, but in no other phase. They will be before the Council again this morning in their amended form, but with no change as to the pension, to be allowed widows of pensioners, which is one of the strong points of the Mayor's veto messages.

Will Advertise for Lights.

The City Council yesterday voted to advertise for bids for street lighting for two years, with the provision that 550 new lights shall be furnished during 1914. This is the latest phase of the situation wherein the power companies refused to bid on contracts for a limited time.

May Raise the Houses.

A proposition is before the Board of Public Works to fill Farmer street, between Lucas avenue and Emerald street. A fill of about twenty-four feet would be required to bring this portion of the street to official grade, and this would require the raising of the houses on the north side of the street.

The City Engineer reports that pending an expression of the property owners, Farmer street can be filled to a depth of ten or twelve feet or up to the bottom of the footbridge now spanning the lowest portion of the street, without detriment to the property, and this will be done by contractors who wish to place to dump surplus earth from street improvements.

Whitten, Acting Mayor.

Since noon of yesterday, President Whitten of the City Council has been acting Mayor of Los Angeles. Mayor Rose left at that time for his ten days' trip up the aqueduct. Whitten arrived at the City Hall early in the afternoon to assume his duties as Mayor, but found himself locked out of the Mayor's office, and had to hold his first reception in the corridors. His next duties called him back to the plans of Councilmanic action, and he went out to inspect an alley between Wilson and Mateo, Sacramento and Eighth streets, where a controversy has arisen over the proposed closing of a section of the byway. An offer of $550 has been made for the land desired to be closed, but some of the Councilmen declare it is worth at least $1200.

Council's Stenographer.

Members of the City Council feel that an unnecessary burden is imposed upon them in running around the various offices at the City Hall to secure a stenographer to whom they may dictate their letters to constituants. They want an official Council stenographer.

Councilman McKenzie yesterday introduced a resolution providing for the creation of this position and naming Samuel Marks, former stenographer for Mayor Alexander, for this position, under an emergency appointment for sixty days. The Civil Service Commission will be requested to exempt this position from its provisions.

The subject was referred to the Finance Committee.

Women Temporarily Victorious.

The attempt of the women of Fifty-seventh street, between Hooper street and Ascot avenue, to save their street from the sixty-foot poles of the Pacific Light and Power Company, had a temporary victory yesterday, when the City Council requested the Board of Public Works to revoke the permit for the erection of the poles, and instructed the City Attorney to report as to the rights of the company to erect poles in the street.

Inspector of Public Works Hansen reported to the Council that he had issued a permit for the work, but later had sent a letter to the company, instructing it to desist from placing the poles, but that this letter had been ignored.

The telephone poles, which are thirty feet in height, are located in the alley, and the property owners want the sixty-foot poles of the power company placed there instead of in the street.

CORRIDOR GOSSIP.

MINOR CITY HALL NEWS.

C. D. Crouch, who secured the contract to handle the city's garbage, on an agreement to pay the city 51 cents per ton, has notified the Board of Public Works that he is now in Chicago preparing plans for the proposed reduction plant.

The City Council yesterday voted to grant Councilman McKenzie a leave of absence for six weeks, as soon as Councilman Reed returns to the city. McKenzie will visit various points in the East and Middle West during this vacation.

DANCE HALL MEN GUILTY.

Jury Punishes Huntington Park Men for Operating Illegally as Social Club.

What is probably a blow to so-called "clubs" organized to evade the law was administered yesterday when a jury in Justice Cassidy's court at Huntington Park found J. L. and R. P. Lowry guilty of running a dance hall without a license. The case was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney Helm.

The Lowrys operated the Belvidere Club in Belvidere, after being refused a license by the Supervisors. It is said that a number of similar "clubs" are operating in the county in defiance of the law. The owners will be prosecuted, says Deputy Helm.

UNRUH QUITS STEWARDSHIP.

"LUCKY" BALDWIN EXECUTOR IS DISCHARGED BY COURT.

Raised Estate from What Seemed Bankruptcy to Value of Thirty-six Millions—Praised for Manner in Which Business Was Handled for Heirs—Other Matters.

H. A. Unruh, for four years or more executor of the estate of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, was discharged from his duties yesterday by Judge Works.

When Unruh took charge of the property, it was supposed that Baldwin died bankrupt. By wise administration and because of the rise of land values, Unruh was able to turn over an estate valued at about $36,000,000.

Unruh received $130,000 for his services and Bradner W. Lee a like amount as attorney. Both have been praised in open court by Judge Rives for the manner in which they looked after the business.

The two heirs are Clara Baldwin Stocker and Anita Baldwin McClaughrey.

CAFETERIA MAN IN DEEP.

F. E. Reed, partner in the cafeteria business of Colby & Reed, and recently arrested in the company of Florence Adams for alleged violation of the rooming-house ordinance was sued yesterday in the Superior Court by the California Savings Bank to recover $3000 said to be due on a promissory note.

The complaint sets forth that Reed borrowed the money on a demand note secured by pledge of 36,500 shares of the cafeteria stock. The bank wants this stock sold to satisfy the alleged indebtedness.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE.

CHARGES WOMAN PLAINTIFF.

Jean Laurette entered suit yesterday in the Superior Court against Emma A. Simmons and Fred W. Trick. She asserts that on June 10 she was struck by Mrs. Summers's automobile while she was trying to get out of the way of a motorcycle ridden by Trick.

The accident took place on Washington street. The plaintiff, according to her attorney, was severely injured and is disfigured for life. She asks $20,000 damages.

WANTS SEPARATION.

LIFE MISERABLE, CHARGE.

THREE BURGLARY CASES.

George Collins and Lou Cole, charged with burglary, and who had entered pleas of guilty, changed the plea in open court and will take their chances in a trial.

AUTO GANG.

TO JUVENILE COURT.

Judge Jackson remanded Charles Weaver, Pery Ingling and Chris Nelson to the Juvenile Court yesterday for a hearing. It is charged that they are a part of a gang of youngsters who for months past have been engaged in stealing autos and various parts of machines.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WORTH HALF A MILLION. The inventory of Pierre Agoure, who died several months ago leaving an estate of more than $500,000, was filed in the Probate Court yesterday. The appraisers are A. W. Francisco and Frank P. Sproul. The estate includes $31,000 in cash, several ranches in Utis and Ventura counties and a lot of blooded stock.

CONTESTS PETITION. Mrs. Ora Shipp filed a contest in the Probate Court yesterday to a petition asking for the partial distribution of the estate of Louis Shipp. She says she is mother of Donald Shipp and asks that G. F. McCulloch be appointed to represent Donald, a minor.

SUES FOR ORNAMENTS. The Southwestern Ornamental Iron Works brought suit in the Superior Court yesterday against H. C. Merritt. The complaint alleges a balance due to the plaintiff of $1175 on work and materials furnished.

HIT BY AUTO; SUES. Sol Blumstein brought suit for $2225 damages yesterday in the Superior Court against James McFarland, alleging that the latter's automobile struck him August 20, inflicting severe injuries.

SUITS OVER LOT. The case of Lillie B. Davis Moody, administratrix of the estate of D. B. Davis, against A. H. Davis, Mrs. A. M. Gates and others, was begun yesterday before Judge Taft. The suit involves title to a lot in Long Beach.

The County Board of Forestry asked the Supervisors yesterday for $100,000, with which to pursue the work of the present year. For two years the Supervisors have appropriated $25,000 each year.

Stewart Pitcham, who is in charge of the work, states that it is proposed to plant shade trees on the Washington boulevard and other highways in the county. He says that at the time that the entire system is outlined with shade trees, a uniform system of good roads will be in vogue, with appropriate surroundings to set up the work.

ERUPTION ON FACE ITCHED AND SMARTED

Spread to Neck and Body. Leave School. Face Red and Raw. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Six Weeks.

7039 Madison Ave., Chicago, Ill., "When I was a young girl of 12 an eruption came on my face and spread to my neck and body. My face was in such a condition that I was ashamed to go to school. The eruption on the skin was very much inflamed, and caused me intense suffering. My nerves were all unstrung and I would leave school. My face was red and raw. If I scratched it would bleed and left a brown spot on my skin. I would burn sometimes so much I was ashamed and my clothes irritated me. This condition kept the spots raw.

"I had treatment with doctors for two years before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap to cleanse the skin, then the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. The first application of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment relieved the burning and smarting, and in two weeks and two days I was entirely healed by the Cuticura treatment." RALPH DE PALMA IS AT CORONA.

Famous Driver Reaches Fastest Course on Earth.

Bentel Greets Easterners as They Reach Goal.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

Ralph de Palma is here. The great driver with his fast stable of Mercer racing cars reached Corona at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. He is in the pink of condition and looks like a retired gentleman who is in the racing game just for the fun of the thing. He is fit as a fiddle for the race of his career.

Spencer Wishart, the other eastern motor pilot, is with De Palma, and is prepared for a great race. He will be out on the Corona course this morning with his car in shape for a battle that will mean one of the fiercest fights ever put up by a great racing driver. His Mercer is particularly fast, and the mechanicians are working to get 100 miles an hour out of the racer.

Four mechanicians make up the party. It is the fastest racing stable that ever reached the Pacific Coast. The cars look fit for any kind of speed and are spectacular and particularly racey. When De Palma goes out this morning for his first lap he should turn the course in better than 1:50. A throng will be there to see the get-away of the pilot who won the Elgin road race.

George Bentel of the Simplex-Mercer agency, was the first to greet De Palma. Bentel drove out to Corona and last night returned with the eastern driver to this city, where De Palma will be his guest. The two returned to Corona this morning to be there in time for the first tryout at 8 o'clock.

Barney Oldfield will be at Corona to watch the first tryout of his rival. Oldfield will hold the stopwatch on De Palma. The rivalry between these two men is so keen that when they are sent away by Starter A. M. Young each will watch the other for any advantage that may be gained. It is to be indeed a battle royal.

TETZLAFF ALSO.

Teddy Tetzlaff left last night for Corona to watch the tryout of the two big contenders. Speculation is rife as to the speed either will make, but Teddy expects to be there to watch just what will be done in the tryout which promises so much for the success of the great race.

Every driver who is entered in the battle royal will be on hand this morning. The light-car starters are interesting. The ten machines which are pitted in this race include some of the fastest 230 cubic inch and under cars known to the racing game. Ed Waterman on the Buick and Frand Goode on the Studebaker, are picked for first-place contenders. There are others, though, who must be watched.

In the medium event the National is one of the cars that must be counted on every instant. The fact that Tony Jeannette is driving this racer makes lots of difference, as he can get all the speed that it is possible to coax out of that stock racer. The Macomber entries entered by Willis George Emerson are of particular interest.

MACOMBERS THERE.

The Macomber Red Devil is to be piloted by P. E. Leach, with Roy Scazighini as mechanician. The Macomber Greyhound will be handled by Joe Mansfield, with Gorge Watson as mechanic. The cars have been tried out on the San Fernando road under the personal supervision of Willis George Emerson, who pins his faith to the handsome machines which will start as the dark horses of the contest, as no man knows what speed can be forced out of the Macomber rotary motors.

TWELVE MILES CUP COURSE.

TROPHIES DONATED BY WRIGHT AND SEWARD.

Large and Small Class Boats Cover Triangular Route of Twelve Miles Sunday Afternoon—Start to Be Made at 1 O'clock p.m., With Handicaps.

BY E. D. SEWARD.

The racing yachts of the South Coast Yacht Club will on next Sunday afternoon compete for two cups over a triangular course of twelve miles, all of the entries trying for the Director Wright cup, and the small R and S class sloops competing at the same time for Secretary Seward's cup.

With two prize cups up, it is expected that a large number of the racing fleet will participate in the event, which will be the last time allowance race this season, the arbitrary handicap event on October 12 closing the racing programme of 1913.

Secretary Seward's cup race appears on the official programme for Saturday, September 13, as a prize for the junior members who were expected to race the boats. It has been found, however, that while the club has a large number of junior members enrolled many will be away at school at that time, while others will be unable to sail on a Saturday.

It has therefore been thought best to eliminate this number from the racing programme and put up the cup for the smaller boats which are outclassed by the larger craft in the usual run of races off the harbor.

HANDICAPS.

The R boats are between seventeen and twenty feet racing length, and the S boats under seventeen feet. The Seabird, which rates 17.3 will be scratch, and will be sailed by A. F. Killian. The Myth will be sailed by V. A. Goodrich and will get 4m. 50s. allowance. J. A. Jepson expects to have his Portola in the race and will receive 5m. 31s. allowance. The smallest racer of the fleet, La Jolla, will be sailed by her owner, Lou Haller, who will have an allowance of 6m. 25s. over the Seabird. All of the boats will get away at 2 p.m.

The Columbine, owned by A. G. Sepulveda, will probably be sailed by her builder, C. E. Fulton. She will be scratch boat and give liberal allowances to the other entries.

McDonnell Breaks Up Game With Timely Hit.

Overall Loses Great Battle to Roy Hitt.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"Jammer" McDonnell went on a spree with the bat yesterday and positively spoiled the pleasure of "Big Jeff" Overall's homecoming.

"Jammer" donned his swatting regalia along about 2:45, hit the ball three times in succession, remained peaceful like for a few innings and then broke out afresh at 5 o'clock, busting up the show in the thirteenth.

"Jammer's" final deed consisted of a line single to left with two out, sending Kane home with the winning run and putting the Tigers on top by a score of 2 to 1.

Everything considered, it proved to be a trying occasion for Overall. In the first place, he was paired with Roy Hitt, a fat gentleman, who looks considerable of being as soft as he looks.

TRIED OVERALL.

Overall pitched eleven innings of runless ball, basted out a couple of hits and scored the run in the seventh, that sent the game into extra innings. The Tigers fell on Overall for two runs in the first before he had recovered from the embarrassment of facing the home folks. Then followed eleven sterile innings for the Tigers, marked by five scattered hits, and featured by the fact that but two runners reached second base.

When the teams swung into the twelfth the sleepers of the grand stand had crept across the green to the pitcher's box and the scribes were reaching for a fresh page in their ledgers.

Carlisle opened inauspiciously for the Tigers with a weak fly to Charles. Kane riffed the ball down to Corhan, and flashed across the base an inch ahead of the throw. An Overall curve broke with too much abruptness, kicked up a spit of dust in front of the plate and skipped by Schmidt. This placed Kane on second, and he took third while Bayless was being retired, Downs to McArdle, Jerry making a neat assist from short right.

When McDonnell landed on the ball, "Big Jeff" did not take the trouble to look around. He simply pulled off his glove and stalked from the mound to the clubhouse. The manner in which "Jammer" met the ball told him that the jig was up, and that he had lost a great battle.

Too much popularity put Overall on the hummer yesterday. When he went out to warm up, eighty-seven people by actual count went down and insisted on grasping his good right hand. That was about all the exercise that Overall got, and the result was that he went into the box colder than a freshly-hooked halibut.

Roy Hitt really needs no alibi. While his performance, in some ways, was not as impressive as Overall's, had Roy been accorded the support that a pitcher has a right to expect from his people, the Seals would not have had a glimpse of the home plate and there would have been no need of prolonging the agony into the gleaming.

Neither would this have been necessary had Umpire Guthrie seen a play on McArdle at first in the seventh in the same way that every other person in the place visualized it. That is a matter which will receive attention later.

San Francisco got away to a run-

Money Talks.

ANNOUNCE AUTOMOBILE PRACTICE FROM PULPITS.

The Whole Town of Corona Has Gone Speed Mad. Restaurant Cooks Leave Their Ranges When Teddy Goes By—An Astonishing Success Made by Amateur Promoters Who Put Up Real Money.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

YESTERDAY morning when that delicious green haze was hovering over the Corona Valley and Sol was taking his first peek over the rim of Old San Gorgonio, a little gray-haired woman who was busily serving innumerable "stacks of wheat" to a half-dozen hungry and sleepy ranch hands suddenly dropped a platter of the delicious brown cakes, and rushed for the door of the little eating place.

"That's Teddy. He's out already," and slamming the door after her she sped up the wide village street.

Down the wine-like air came a deep mellow bellow that sounded faint and distant one moment and then rose in crescendo until it seemed to shake the very walls of the little frame building and then as suddenly died away into the same faint bellow.

With one accord the six sleepy and hungry ranch hands poured out through the door onto the street and started on a run for a point several hundred yards up the street, where two officers stood guard over a tight wire cable that closed the street.

THE MORNING PRACTICE.

In a dozen other small places of business this same scene was enacted. From houses rushed the man of the house followed by his wife and children. Some were hastily completing a hurried toilet. From the sole little hotel poured a veritable avalanche of folk. All were headed in the one direction, and one idea was paramount in their minds.

It was the morning practice of the great speed kings on the wonderful Corona boulevard and the little town of Corona, completely speed mad and proud of it, was turning out enmasse to witness every move made by the giant motors as they smashed world record after world record on the old three-mile boulevard that "Bob" Tayler built around the town twenty years ago.

This is but one glimpse of how the entire city of Corona feels and is acting. Speed is king and every man, woman and child in Corona bows to him.

There is unanimity of action evident among the men of Corona. They have flown in the face of precedent and have arranged a race that is conservatively expected to be the greatest speed battle ever staged in America.

They have figuratively hung the "Indian sign" on the profesional race promoter and have matched four of the greatest race drivers in the world in a speed duel over what is considered the fastest road course in the world. They have done all of this without the advice or help of any person who has even remotely had anything to do with a motor race.

Last Sunday in the pulpit of the three churches of the city the three divines announced that the Bible study class would meet in the vestry-room at such and such a time and that the regular Wednesday-evening prayer meeting would be held and also THAT PRACTICE ON THE SPEEDWAY WOULD BEGIN AT 5 O'CLOCK, MONDAY MORNING. Then they announced their texts.

Spread to Neck and Back. Leave School. Pimples Raw. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Six Months.

Miss Madison Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "When I was a young girl of fifteen eruptions came on my face which spread to my neck and back. My face was in spots and itched and burned as a pain would. I scratched the skin. Then it would form in the outer skin. These would be very much inflamed and would discharge matter and crust over, and skin would grow rough. The eruptions would not heal over for 2 years. I had treatments which did not help me. I had been treated in this way 2 years before I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, then the Cuticura Ointment, then the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment according to directions. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was well after six weeks' treatment." (Signed) Miss [illegible], Jan. 26, 1913.

For washing away corruptions, for allaying irritations and inflammations, and for soothing, purifying, cleansing and healing the skin, scalp, hair and hands, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are the most economical and successful skin purifiers and beautifiers known to the world. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

LYNN'S MIGHTY SWAT WINS FOR SENATORS.

Slagle Underestimates New Recruit, Chaos Follows.

Screaming Double in Second Canto Scores Moran and Hallinan, Cinching Game—Dutch Klawitter Keeps Uncle Hank's Men on His Staff All Day—Goodwin Is Nifty With Club.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bert Lynn, the promising recruit catcher of Cack Wolverton's squad, was underestimated by Pop Dillon's Angels today. That's the skeleton of a story of Sacramento's second victory over Los Angeles by the score of 3 to 1.

Lynn was working his first whole game behind the plate for the Wolves, and when he went to bat for the first time on the home grounds, with runners resting on second and third in the second frame, the Angels figured him easy prey. The outfielders played in close; Walter Slagle figured that he would be just nervous enough to let the first ball go by.

But Pappa Lynn leaned up against that first pitched ball, and it sailed on a low line drive to deep right-center, far over Maggert's head. That one moment at the plate showed Lynn's gameness—it did not matter that he was thrown out trying to stretch a legitimate two-bagger into a triple; that drive scored Moran and Hallihan with enough runs to pound the curfew to the Angel hopes.

The only other Sacramento run came in the eighth, when Jimmy Lewis connected squarely and shot Slagle's first ball sky-high over the right-field fence.

TWO IN SECOND.

Moran opened the fast of the second by drawing a walk. Hallihan dumped one down the first-base line for a sacrifice, but both men were safe when Jimmy Byrnes threw high to first. Page going up in the air for a one-handed catch that enabled Hallihan to spike the bag while Page was off the base. Kenworthy dumped a slow grounder to Slagle for a sacrifice, putting the runners on second and third. Then came Lynn and he threw harder; driving in the two scores.

The Angels touched two hits in the second, but a force-out made the second out of the inning, and Klawitter ended it by fanning Slagle.

Again in the fourth the Angels made two hits, but they came with two down, and Goodwin closed the inning when he tried to go from first to third on Byrne's long drive to left. Lewis from misread sailing the low drive off his shoetops, and Goodwin tried to make an extra base while Jimmy was recovering the ball; but a fast peg to Hallinan, who gamely stood his ground as Goodwin crashed into him, nailed the runner by a safe margin.

STUFF TOO HOT.

Howard opened the sixth by driving a low one at Tennant. Tommy could not hold the drive and the ball bounced away from him back into the infield for a safety. Page's sacrifice and Krueger's out put Howard on third, whence he scored when Goodwin hit a fast one at Klawitter, the ball glancing off his glove and rolling far enough to allow Goodwin to beat the throw to first.

With one gone in the ninth, Goodwin drove a single to left—his third hit of the game, and his fifth for the series thus far. But Pinch Hitter Wilson failed to deliver; Pop Young gathered in his hard drive, and a fast double play closed the session, leaving a gap of four games between the first and second-division teams. PITCHERS' AVERAGES.

DESPITE the fact that he is credited neither with victory nor defeat during the Sacramento-Portland series, the records, which are made up including the Sunday games, "Hoodoo Johnny" Williams retains his lead in the race for first honors among the Coast League pitchers. The Hawaiian totals .766. "Ernie" Fanning, Del Howard's darling, strengthens his grip on second place with an advance of twenty-one points, while Proctor of Oakland, who comes next, brought up his average from .634 to .647. West of Portland comes up to .616 from .616, which is a nice little jump, while Leifield, for his eight games played, averages .615.

"Dutch" Klawitter, who not long back held the lead and later was tie with his team mate Williams for first, is losing ground and went back again last week from his mark of .625 to the .583 figure.

CALIFORNIA FRESHMEN LEARN BUCK AND WING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Greenies" as a "freshmen," at no distant date will be the most flattering compliment that any high-flier coed of the University of California can receive, for the first-year men, dating from this week, are to be initiated into the mysteries of Terpsichorean art by Prof. Kleebertner, director of physical education. Dainty pirouettes, graceful restitos and even good old-fashioned buck and wing dancing will be taught the "freshies," who are expected to come out of the treatment lightfooted, and embellished with perfect poise and balance.

Parents may expect to find a great change in their gangling, awkward "Willie" when he returns for this Christmas vacation. Prof. Kleebertner says that work is to consist of the more strenuous forms of folk and fancy dancing. His aim in inaugurating the new gymnasium work is to develop a "real co-ordination between mind and muscle."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—Football at San Diego High School is to take form next Monday. Practically all of last year's squad will return and C. V. Noble, the new coach, who arrived in the city yesterday, is expected to turn out one of the greatest teams that ever represented San Diego High on the gridiron.

Among the veterans, there will be Lee Dana, captain of the team, who was reported to have cast his lot with the Army and Navy for the coming season. Dana is a great backfield man and made all-California interscholastic half last year. He seriously considered entering the Army and Navy Academy here, where Al G. Waddell is to coach, but pressure was brought to bear and the star decided to remain true to his old school.

Word from the future of the captain to the field, Hide, quarterback, and Dawson, the giant line man, will both return. Schroder, Sprott, Kohler and Nichols have also fixed their programmes at the High School. Conklin will not be back, however. The clever half will either enter the Army and Navy Academy or a prep school near Alpine, where his family has moved. Malette, last year's flashing wing man, may not be back, as he has decided to take a stiff course next year and may go elsewhere.

There is a lot of new material slated for the squad, and great things are expected of the new coach. Now that the athletic field has been restored for the athletes and Dana will be back, it looks like the championship.

JIM GRIFFIN, REFEREE.

ning start. Tobin opened the game with a vicious grounder that caught Patsy O'Rourke on the shin and caromed over to third. Tobin started to steal, and was spared when O'Rourke neglected to freeze Elliott's heist. McArdle paddled to McDonnell, and "Jammer" was not successful in picking up the ball. Whereupon, Johnston hit to right, and Tobin pranced from third to the plate. Hogan sacrificed, Sterrett handling the bunt, and McDonnell covering. Hitt walked Downs, doing so on purpose. This filled the sacks, and proved to be a correct line of figuring. Litschi hauled down Corhan's high bounces with one hand, and nailed McArdle at the plate. McDonnell and Sterrett embalmed Charles, and the damage was not nearly as great as many had feared that it would be.

At this point the Tigers installed them as a reception of nine, and proceeded to shower attentions on Overall. "Big Jeff" showed his appreciation by slamming Carlisle on the calf of the leg. As usual, Walter was badly hurt, and had a hard time getting down to first. Kane didn't do a thing but smite the next ball inside the left field line for a triple, scoring Carlisle. And just to think that Kane and Overall are the best of friends. Hayless boosted to Willie Hogan in short left, Johnny discreetly hugging third. McDonnell skimmed the ball over Corhan's cerebellum, and Kane counted. "Jammer" felt so good about it that he stole second. He did his best to score on O'Rourke's hit to center, but found the ball there some distance ahead of him. By this time Overall was "het" up, and he fooled Litschi on strikes.

MITT HIT.

The next excitement was experienced in the second, and was caused by the remarkable sight of Hitt doubling to center. Two being out at the time, this didn't get Roy anything except some batting glory.

This caused Overall a pang of jealousy, and he got even with a double of his own in the seventh, the round in which Frisco tied her up. With one out, "Big Jeff" landed a clean two-bagger in left. Tobin jabbed the ball over Hitt, Roy lessening its velocity. McDonnell then used the ball for the purpose of conducting a little boot hunt. This spared Tobin and firmly established Overall at third.

McArdle then hit into what every one present except Mr. Guthrie reckoned was a double play. Mac drove to O'Rourke, who tossed to McDonnell, forcing Tobin. "Jammer" hastened the ball along to Sterrett, and when it landed kerchunk in Charley's glove, McArdle was so far away that a truck could have been driven between him and the base. Guthrie, however, voted nix, and Overall's run counted. Johnston ended the inning with a fly to Kane.

San Francisco made its next bid in the tenth, clustering two hits. Johnston singled with one out. He tried to steal after tipping his hand, and was flagged by Elliott. Hogan followed with a tricky bounder over McDonnell, but Downs left him stranded with a fly to center.

WEARY WALKER.

There might have been a different story to tell had not McArdle become leg weary in the twelfth. Two Seals crammed three hits into this round, but Hitt was there with an exhibition of "pinch pitching" that nullified their efforts.

After Tobin had fanned, McArdle slapped a single to right. With the hit-and-run on, Johnston hit cleanly to left. McArdle, whose destination should have been third, stopped flat-footed at second, thereby causing Del Howard an extra wrinkle. Hogan beat out a hit to O'Rourke, snagging the sacks.

Now, if that isn't a parlous situation, where are you going to find one? Hitt was the only person in the place not greatly excited. Roy showed no more emotion than a summer squash. He fanned Downs in a cool and collected manner, induced Corhan to hit a fly to Kane, and then waddled back to the bench as though nothing had happened. He didn't even notice that 8000 men and women had raised up on their hind legs to pay him homage.

Then came the thirteenth, with its realization of our deferred hopes.

BOXING COMMISSION TREATY.

MADISON (Wis.) Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Secretary Manning Vaughan of the Wisconsin commission asserted that such an understanding would almost insure the public against dishonest matches, and would keep the boxing clean.

If the plans of the Wisconsin commission are carried out any fighter who is not permitted to appear in the ring in Montana or New York will not be allowed to box in Wisconsin and vice versa.

RED SOX DOWN ATHLETICS; CAPTURE DOUBLE-HEADER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Boston defeated Philadelphia in both games of a double-header here today, 3 to 6 and 5 to 2. In the opener Philadelphia played a fine uphill game and took the lead in the seventh. After Plank was knocked off the rubber in three innings, Pennock held Boston down until the seventh, when he was taken out. His successor, Brown, was wild and ineffective in the eighth inning and Boston piled up three runs and won the contest.

In the second game Mosley and Houck, who started the pitching, were taken out early, and Bush was unable to hold the visitors in check. Bedient was in wonderful form. He twirled seven innings and did not permit a batsman to reach first base. The scores:

TIGERS TROUNCE CLEVELAND.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—In a three-cornered game Detroit won from Cleveland 4 to 3 in thirteen innings today. After having struck out three times, Cobb drove in the winning run, which was scored by Crawford, who, like Cobb, had gone hitless up until the final inning. Leibold's muff of Dubuc's fly with two out in the eleventh prevented Cleveland from winning in that inning.

Cleveland led 2 to 1 when Detroit took its turn at bat in the ninth. The first two batters were retired easily, but Louden and Dubuc singled, while Bush's pop fly fell between Leibold and Lajoie, allowing Louden to tie the score. Gregg struck out seven men in the first five innings. The score:

ST. LOUIS, LIVING, BEATS CHICAGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—After losing nine successive games, St. Louis came to life this afternoon and won from Chicago in eleven innings, score 5 to 4.

Rudolph Schwenk, recalled from Saginaw, Mich., twirled for the home team and pitched a creditable game and but for his wildness in the second inning, when Chicago scored a brace of runs, he would have won in nine innings. Chicago scored another run in the sixth.

Up to the sixth inning not a local player had reached first base.

Lucky singles by Schalk and Chapman in the ninth, followed by Berger's sacrifice fly, tied it for the visitors. St. Louis won after one was out. The score:

THE TROTTING RACES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 4.—A stiff wind that blew across Charter Oak Park this afternoon had considerable effect upon the slow time made in most of the harness races. All three events were won in straight heats, Jones Gentry having no trouble in the 2:04 pace, Lady Grattan winning as she liked in the 2:13 trot, and Reusens being an easy victor in the 2:20 trot.

Footé Prince made most of the going in the 2:04 pace, but in every heat Murray sent Jones Gentry to the front in the drive down the stretch and won handily. Lady Grattan had only one real contender, Tommy Horn, which pushed her to better than 2:10 in the last heat, the fastest time of the afternoon in the trots. Reusens assumed the lead in the first two heats of the 2:20 trot and held it all the way around. In the third heat, Centerville took the pole and set the pace to the fair turn, where Geers sent the M. and M. winner out of the race, passing Centerville in the stretch and winning in a finely-drawn finish.

STANFORDS GATHER FOR SMOKER.

Stanford men, alumni and former students, will gather tonight at the University Club for their semi-annual smoker, held under the auspices of the Stanford Club of Southern California.

Graduates from the first class in 1894, down to those who received their sheep skins last May, will be present at the affair. It will be the last Stanford stag social event to be held before the annual blowout as it is called, which takes place on the night of the intercollegiate Rugby game between Stanford and the University of California. J. S. Mitchell, president of the club, and J. R. Barryman, Jr., secretary, are in charge of the entertainment.

George Kahn, who is perhaps one of the best-known exponents of ragtime and ballads in Southern California, will entertain the former Palo Altans with several selections, as will Katherine Loraine, who will be heard in syncopated symphonies of the South.

For several years Kahn has been one of the stellar singers of illustrated songs at the Clune theaters in Southern California. He is known as "the boy with the big voice" and has won much real popularity during his long engagement here. At present he is enjoying a vacation but consented to appear as a special courtesy.

AT SANTA ROSA.

SANTA ROSA (Cal.) Sept. 4.—Alabama, with Will Durfee in the sulky, won the 2:13 trot today in the fastest time trotted on the Pacific Coast this season. The fastest heat was the second in 2:09. Expedio was the contender in three heats but was out-footed.

The three-year-old pacing division of Breeders' Futurity was a gift for Capitola. The clever filly stepped in front in straight heats, and was never passed. To show how fast a racer she is, Capitola came out in an exhibition later in the afternoon and paced by a runner reeled off a mile in 1:09½.

Announcement was made today of a big free-for-all pace on Saturday. Jim Logan, Don Pronto and Dan Logan have been secured as the attraction and fast time is anticipated.

STANFORD SOPHS TIE UP THE STRUGGLING FRESH

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PALO ALTO, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanford sophs tied up freshies. "Rah, rah, rah, sixteen," shouted the sophomores as they serpentined the turf football field after thirty minutes of the fiercest fighting men can put up without killing each other.

This afternoon 225 Stanford freshmen met 191 sophomores and went down to dismal defeat. Superior organization gave the victory to the class of '16, notwithstanding the advantage that thirty-four extra men gave the freshies.

At 4:50 p.m. the men got together, and for fifteen minutes victory favored the freshies. The experience of the sophomores told, and when the gun sounded 5:20 there were thirty more sophomores than freshmen on the field. As each man was overpowered and tied up by his opponent he was carried from the field and painted.

Once painted he was out of the game. No serious injuries were reported. This ends the fight between the classes.

"CACK" HENLEY SEASON

Veteran Heaver of San Fran Traded at End of Season, Is It Is Believed, Would Welco Pitch Today.

BY HARRY A.

"CACK" HENLEY, according to information and belief, is playing his last engagement with the San Francisco club.

The veteran Seal, who has seen nine seasons' service with the bayside bunch, is due for a change of scenery next season. Whether the big fellow will be sent to some other coast league club by sale or trade or the waiver route, or be placed in some other circuit, has not been decided.

Jimmy Baker is another San Francisco pitcher whose future as a Seal will depend on his showing during the remaining eight weeks of the season.

Del Howard has his lines out for a number of pitchers of major league prominence—heavers of the type of Overall and Leifield—and if he can put through some of the deals planned at the fall baseball meeting at Cincinnati, some of the present staff will have to go.

Leifield, Overall, Fanning and Standridge are the San Francisco heavers who are sure of their jobs for next season.

It is believed that Henley will welcome a change, as he has played the better part of his career in San Francisco.

* * *

No Immediate Changes.

Howard last night denied the report that the release of "Frenchy" Fanning would be followed immediately by similar action in the case of Henley and Baker.

"I am not planning any more changes this season. With but eight weeks more to go, it would be folly for me to spend a pot of money for pitchers who can be secured for less next winter.

"I am now carrying only six pitchers, the minimum number possible in a league of this character, so it will readily be seen that I cannot afford to let any of my men go before the end of the season.

"I still regard Henley as a good pitcher, but believe that a change would prove beneficial. There are a number of clubs in the league who could use him. Baker looks like a world-beater at times, but has not been a consistent winner. He has been handicapped by illness and injuries. He ought to be a great pitcher, and if he doesn't develop into one I will be past me.

"Leifield, Overall, Fanning and Standridge, of course, will be retained. Overall and Leifield have shown their class and should be good for several years of baseball on the Coast.

"Fanning has pitched grand ball this season. Out of something like forty-two starts he has not pitched a bad game.

Standridge is one of the best looking prospects that I have seen this year. Not only is he showing a lot of natural ability as a pitcher, but he is an all-around ball player and a hard hitter. When we recalled him from Watsonville he was wrecking fences in the California League. In fact, it was his hitting which caused me to sit up and take notice."

"CACK" HENLEY'S LAST SEASON WITH SEALS.

Veteran Heaver of San Francisco Club to Be Sold or Traded at End of Season, Is Report—Lengthy Heaver, It Is Believed, Would Welcome Change—Leifield Will Pitch Today.

"CACK" HENLEY, according to information and belief, is playing his last engagement with the San Francisco club.

Del Howard Neal, who has seen nine years' service with the bayside bunch, is due for a change of scenery next season. Baseball Changes.

Manager Howard last night denied the report that the release of "Frosty" Henley would be followed immediately by similar action in the case of Jimmy Baker and Cack Henley. "I am not planning any more releases this season. With but eight games more to go, it would be folly for me to spend a pot of money for players who can be secured for less money. I am now carrying only six pitchers, the minimum number possible in the case of this character, so it will be seen that I cannot afford to get rid of any men go before the end of the season. He ought to be a great pitcher, and if he doesn't develop into one he will be past me.

Overall, Fanning and Hitchcock, of course, will be retained. Ames and Lathrop have shown their ability as good for several years in baseball on the Coast. Ames has pitched grand ball at times. Out of something like 30 starts he has not pitched a poor game.

Hitchcock is one of the best left-handers that I have seen this year. Not only is he showing a lot of speed as a pitcher, but he is a good all-around ball player and a fast fielder. When we recalled him from Sacramento, he was wrecking things in the California League. There was his hitting which helped to sit up and take notice."

Three Drafts.

Because of my pitching staff," remarked the Seal leader, coaling up his fingers, "I am not contemplating anything for next season aside from that may be necessitated by injuries.

"We are sure to be put on for the draft, Schmidt and Fanning, but there is no one of them. We are well supplied with outfielders, but Fanning or Schmidt be taken I would necessitate the addition of another man. It will not be the easiest thing in the world to fill the places of these men."

Ames is now carrying three pitchers, Schmidt, Clarke and Sepulveda. The latter is hardly out of the woods yet, as big things are expected of him next season. He is a lightweight, however, and with the ease of a Pabst Greatly Improved.

After a spring and summer of discontent, Freddie Pabst can now face "three squares" a day and in other ways seems almost human.

Pabst is hefty, stout and pocketbook with the Tigers. When they were losing he faded rapidly, and also did some pining. Their winning streak has wrought a change for the better in his condition.

Where he looked with suspicion on the Tigers a couple of months ago, he now admits that they are quite some ball team—also, the gamest ever.

* * *

Overall Good Investment.

"Big Jeff" Overall is a popular idol in San Francisco. He has also proven to be a good investment.

He draws like a porus plaster in that city, and it is estimated that he has already paid for himself, and then some.

In his first appearance against the Tigers in San Francisco the gate exceeded the receipts of any previous Saturday in the history of the league by $1466.

"I figure that Overall in his first four games drew enough extra money through the gate to make the club even on the purchase price," said Howard.

Double-header Today.

While this is not a day regularly dedicated to double-headers, there will be one of those things at Washington Park this afternoon, and all for the price of one.

The first game will start at 1:30 and the second will be played after a ten-minute intermission.

Ed Kiepfer will hook up with Standridge in the first game. In the second, "Lefty" Lichfield, former Cub and Pirate, will make his first appearance in Los Angeles. "Spider" Baum has been selected by Hogan to oppose Lichfield.

Maier Refuses to Waive.

It is reported that the Oakland club has secured waivers on Bill Leard, and will proceed to export him to another league.

When the first request for waivers was made, Los Angeles, Venice and San Francisco refused to waive.

Sterrett Shines at First.

Rumors to the effect that Charley Sterrett is some first-baseman were verified yesterday when Patterson's injured hand made it possible for the former Princeton man to get into the game at that position.

With Sterrett around, Hogan need not worry about first base should anything befall Patterson to keep him out of the game for a protracted period. Sterrett scintillated yesterday, handling his fourteen chances faultlessly, and in other ways acquitting himself as a real first-sacker. His ability to dig the low ones out of the ground is one of his strongest assets.

* * *

Tobin Some Ball Player.

Tobin, San Francisco's new outfielder, seems to be quite a find. Just now Tobin is handicapped by a bad ankle, but those who have seen him work under favorable conditions say that he can cover the outfield like a tarpaulin. Yesterday he cracked out three hits. By the thirteenth his injured underpinning was paining him so acutely that Howard humanely retired him and sent Mundorff in to finish the game.

FISHING RECORD BROKEN BY COX.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AVALON, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Flying both a swordfish flag and a tuna flag the launch Mabel P. arrived here from San Clemente Island with J. A. Cox of Los Angeles, who had captured the two varieties of fish in one day's fishing. The swordfish weighed 178 pounds, and was brought to gaff in forty-nine minutes. Nine yellowfin tuna weighing thirty-five to forty pounds each were officially weighed in and recorded against Cox's remarkable angling record.

Every fish was brought to gaff upon light tackle, with a six-ounce leader tip and a nine-strand line. This is the first time in the history of the Tuna Club that any of its members have succeeded in landing tuna and swordfish in one day, and the record is more important because of the tackle used.

Murder.

Oakland Infield Support Was Wobbly.

Rocky Work by Chalmers Trophy Winner.

Ty Lober Was There With Deadly Stick.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Buck O'Brien may have been of world's series caliber back in 1912, when he was a member of the Boston American League club, but you couldn't prove it by his performance of this afternoon. Despite the liberality with which O'Brien dealt out his hits, however, it wouldn't be fair to the new twirler to charge him with all the runs that accumulated.

The Oakland infield put up about as wobbly a type of baseball as is possible and between the hits and boots that came, chiefly from Hetling and Cook, the wonder is there were no more runs tallied.

It was rapid-fire work so far as Portland pitching was concerned. In four innings O'Brien dealt out nine hits, and during that same time four runs were accumulated. He was touched again in the seventh, when three drives resulted in an additional tally.

After the eighth he was retired that a pinch hitter might try his hand, and Malarkey completed the massacre.

Chadbourne opened for Portland with a triple to left and Derrick's drive to right sent the Portlander home. Rogers grounded out to second; Lindsay was safe on an error by Cook, and when Dean fled to right Coy made a beautiful throw to the plate and doubled out Derrick, who tried to beat the ball home.

In the same inning, Bill Leard negotiated a long-distance triple to center field. He stayed on the sack while Gardner grounded to first, but Hetling put him out with a sharply-hit ball through second.

After that the Beavers ran away out in front. Ty Lober shot a safe hit to center field and was ascribed to second by Kores. Gus Fisher poked the ball at Hetling to make a forced out at third. He muffed, however, and Lober was safe, only to be caught trying to work the double steal. Haggerman's two-sacker to right field, however, sent Fisher on his way rejoicing.

Two more runs were piled up in the third. Derrick put the ball to center, and Rogers gathered a Cincinnati hit when an effort was made to nab Derrick. Lindsay forced Derrick at third, and Dean did the same thing to Rogers. Lober hit safely toward Hetling; whose throw sended the diamond was wild and weird, Lindsay and Doane coming home.

O'Brien was scored off again in the seventh. Chadbourne started with a single, went to third on two infield outs, and was batted home when Lindsay secured a doubtful infield hit toward Cook.

It was plain larceny, the runs that came in the sixth from Malarkey. With one down, Rogers singled toward second, and Lindsay put the ball into right field, carrying Rogers to third. Doane's sacrifice fly scored Rogers.

Lober put the spheres into left for Lindsay to score, and Kores, with a drive to center, helped Lober around. Kreits juggled the ball as it was returned to him, and Kores went to third to score when Cook dropped Gus Fisher's easy fly. The score:

GOTHAM TEAMS DIVIDE, AND BROWNS TIE PIRATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—New York and Brooklyn split even in a double-header today, Brooklyn taking the first game 6 to 3, while the champions captured the second 2 to 1. The first game went Brooklyn's way when Marquard experienced one of his old-fashioned blowups in the sixth inning, the visitors scoring all their six runs in this inning.

The New Yorkers made their two runs off Walker in the third inning on three hits and a pass.

The second game was a pitchers' battle between Tesreau and Yingling, both were very effective, but three of the five hits made off Yingling were bunched in the third and resulted in Brooklyn's defeat. Smith's home-run drive in the fifth saved Brooklyn from a shut-out. The scores:

ST. LOUIS-PIRATE DOUBLE A DRAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4.—After losing the first game to St. Louis through errors in the first inning, Pittsburgh won the second in ten innings by the score of 5 to 4. Misplays by Carey, Dolan and Miller gave the visitors the first contest, 4 to 3.

Errors by both clubs figured in the result of the second game, a misplay by Butler giving St. Louis a run in the sixth, and errors by Roberts, O'Leary and Geyer helping the Pirates to two runs. McQuillen gave way to a pinch hitter in the ninth with the score a tie, but Pittsburgh could not get the need run. The scores:

HIGHLANDERS WIN FROM SENATORS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—By batching three hits off Gallia in the seventh inning, and coupling them with a base on balls, New York scored three runs and won the opening game of the series from Washington here today. The score was 3 to 2. Up until the seventh Gallia pitched superb ball, allowing but two singles. He seemed to have weakened when he started in to pitch the seventh, and before he had retired the side New York had three runs across the plate. Although hit rather freely, Fisher tightened up when Washington had men on the bases. Hughes pitched the last two innings for Washington and held New York scoreless. The score:

HANDICAP YACHT RACE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Thirteen boats have been entered in the handicap motor boat race from Sacramento to Sausalito which is to be held September 9. Under a new system of handicapping the boats are divided into three classes; 30 to 35 feet, 35 to 40 feet and 40 to 50 feet, the first-class getting 80 per cent. of its regular allowance, the second 90 per cent. and the third taking full allowance. The entry list will be held open until the day before the race.

As to whether Sam Watson will be content with the cups he won for Sepulveda in the Columbine at San Diego and with the trophies he amassed at Long Beach, with his Clipper is a mooted question. DEL MONTE, Sept. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today's practice play for the Coast championship at Del Monte has shown R. S. Armstrong of the Midwick Country Club to be in far the best form of any of the players now on the scene. He has been here since Sunday and has evidently used his time to good purpose. Long, straight drives and definite putting were noted to his credit in both the morning and afternoon rounds. He drove two dozen balls from the first tee while an admiring audience on the clubhouse veranda watched and marveled.

Jack Neville, the young Claremont player who holds both the Coast and northern titles, is, on the other hand, quite sadly off his game. Just that round definite sort of offness that is inexplicable and exasperating. But his backers are not discouraged and feel sure that he will return to his deadly form in time for the real business of the tournament.

There will be a round hundred entries for the championship event, the qualifying round for which will be played out Saturday.

The golfers' train, which left Los Angeles on Wednesday evening, had however, to come without Norman Macbeth of the Los Angeles Country Club, to the chagrin of his confreres. There is, however, still hope that he will come to strengthen the forces of the south in time for the tournament.

LOS ANGELES PLAYERS.

We are well represented, all the same, and one bumps into a southern contingent at almost every turn. Dr. and Mrs. Guy Cochran are lending proper social distinction to the occasion; Dr. Dudley Fulton is here, and Mrs. Fulton arrives tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Goodhue of the Virginia Country Club, likewise Dr. Sellery of Long Beach, swell the happy throng. The Annandale Country Club has several of its best players; E. N. Wright, Carlton Wright, A. A. French, already here, and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Williams expected tomorrow. Paul P. Deiss, Dr. and Mrs. Wadsworth, Col. Wright and A. D. Tatum are also from Annandale, while the Los Angeles Country Club has a long list of entries which includes Edward Tufts, chairman of the committee, and assistant-is-chief; J. C. Niven, K. K. Parrot, E. H. Bagby, Thomas McCall, James Long, Sumner P. Hunt, and so on.

Naturally the north will be strong in good players for besides Jack Neville there is Vincent Whitney, one of those imperturbable steady players, who is always hard to beat, and frequently vanquishes uncertain brilliance; also Cyril Tobin, Chapin Tubbs, Robin Hayne and W. F. Garby, any of whom are possible winners of the crown. Dr. Fredericks, who was runner-up last year, is here, but not showing off at all.

REDLANDS IN LINE.

The Redlands Country Club has a representative in F. B. Lindsley, and Morris Phillips is still to come. Charles E. Maude, who seems to enjoy a sort of sacred golf reputation from the dear dead past, judging by the softening of the voice and the reminiscent manner the men all adopt when talking of him, is also here. Capt. Goodall of the San Francisco Golf Club is another well-known name.

The team match between north and south, which was to have been a feature of tomorrow, has had to be postponed because so many of the crack players, like Macbeth, cannot get here until the last minute. It will probably take place next Friday.

WOMEN AT FORE.

The women's championship event commences on Tuesday next, and so far the only southern entries are Mrs. Guy Cochran, who is playing excellently just now; Mrs. Dudley Fulton, Mrs. A. M. Goodhue and Mrs. Hewitt of Riverside; but it is probable there will be many more last-minute entries before Tuesday.

Mrs. E. R. Williams, the woman's Coast champion, of the Annandale Country Club, is expected and she will probably have the pleasure of meeting Miss Edith Cheesebrough in a single combat during this tournament. It will be remembered that Miss Cheesebrough failed to come south to defend her title to the Coast honors this year, and our southern champions have invariably failed to go north to defend theirs when the event has been held at alternate ends of the State.

Other strong women players around whom interest will radiate are Miss Alice Warner of Del Monte, Mrs. Ford of Claremont, Mrs. Pommer of Inglewood, Mrs. Martin of Burlingame and both Mrs. Will Tayler and Mrs. Gus Tayler of Burlingame, all of whom are front rank women players and will be here to contest the title.

EVANS-TRAVERS GOLF SEMI-FINALS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GARDEN CITY (N. Y.) Sept. 4.—Now that the national amateur golf championship tournament has reached the semi-final stage it seems probable that the finalists who sought it out twelve months ago at Wheaton, Ill., will face each other again in the last match for the title next Saturday. These are Jerome D. Travers, the national champion, and Charles Evans, Jr., of the Edgewater Golf Club, Chicago.

Evans has acquitted himself in topnotch style all through the week, while Travers has been less steady, but equally successful at every stage of the journey. Both seem likely winners in their respective matches tomorrow with J. D. Anderson of Roxbury, Mass., former champion of Massachusetts, and Fred Herreshoff of the local club, who is entered from the Ekwanok Club of Vermont.

While the matches in the third round today were not productive of anything sensational they taxed the staying qualities of the players almost to the limit of endurance, as the weather was stifling hot the greater part of the day.

The Evans-Travers match proved to be the attraction today. In the first half Travers held his own fairly well against the western player, but in the afternoon the veteran was unable to keep pace with his young opponent. Evans won the match by 5 up and 4.

Herreshoff and Whittemore had a nip and tuck fight and the former was only one up on the Massachusetts player at the end of the morning round.

Anderson never allowed Sherman to get a lead. The Utica man was 3 down at the end of the eighteenth hole.

AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL.

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Albert Trost, who suffered two broken legs when he jumped from the flying automobile in the road race Sunday last, died here tonight from hemorrhage of the brain superinduced by the injuries. The race from Carson City to Reno over the famous Geiger grade to Virginia City and back to Carson was the first in Nevada sanctioned by the American Automobile Association.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

ORDER is slowly being brought out of the schedule chaos as the various football varsities of the State begin to settle down to the long season's grind, which must bring joy to a few and woe to many.

There are still a few indefinite dates in regard to games between the Trojans and the braves from Stanford and New Zealand, but it is fairly safe to say that these are about arranged to the satisfaction of all concerned.

It was announced last night that the U.S.C. varsity would probably play the University of Nevada November 1 at Reno and take on the University of Santa Clara October 18, here. These dates were to have been filled by the Sherman Indians, but the "Native Sons" say that it will be impossible to meet the Trojan varsity this season, owing to lack of practice, but the second string men will be given a chance to shine against the men from Sherman.

AFTER TROJAN GOAT.

The prospect of the Santa Clara game was announced two days ago, but the Nevada date is a new wrinkle in the horoscope. Ever since U.S.C. began to play the English game the sons of the sagebrush have been wild to get a chance at our stars. Probably for the reason that they find the going a bit steep against Stanford and California, as the latter institutions are too large for equal competition. Nevada has just been itching for a chance to trim a real varsity for some time and think that the Trojans are their meat, so to speak.

But I would like to say right here that our friends from the mining State have been a little slow in connecting, as this season it looks as though Pat Higgins would have a real "snorty" team at U.S.C.—it now being a question if Stanford and California will have such an awful edge on the southern men, as has been the case in the past.

ALTITUDE GIVES EDGE.

However, the fact that the game with Nevada is to be played at Reno, in that high altitude, should give the Sage Hens an advantage in the matter of endurance, but—"we will see what we will see"—as Bill Nye was wont to say.

In regard to the Santa Clara game October 18, it must be admitted that, if it comes to pass, it will be one of the hardest battles of the season, as the Saints are going to "be there" this year like that famous old ton of brick, but the bigger they come the harder they fall, as the brakeman said, when he threw the 300-pound hobo off the box car.

In looking over the schedule in its entirety we find that for the first time since the establishment of northern relations, the Trojans are to have the proper amount of competition. During the first part of the season there are to be some games that will submit the recruits and veterans alike to the acid test, and every man cannot help but be weighed in the balance, and if he is found wanting; well, I feel sorry for him, that's all.

MORE U.S.C. MATERIAL.

Some more rather promising material was added to Coach Higgins's squad yesterday, when Jerry Craig, the giant Poly second five, registered. Jerry is a likely looking boy and when Higgins has smoothed off a few of his rough edges he may be pretty good varsity material, but that will come out during the next few weeks.

It was also announced that Parker, another giant, from Ventura this time, is to be in our midst. Parker is a natural athlete, but has had no rugby experience. However, Pat says that if he is fast, willing and likes to fight he can use him, at locke.

Well, Parker is 6 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 195 pounds—"underweight"—and can do 10 and 4-5 in the 100. Fair enough I should say, fair enough, if he was any better he would have to go into the show business.

Captain Alber also stated last night that another very likely looking young man would be in a suit today in the person of a certain Mr. Doyle, who claims 6 feet of altitude and 170 pounds of solid fighting Irish weight. He is red headed and will probably be used as a searchlight for the scrum.

With at least six hard match games and many stiff practice brushes, before the big battles with the California and Stanford, it would seem that U.S.C. at last was going to have a chance to bust out of the cellar and capture the scalps that count for something in the trophy hall.

THE DATE BOOK.

Corona Excited.

has entered his automobile in the light-car class, the second designed that spanking poster advertising the great race, and the third is acting as press agent for the big event. Wednesday evening a Los Angeles newspaper desiring some exact data concerning a certain feature of the event telephoned the reverend publicity man and was informed that he was attending the Wednesday-evening prayer meeting and to please call after 9:30 o'clock.

PRESIDENT OTT, A GROCER.

The president of the Race Committee, F. H. Ott, is at the head of a flourishing and prosperous grocery business in Corona. He is a large-boned man and looks as though he had sniffed the fogs of Scotland's moors when young. He is very quiet and has only one obsession and that is a huge pleasure in wielding the yellow flag that tells the speed demons when they can start and when they must stop their chase after Father Time.

Others of the committee are merchants, fruit growers, retired business men and a brace of Corona bankers whose most fluent conversation is conducted with the aid of a check-book and fountain pen.

DRAWS FROM THE HIP.

Mr. Ott carries his checkbook hung loosely at his hip, and when you open a conversation with him his right hand drops casually to his side and at the first sign or mention of money he draws like a flash and covers you.

"How did you gentlemen who are not interested in automobiles or racing and who are not promoters, ever think up this race, and how did you ever 'put it over?'" I asked Mr. Ott.

"That's pretty hard to say," answered Ott, thoughtfully, as he scratched his head, "it just seemed to come all of a sudden. We organized an automobile club. Some one said that we ought to have a road race around our boulevard, and before the first meeting was over we had selected a committee and decided on the race. Then we heard that money always made a loud noise in the motor-racing business, so we got the money."

"Who put up the money?" I asked.

"Oh, we men," said Mr. Ott, wondering, as he started to reach for his checkbook.

There, you have it in a nutshell. "We men" of Corona simply got together, put up the necessary ten thousand hard iron dollars for the prize money, then capped this with ten hundred additional simoleons as an incentive for a new world's record, and it was done.

HOTEL ROOMS SCARCE.

It was the necessary "sugar" to attract the sweet-toothed speed kings and they came smilingly and willingly from all parts of these United States, and have brought their greatest racing cars, and also they have pronounced the boulevard that runs around Corona like a wedding ring around your finger, to be the most perfect boulevard for road racing in the world.

Every room in the little city is reserved for the great speed duel. The two or three garages have been preempted by the mechanics and drivers of the magnificent racing marvels that will compete Tuesday of next week. Into the small hours of the night the sound of mechanics working on the great cars can be heard. Every cotter pin, every rivet has been taken out and examined under a microscope, and if perfect replaced in position. They have been tuned to that perfection that is pleasing to the ear of the great drivers.

Each morning while the day is still young, the big machines get out on the circular boulevard and annihilate time. Wonderful speed has been made. Time that has made the drivers themselves thoughtful and quiet.

YESTERDAY'S PRACTICE.

Tetsiaff yesterday morning turned lap after lap at better than ninety miles an hour. Cooper in his wonderful White Stutz fled screaming around the course at ninety-one and ninety-two miles an hour for lap after lap.

Each man was careful not to be caught anywhere near the other on the course for fear of a brush that would show just how fast they could go.

The consensus of opinion among the Corona men has it that the six or seven of the big cars entered have speed enough to break the world's record, and that the race has become one of tires.

This was practically acknowledged yesterday by the action of Tetsiaff in getting up a petition among the drivers and mechanicians asking that the committee arrange to have the course sprinkled during the progress of the big race. Tetsiaff cited the Indianapolis speedway, when men sanded the track during the race without danger to themselves. Teddy even asked that sprinkling wagons be allowed on the course during the race, saying that the racers could pass these wagons as readily as they could other cars. Tetsiaff's reason for this request is that the granite bed of the course becomes much softer on tires when wet. Cooper objected to the sprinkling and the cat was out of the bag. Cooper believes that he can win from the faster Fiat by his saving in time from not having as much tire trouble as the heavier foreign machine and opposed all attempts to make it easier on tires.

The matter was compromised by Chairman Ott agreeing to have a series of hoses at a dozen points around that track and to keep these sprinkling continually.

SANTA MONICA IN WINTER LEAGUE.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 4.—Santa Monica will have a team in the California Winter League, an organization which is being formed of Southern California nines, it plans laid today bear fruit. Carl A. Mueller, formerly manager of the Redondo team; Frank Abbott of Venice, and William Steiner of Los Angeles came here today and announced that they would put a Santa Monica team in the field and league. Johnston of San Francisco, Bayless of Venice, Tennant of Sacramento, Lohman Jost of Oakland, Lober of Portland and Boles of Los Angeles, the men said, were ready to join the Santa Monica team.

According to Mueller and Abbott, there will be two divisions in this proposed league, six in the Santa Barbara country, and six in Southern California proper. Santa Barbara, Ventura, Oxnard and the Chicago Colored Giants will represent the northern section, while Santa Monica, San Diego, San Bernardino and the New York Colored Giants are already signed up. There are ten applications from Los Angeles teams for the four remaining places in the league, among which are the Los Angeles Brewing Company nine, and the Pacific Electrics. The Southern Pacific grounds will be put in shape, and local citizens will furnish a set of fourteen uniforms. Many major league players are expected to be seen in the league.

WADDELL HELPS CATHOLIC BOYS.

Los Angeles College is to put a football team in the field this fall. The Catholic institution has not as yet joined the interscholastic conference, but it is believed that games will be arranged with many of the Southern California high school elevens.

The youngsters have no coach as yet, for the coming season, but Al. G. Waddell, the diminutive gridiron tutor, who has been secured by the San Diego Army and Navy Academy, will start the Catholics off. Waddell is in this city now and will not return to San Diego until late in the month, and Bert Elting persuaded him to go out to the Catholic college and coach the squad until duty calls him to take charge of his own bunch for the season.

SPORTING PARSON SAYS LOTS OF DEER.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

VISALIA, Sept. 4.—Rev. W. J. Fenton, popularly known as the "sporting parson," has placed himself on record as being much incensed at the reports spread broadcast through the county to the effect that there is a scarcity of deer in the mountains this season.

"I visited the Kern River Canyon and the Mt. Whitney districts, going through the national park, and never before have I seen as many deer in the mountains as there are this season," said Rev. Mr. Fenton. "If some of the would-be protectors will quit killing deer in the park there will be no need of a ten-year closed season."

SONDER YACHT RACES.

MARBLEHEAD (Mass.) Sept. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The sonder yachts were favored with a moderate breeze today in the third of the international series of races for the President Wilson and Gov. Foss cups, and again the Americans left the Germans in the rear. The race was won by the Sprig, owned by John L. Saltonstall.

SENSATION AT SPRING STREET STORE

BIG SURPRISE SPRUNG ON BROADWAY MERCHANTS

Lane's Men's Furnishings Stock Sent Over to 323 South Spring Street to Be Disposed of Cheap—They Abandon That Department of Their Broadway Store.

Come Today to 323 South Spring Street, Where the Big Sale Will Be Pulled Off.

Be sure and don't forget to be on hand this morning at 323 South Spring street at 8 o'clock and see what a surprise we have in store for you. Biggest bargains ever heard of in men's high-grade furnishings.

One of the greatest streaks of luck that has ever befallen us was when the Lane D. G. Co. decided to abandon the men's furnishings department of their Broadway store and gave us the opportunity to secure the entire stock at a terrific sacrifice in price—about 50 cents on the dollar.

We could not allow such a snap as this to pass by, so we made the deal without delay.

Everyone knows that this firm carries the highest grade and finest kind of men's shirts, neckwear, underwear, etc. And owing to the fact that we were able to buy the stock so cheap, we can profitably sell it at prices lower than retail stores can buy it from wholesalers.

There is not another store in the city that dares duplicate the sale prices offered here on equal values. Neither could we, were we not fortunate enough to get hold of this fine stock at such a mere trifle of its real worth.

The cream of the stock can't last long at these prices, so you had better manage to get here early and without delay.

Men's shirts from the famous makers, such as Cluett, Monarch, Silver, Ferguson-McKinney, etc. Underwear in world-known brands, such as Medlicott, Cooper's, Wright's, Richmond, Winstead, etc.

Don't forget the place—the goods have been taken from the Lane store and transferred to 323 SOUTH SPRING STREET.

Store opens at 8 a.m. Open Saturday until 11 p.m.

[BY SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CALUMET (Mich.) Sept. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Agitators and "I Won't Works" generally, who have resorted to the despicable method of using their women to attack non-union workmen and troops guarding the mines, while they hide safely in the rear, have stirred up more trouble than they expected. The wives and daughters of the non-union men have now taken a vigorous part in the battle. They have the distinct advantage of battling in the right cause and have the support and encouragement of the troops and citizens generally. Hardened by years in the mining districts and not overly nice in their choice of weapons, these women have demonstrated that viragoes egged on by the strikers, must expect a dose of their own medicine. They gave some very vivid demonstrations last night and today when they sallied into the women being used as decoys by strikers. Armed with skillets, rolling pins, stove hooks, clubs and stones, they quickly routed the women who were attacking their husbands and sons on their way to and from work.
